

5000 View Flax Festival Grand Parade

Salem Hi Band Prize Winner

Sprinkle of Rain Doesn't Dampen Crowds Who See Climactic Event

MT. ANGELO, Aug. 13.—An estimated 5000 people, the largest crowd assembled here in this city's history, viewed the grand parade this afternoon of the third annual Mt. Angel flax festival. A sprinkle of rain failed to dampen their enthusiasm as the floats rolled by, escorted by marching organizations and bands.

Highlights of Sunday's program are a band concert at noon, children's pet parade at 2 p.m. and the bicycle ball at 2:30.

Salem High Band Wins
The Mt. Angel Cooperative Creamery, Fred Meyer, Inc., the Salem high school band, the Portland Rosarians and the Mt. Angel fire department were awarded first place silver parade trophies in their respective divisions by the judges, Judge Fred Robinson of Tuff, Rose Festival Manager Woodworth of Portland and Carl Smith of St. Paul. Other parade entrants placing high were:

Industrial—Mt. Angel flax plant and Mt. Angel Meel company, second and Hengates warehouse, third; floral—City of Portland, second, and American Legion auxiliary, third; bands—Oregon City band, second, and Cherry City band, third; marching—bodily—Cherians, second, and Mt. Angel academy girls, third; municipal—Silverton fire department, second.

Mt. Hood on Float
The creamery float was a replica of Mt. Hood and the flax plant-meel company a miniature flax mill converting fibre to linen. A comic "mayor of Abiqua city" drew many laughs.

The history behind the Mt. Angel community insures the success of the flax industry. J. D. Mickle, state director of agriculture, declared in an afternoon address representing Governor Charles H. Martin.

Other speakers included Secretary of State Earl Snell, State Treasurer C. Holman, Charles A. Sprague, republican nominee for governor, Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, King Bing Tom Hill of the Cherians, State Representative's Walter Fuhrer and Hannah Martin and Jim Smith, nominee for county commissioner. Nina Faby, "Miss Oregon," was presented.

Carson Brings Greetings
Portland's interest in the flax industry here was expressed by Mayor Joseph K. Carson and that city's backing was expressed by Mayor Jacob Bercholdt.

Prof. G. R. Hyslop of Oregon State college received recognition for the excellent flax exhibit arranged on behalf of the festival. The committee in charge consisted of Miss Theresa Dehler, chairman; Mrs. R. O. Appleby, Mrs. Robert Zollner, Miss Georgia Webb and Mrs. Schwab.

Father Alucin, now in Europe studying the flax industry there, was represented by Rev. Vincent Koppert.

Visiting dignitaries were knighted by Queen Maxine in the presence of her princess, Beatrice Marx of Mt. Angel, Beatrice Leonard of Silverton, Beatrice Doty of Portland, Gladys Meier of Salem and Gladys Matteson of Medalla.

The Mt. Angel church pipe organ, made in Belgium 75 years ago and brought around Cape Horn to this coast, was played by Rev. Placidus Fuerst in a recital later in the afternoon. The flaxville vaudeville and a fireworks display concluded the day's program.

Principals in Coming Primaries

Senator Walter F. George

Senator Ellison D. Smith

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman

Senator Millard E. Tydings

With half the state primaries over, it is apparent that local issues and personalities have prevented a nation-wide test of New Deal strength. More definite alignment on the New Deal issue is forecast for the coming primaries. Candidates engaged in significant races include Senator Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith, Democrat, who seeks renomination on Aug. 30 in South Carolina vote. He is a strong Roosevelt critic. In Maryland's Sept. 12 primary, Senator Millard E. Tydings is opposed by New Dealers. Another senator on the New Deal "blacklist" is Walter F. George, entered in Georgia's Sept. 6 primary. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, will seek senatorial nomination in New York state's primary convention, Sept. 20.

Postoffice Team And Shelton Win Oregon, Washington Nines Meet for Title Today at 2:15 o'Clock

With the crowd, led by Washington rooters, awakening for the second game, it was far the more interesting and more tightly played.

The Washington team turned in 24 assists for the game. Six Montana potential runs were nipped on the bases, one double play being executed that was handled by six men.

Montana was tougher at the plate, collecting 12 blows inclusive of triples by the Brothers Glen and Clyde Hinton, but were kept away from the scoring dish by effective clutch-pitching by Jasty Joe Olafson and their own faulty running of the paths. Olafson, though relieved by Cole in the eighth with two away, received credit for the victory. The cocky sidearmer was hit hard in spots, but gave up nary an earned run. Cole was touched for the only Montana earned marker, in the ninth by virtue of a pair of walks, an infield out and Mickey Smith's single.

