Cherrians to Meet—Plans for participation in the parade at the Santiam Spree at Stayton Friday forenoon, and for other goodwill trips in the future, will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the Salem Cherrians at the Quella. Tom Hill, King Bing, was in Stayton last night to participate in rehearsal for the coronation of Queen Marjorie Kimbrough. The Cherrians are due in Stayton at 10 o'clock Friday for the parade. Other trips will be to the Red-head roundup at Taft, the flax festival at Mt. Angel and the hop festival at Independence. At tonight's meeting motion pictures of the capitol opening ceremony and parade, sponsored by the Cherrians, will be shown.

Ditch Boy Pat, Mathis, 178 S. Cml.

Picture to Appear—Two pictures of Robert D. Colner, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Colner (Mrs. McCallister) of Portland, won prizes in a recent Portland amateur photography contest. The first picture was published in the Oregon Journal, Sunday, July 10 and the second winning picture will appear in the same paper on Sunday, July 31. The one-year old child is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Mark D. McCallister of Corvallis, formerly of Salem.

Not to Attend Camp—Dr. W. B. Snodgrass of the Salem Veterinary hospital is remaining in town for the next two weeks instead of going to camp as had previously been announced.

Back From Trip—Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Smith and two daughters of 567 North 15th street have returned from a week's vacation spent visiting Mr. Smith's mother at Hamilton, Wash.

CARD OF THANKS
We want to thank the many friends, especially the paper mill and the union, that gave expressions of sympathy in flowers and otherwise over our late bereavement.

Handwriting Analysis Program to Open Today as Sample Analyses Are Presented by Miss Campbell

Samples of the handwriting analyses offered by Miss Patricia Campbell to Statesman readers, in the program which opens officially today, are presented below. Since the initial announcement, a number of samples have been submitted in accordance with instructions. Analyses will be received by the applicants beginning tomorrow.

Persons wishing to have their handwriting analyzed by this expert graphologist need only send a sample of their writing, on a separate sheet of paper, with 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Here is a specimen of my hand. writing which I am submitting for your personal analysis.

The above sample, submitted by Alice J., has been chosen for analysis because of its distinctive size. It is technically, point 59 writing, or about half the average size. Very few samples of such small writing would show the good characteristics of this specimen, as small writing is nearly always cramped and angular while Alice J.'s sample, as illustrated, is both rounded and flowing. We deduce, then, an unusual and distinctive character back of this penmanship. Alice J. has a well-trained and alert mind, one capable of deep study and serious concentration; but she does not have the "bookishness" and intolerance that so often accompany these qualities. Quiet and reserved, yet not aloof, she has many friends and enjoys a good time and pleasant companionship although her first interest is study. She would do well as a research worker or statistician, since facts as facts would never bore her as they might the more social minded among us.

sent you a file of my hand

Mr. T. V.'s writing, as shown in the accompanying cut, affords a decided contrast to Alice J.'s. It is a little better than average in size and is marked by bow-shaped letters, an interesting sign but one not often seen. In some writing this might mean a pliant and submissive nature, but since these qualities are strongly denied in Mr. T. V.'s writing we can assume that the bow-shaped letters indicate pliancy of mind and the ability to ultimately win out by apparent submission. The way T. V. ties his final "u" in a knot and finishes his "a" with a little loop shows us that he is a persistent and tenacious nature. He would not easily be turned aside from any undertaking, but the size and slope of the writing as well as the bow-shaped letters prove that he will accomplish his ends by diplomacy rather than fighting, and that he is clever and resourceful in his dealings with others.

Examinations Set In Civil Service
Examinations for junior deck officer, non-propelling vessel, for filling position on pipeline dredge, and junior deck officer, self-propelling vessel for marine position, are announced by the civil service commission, with applications to made before July 29. Both examinations are to fill vacancies in the Portland engineer district. Competitors will not be required to write an examination, but will be rated on experience and fitness, according to word from the civil service board at the Salem postoffice, where further details are available. Examinations or also called with applications to be made by August 1, for first assistant diesel engineer, second assistant and third assistant diesel engineers, all marine and in Portland district.

Fewer Chauffeur Licenses Sought
Demand for chauffeurs' licenses this year has shown a marked falling off when compared with the figures for 1937. Secretary of State Earl Snell reported Wednesday. Records show that 22,294 of these licenses were issued this year up to July 19, as compared with 28,186 licenses in 1937. The decrease in the number of applications was attributed to the business recession. The demand for truck licenses this year also will show a reduction when compared with 1937, Snell said.

Salem Chamber Gets big Order From Jobholder

The Salem chamber of commerce yesterday received a query that Secretary Fred Thielsen decided was too much. Wrote a man from The Dalles: "Please send me the address of the jobs in and around Marion county. "Because I'm looking for the job for living there this fall, please let me know by mail before this week."

FR Says Umatilla PWA Monies out

Project Can't Be Finished in Two-Year Period Required, Says

Governor Charles H. Martin yesterday received a letter from President Roosevelt, in which the latter explained that he could not approve expenditure of PWA funds for the $54,929,000 Umatilla dam project on the Columbia river because it could not be completed within the two year limit prescribed by law.

President Roosevelt declared that the PWA cannot set aside funds for unauthorized projects unless funds have been authorized for its completion. He said it would require five years to complete the project.

The 1938 PWA law appropriated $200,000,000 for all federal projects.

NW Share Held Too Big
"I do not feel that, at this time, I can approve undertaking the work proposed by you, particularly in view of the fact that more than $23,000,000 of the $200,000,000 already has been allotted to projects in the Pacific northwest," President Roosevelt wrote.

"I am advised that it is preferable to start construction of the Umatilla dam, estimated to cost $23,700,000 before undertaking the remaining work suggested by you."

President Roosevelt's letter was written in San Francisco.

Electric Usage Less for State

Past Three Months Show Decline From Same Period Last Year

Electric sales to commercial and industrial consumers in March, April and May, 1938, were approximately eight million kilowatt hours per month less than in the corresponding period in 1937, State Utility Commissioner Wallace reported Wednesday.

The per cent of increase in kilowatt sales for residential and rural service was less in May than it has been since January of this year. Total sales to ultimate consumers in May, 1938, were 6,661,310 kilowatt hours less than in May, 1937.

This decrease was due principally to the large decrease in commercial and industrial service.

New Judge Asked In Boesch Case

Mandamus Complaint Is Filed in Supreme Court in Contention Suit

A mandamus complaint asking the state supreme court for an order directing Circuit Judge McMahan to call in another judge to try the condemnation suit brought by the state against Arthur Boesch and Mary Boesch was completed late Wednesday and will be filed today.

In event this order is refused the complaint asks that the supreme court appoint an outside judge to preside at the Boesch trial.

The mandamus complaint was prepared by J. M. Devers, attorney for the state highway commission, after Judge McMahan had refused to recognize an affidavit of prejudice filed against him several days ago.

The state is attempting to obtain property owned by the Boeschs in connection with its building program.

Superintendents End Meet Today

Discussions Occupy Heads of County Districts; Elections Slated

Addresses, discussions and the annual banquet featured the second day's sessions of the Oregon County School Superintendents association which convened here Tuesday.

The sessions will continue until late this afternoon. "Apportionment of School Funds" was discussed by Laurence C. Moffitt, Lane county; and Leta A. Wilcox of the state department of education. The report on "supervisory programs" was presented by James M. Bennett, Linn county.
