Seen and Heard

By JERYME UPSTON
BON VOYAGE luncheon on Tuesday for which Mrs. Groves C. Bellinger was hostess in honor of her daughter, Laneta, who is leaving the end of this month for London where she will marry Dr. Terry King. . . . The couple will honeymoon on the continent for a month before returning to the states. . . . The party was also the occasion of Laneta's 21st birthday. The table was centered with a boat on a mirror with streamers extending to each place where nosegays marked the place cards were miniature boats. . . . Laneta wore a sheer print of burgundy with fine white flowers and lace collar and cuffs. . . . Marguerite Smith, who entertained for Laneta on Thursday, wore a gay print of blue, orchid, yellow and pink on a navy background fashioned with full skirt and binding of taffeta around the bottom. . . . Bobbe Smith, a popular coed at Oregon State college, wore a georgette print with a deep red background made dimpled style. . . . Mrs. Robert Joseph, an ardent golfer, wore an attractive yellow sports frock. . . . Ruth Jean Garnjobst, another golfer, home for the summer from Mills wore chartreuse crepe and attractive necklace and bracelet of coin. . . .

PICTURED in the Chicago Herald and Examiner the latter part of June was Mrs. Palmer Daves (Mildred Roberts) with her husband and father-in-law, Rufus Cutler Daves. . . . They were photographed in the Daves' Evanston home following a tea given in the young couple's honor by Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Daves. . . . They stopped in Chicago enroute to Newark, Ohio, where they will reside.

HOME for the summer months is Frances Laws, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Laws. . . . In June she graduated from the Prince school at Simmons college, Boston. . . . Frances is very impressed with the east and thinks there is nothing like New York city. . . . She spent quite a bit of her time with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Marcy (Mildred Kester) and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moser (Margaret Notson). . . . Carl has an assistant professorship at Columbia and Mildred graduated in January from Barnard, a woman's college. . . . Dave is working toward his doctor's degree and will be teaching in New York next year.

TRAVELERS and there have been many already this summer. . . . Conventions have been in progress for many with interesting trips preceding and following their destinations. . . . Mr. and Mrs. David Wright attended the Kiwanis International convention in San Francisco. . . . Mrs. Wright remarked that she saw more fur coats in the bay city than she saw in Salem all winter. . . . People from Georgia, South Carolina, Arizona and other southern states didn't expect to find such chilly weather and fog so spent most of their time trying to keep warm. . . . The delegates were taken on a boat trip around the bay and it was quite chilly with the ocean breeze coming in. . . . A certain party was looking for a man from Arizona on the boat and in answering they said he was probably in the boiler room. . . . Preceding the Kiwanis convention was the Rotary International and medical association conventions attended by a number from Salem. . . . Mr. and Mrs. George R. K. Moorhead and sons have returned from Los Angeles where Mrs. Moorhead attended the national tuberculosis association convention at the Hotel Biltmore. . . . A few highlights seen by the Moorheads. . . . They visited the Planetarium in Los Angeles which fascinated them all. . . . The light of the different stars is thrown on a dome representing a real picture of the stars in a 24-hour period. . . . The Planetarium is in darkness while a lecturer gives a detailed explanation of the stars. . . . The Moorheads saw Harry Mills, a former Salem man who plays a half-hour organ concert every day at the Barker's where 11 stories of home furnishings are housed. . . . They also went out to the Huntington library on the Huntington estate which has been turned over to the state. . . . The original painting of Blue Boy by Gainsborough is found there and other of his paintings, also the original of George Washington by Stuart. . . . There is also a museum of original manuscripts. . . . The estate is lovely with a cactus garden and a real Japanese tea garden. . . . Admission is only by ticket. . . .

INCIDENTALLY . . . Over the weekend we saw Jean Hollingworth of Portland out golfing with her fiance, Ralph Nohlgren. . . . Chatting at the clubhouse, Ruth Field Minnaugh, who is in Salem for the summer months, and Avery Thompson, who had just finished a nine. . . . Mrs. Merrill Ohling shopping one warm day and looking very cool in a chic natural linen frock with tucked skirt and short jacket with green and brown rick rack trim. . . . with it she wore a leg-horn hat, carried green purse and green mesh gloves. . . . Mrs. Homer Smith, sr., talking with Mrs. William Hammond and daughter, Constance Ann, was smart in royal blue with matching picture hat with two huge flowers of pink and blue perched in front.

UP NORTH in White Salmon, Wash., is quite a colony of Willamette university graduates. . . . Having law offices together are Ralph Barber and Edgar Canfield. . . . Ralph is a nominee for district attorney in that county and the November election will tell the story. . . . Mrs. Barber, the former Margaret Faxon, is a busy housewife taking care of young Judy and finds time to be president of the Junior Woman's club in White Salmon. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, jr. (Gladys Hanson) who also live there are former Salem residents. . . . Herman Estes whose home is in White Salmon graduated this year from Willamette university law school and will take the Washington bar this month and may practice in his home town.

The Gilbert Studio and Craft shop is holding its exhibit of the month from the 11th to the 19th. Among the pictures being shown are a group of sketches made by Monroe Gilbert during the Spanish-American war, a large oil by Erick Lamade of the Salem Art Center, a group of small oils by P. J. Rennings, and several by Ralph Gilbert. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are interested in art to attend; hours are from 10 to 5.

ART CENTER NOTES

By MAXINE BUREN

Quite refreshing is the exhibition of work done by students at the Art Center in the old high school building. Paintings are noticeably bright in color, with no limitation having been put on either color or subject. A picture of a boat scene is especially attractive to the eye, with the artist assisting in making his subject clear by the notation "motor boat" written across the craft's bow.

A polo player, done by one of the most promising students at the Center, is a striking painting. This is done in the special style of that young artist who has several other subjects on display.

A jaunty drawing, done nicely in color is one of a lone rider, the young artist has caught the swing of a sidewise position which a tired rider assumes to rest his back. Nonchalantly the painter has thrust an arrow through the high hat of the cowboy, leaving it to the imagination of the viewer whether some hidden savage has used him as a target or he's humorously done it himself.

Also at the Center is a selected group of paintings done by California artists in the WPA art project. The work is distinctive, giving Salem audiences a taste of what moderns are doing with color and form.

Josephine Joy has offered two of the most outstanding paintings in the group. There's one picture "Magnolia Blossoms" and another "Royal Tulips" to give style to the exhibit.

"Sycamores" by Paul Julian was another of the paintings that struck this observer's fancy.

Emanuel Benson's lecture on "Lursday night proved that there is a noticeable interest in art in Salem. This Center is encouraging interest in art and already a group of persons interested in painting, drawing or just looking and talking about art, has found a common interest. The group will grow in size and influence.