Doug Campbell, pitching for Missoula, gave a fine account of himself also. He was nicked for but two earned tallies, and struck out nine.

Respectable Stan Armstrong, Washington rightfielder, poured the wood in the right places—his three singles in five appearances driving in five of Shelton's seven.

Scores:
Idaho..... 2 5 6
Oregon..... 14 9 2
Toolsen and Thomas; Momeyer, Olsen and Krautt.
Washington..... 7 9 5
Montana..... 5 12 5
Olafson, Cole and Satra; Campbell and C. Hinton.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13.—(AP)—America's air force has the finest personnel in the world and one of the best bombing planes of any nation, Major General Frank M. Andrews, commander of the general headquarters air force, said in an interview while observing maneuvers in the northwest.

Airplanes are being delivered faster than the air force can recruit desirable personnel, the general said. He said the run of American army planes compared favorably with those of all the nations.

State to Collect Its Share, Fines

PORTLAND, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The state will be granted its share of fines levied in state cases that are tried in Portland municipal courts, but only after the city has deducted court costs.

This assurance was given Deputy State Treasurer Fred H. Paulsen, by Alexander G. Brown, chief deputy city attorney, today after Paulsen discovered that $2609.50 had been collected by the city court for fines in state cases and filed a claim for that amount.

Brown discovered that under state law the city is entitled to $4.50 a case. When this deduction was made the state's claim dwindled to $434.25.

Clear Skies Seen By Weather Seers

Salem toyed with the idea of rain after a 36-day bone dry spell but gave up as the weather bureau forecast clearing skies for today and fair weather for Monday.

Fair Grounds Are Improved

Past Year Sees Numerous Conveniences Added to Assist Exhibitors

Almost every imaginable convenience will be available to visitors and exhibitors at the 17th Oregon state fair which officially opens September 5, as a result of the extensive building program instituted by Leo G. Spitzbart, manager.

Eight new units have been added to the livestock barn, two new racing stables have been erected and an administration building with ultra-modern facilities is just being completed.

The modern influence extends to provision for a "bath house" for cattle and shower bath pens for swine.

Improve Livestock Facilities
Three new judging pens, fenced in and provided with bleacher seats, have been put up on the grounds. They replace the roped-off open spaces which formerly served when sheep, a wine and cattle were judged.

The livestock barns can now house 800 head of animals in the 450 by 200 structure. Lighting and ventilation are of the best.

Extensive flower beds have also been laid out this year, and it is expected that the thousands of flowers will be at the height of their bloom during the fair.

4H Competition Anticipated
The national 4H dairy production demonstration contest, sponsored by the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese corporation, is of particular interest to "clubbers." The winning team will receive a free trip to the national dairy show to be held in Columbus, Ohio.

Donors of 4H club livestock specials at the state fair this year include:

E. C. McClaine & Sons, Lebanon; Cass A. Nichols, Salem; T. A. Dittmar, Gervais; A. N. Doerfler, Silverton, silver trophy; Dr. H. H. Green, Salem, cash awards for hog herdsman; Valley Packing company, Salem, cash awards; J. J. Thompson, Salem; Anthol Riney, Independence, trophy for sheep herdsman; Mrs. Annie E. Vermeire, Amity; Jim Linn, Salem, trophy for champion Jersey.

Horse Classification List
The classification list for the 1938 horse show during the first six nights of the fair, will be ready for distribution within a week, according to A. W. Metzger, manager.

The list is a catalogue of the events which have been scheduled for the popular show. Competition is open to all who meet the classifications.

Arrangements have also been made for the use of five directional loudspeakers and two microphone installations in announcing program events during the show.

Oddities ... in the News

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A police inspector, two detectives, a member of the fire department arson squad and a representative of the city engineer's department hurried to a building in response to a tip that a cache of dynamite had been hidden there.

Finding none after a long search, they went to question the woman who gave the warning.

She explained she had seen some men carrying packages out of the building near where police recently seized a still.

"I heard one man distinctly say to his companions," she related, "This isn't moonshine—it's dynamite."

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The will of a Brooklyn husband today named his "ideal mate" wife to marry again.

"She has been such an ideal mate for me that she could continue in that capacity to another man who may be more worthy of her than I have been," he wrote.

The husband, former Assistant District Attorney James M. Golding, 42, and a former commander of the Kings county American Legion, died July 31. The will was dated 1929.

CRANDON, Wis., Aug. 13.—(AP)—When Martin Horn's car stalled in a deep rut caused by recent heavy rains on a town road near here, he left it there over night.

When he came back today, the car had sunk out of sight. The erstwhile roadway was a mass of water and muck for 50 feet.

A crew equipped with 20-foot poles was unable to locate the car.
