

Theatre Permit Not Yet Issued

Two Groups Seek to Build Show House in Area of West Salem

WEST SALEM — Word that G. C. Doan of Toledo is contemplating a $25,000 theatre building in West Salem, today brought to light the fact that Salem money is backing a theatre project also designed for this city.

W. L. LaDue, building inspector here, said Thursday that no permit had yet been issued for a theatre to either party. Doan does not yet have his plans completed.

Ed Lewis, former Salem theatre man, has asked for a permit for construction of a theatre at the corner of Kingwood and Second streets, near the railroad tracks, but inasmuch as this is in a residential district, 10 days must elapse in order to give property owners a chance to protest, if any, construction in such a district. This 10-day period will be up next Monday.

Lewis, it is understood, will be manager of the theatre, which will be constructed by Roy Simmons of Salem, if the permit is

New Stamp Out

An engraved reproduction of the White House is the distinguishing feature of the new 4 1/2-cent stamp, latest of the series to be issued.

granted. Total cost will run about $25,000.

Brush Fire Burns On WCP Mill Land

AURORA—A brush fire is burning on the Willamette Crown and Pulp mill land north of Aurora and the homes of William Steinbach and George Eller are endangered. The Aurora fire department was called at 2 o'clock Wednesday but was unable to be of assistance.

The summer bible school is in session this week at the Presbyterian church. The classes are under the supervision of Rev. J. W. Wood, assisted by the women of the church. This school is for children from the ages of 6 to 16 years.

Bill Hanley's Saddle Is in Oregon State Museum

OREGON STATE COLLEGE—The weather-beaten saddle and other riding equipment of the late William "Bill" Hanley, "sage of Harney county," have been placed in the Horner museum of the Oregon Country on this campus. Hanley, one of the last of the historic range characters of the western cattle country, made arrangements before he died for these personal belongings to be given to the college museum.

"Iron Lung" Patient Sees Races From Trailer

Frederick B. Snite, Jr., of Chicago, whose two-year fight against infantile paralysis while encased in an "iron lung" draws world attention, goes to the races at Chicago's Arlington park in his trailer "iron lung". Snite is able to vision things by means of a mirror.

Poultry Meetings Set in September

The third annual Oregon Turkey industry convention and the 15th annual Oregon Poultrymen's convention will be held this year on successive days, September 1 and 2. It is announced by H. E. Cosby, head of the poultry department at Oregon State college. Both events will be held on the campus. Because some growers are interested in both chicken and turkey production, and because commercial representatives desire to attend both affairs, it was decided to join the two events.

Maybe These Deer Saw Seagull Yarn; Anyway They're Out of Native Haunts

SCIO—Added to the recent unusual spectacle of seagulls soaring over Scio is the reported oddity of a yearling female deer which was seen by several farmers in the vicinity of Thomas station a few miles west of Scio.

At the Mrs. Lillie Wilson farm the little animal was reported on several occasions and appeared not at all disturbed by activities of farmers. Lone deer often wander into the vicinity this time of year.

Alwyn Warrick Suffers Fractured Skull, Also Other Injuries in Fall

MONMOUTH—Alwyn Warrick, 23, a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Warrick was seriously injured Saturday afternoon when he fell from a moving truck striking his head on the paved road. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries. With several other boys and men Warrick was riding to a field on the Elkins farm near Helmick state park. He lost his balance and fell. He is at a Salem hospital.
