

Flax Subsidy Held Possible

McNary Discusses Outlook in Talk at Mt. Angel Men's Gathering

MT. ANGEL—The regular meeting of Mt. Angel Business Men's club was held at the schoolhouse August 22 at noon. Dr. Schierbaum presided.

Ticket sellers for the next meeting are O. L. Withers and Jake Eberle.

It was suggested and approved that the business men's club and the Flaxarians give a reception banquet to Rev. Fr. Alcun on his return from Europe, which will be September 5. It was decided that the flax queen and her royal court and escorts should also be present at this reception.

Ed Unger was appointed as chairman of the reception committee.

Joe Keber reported that the flax committee would make its final report at the next meeting. Short reports on the Flax Festival were made by Everett Warner, machinist at the flax plant, and T. B. Andres.

E. B. Stolle reported that the victorious Foresters were to attend the softball tournament in Salem Tuesday night.

To Attend Fiesta
On August 25 the Mt. Angel band and the Flaxarians will attend the Hop Fiesta at Independence.

The honorary guest at the business men's meeting, Senator Charles L. McNary, was informed of his election as honorary member of the Flaxarians.

Dr. Eberle reported on the Pudding river drainage project.

Senator McNary gave a brief but interesting talk. He spoke about flax legislation and about the appropriation of $25,000 for the furtherance and progress of the flax industry in Oregon; also that there would be a subsidy this year and next on flax but that application should be made by a local group.

Forty different entries took part in the Mt. Angel Flax Festival parade, reported Frank Hettwer.

Old-Timer Picnic Cloverdale Event

Fifth Annual Outing Has Record Crowd of 160; Kunke President

CLOVERDALE—The fifth old timers' picnic was held Sunday. A record crowd attended. A noon dinner was served to about 160 people. In the afternoon the business meeting was called to order by President Fred P. Schifferer. General discussion of early settlers and events was enjoyed. It was brought out that Arthur Kunke was the original manager of the "Greydiggers," a ball team organized in 1907.

Mrs. Alice Wipper and Mrs. G. F. Booth gave a written report that is to be kept for reference, telling historical facts of this community and Turner.

Name Kunke President

The following officers were elected for next year: President, Arthur Kunke; vice president, Mary Schifferer; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Louis Hennies.

F. A. Woods, Maize Garner, Ethelbert Miller and Frank Dezel were named added to the Memorial list.

Karl Wipper, Gertrude Hennies and John Schifferer were named as the 1939 program committee.

A program consisting of the local quartet, Clarence Rosenau, Karl Wipper, Oscar Fillet and Arthur Kunke, recitations by Shirley Hennies, Carl Schifferer and Edith Schifferer, a solo by Betty Jane Hennies and numbers rendered by the Ivan Hadley orchestra followed.

Minister Home After Eye Operation

Seated at his typewriter, a task which he has not undertaken for many years, the Rev. U. E. Harding, 45, Portland, Ore., minister recently left the hospital where he underwent a delicate eye operation. Mrs. Margaret Carr, 80, of Berkeley, Cal., agreed on her deathbed that one of her eyes should be removed immediately after demise for the benefit of the minister, who had lost his sight. The woman died several weeks ago and the operation was performed in San Francisco. When the bandages were removed from the minister's eye he could readily recognize colors and objects. After a few more treatments the bandages will be removed from his eye permanently. Rev. Harding is shown with his wife.

Four Arrested in Los Angeles 'Talent' Studio Raid

Arrested on warrants charging false advertising and petty theft, four managers of a Los Angeles film "talent" studio were taken from the scene after a spectacular raid. Arrests were based on charges that children, supposed to have won "talent hunts," did not obtain the roles after their arrival in Hollywood. The raid was made while some 40 children were on the premises studying dancing and direction. The four arrested were Myrtle Overdorff, I. C. Overdorff, Ed Rose and W. A. Gahrbrandt. Photo shows I. C. Overdorff (left), asserted president of National Talent Pictures Inc.; Loretta Geary, secretary, who was not held, and Ed Rose, asserted to be vice-president of the company.—(H.N.)

More Than 100 Former Students Are Back for Santiam Academy Reunion; History of School Will Be Compiled

LEBANON—The annual reunion of former students of Santiam academy on the high school campus Sunday was attended by more than 100 from many parts of the state.

Following the invocation and welcome address by Elder George Simons, the students of other days assembled at a picnic dinner supervised by Albert Wilson and J. M. Burtenshaw. A happy feature of the afternoon program consisted of reminiscences of bygone days given by former students who spent well-remembered years in the old academy building, now but a memory but born anew in a streamlined girl scout bust on Queen Anne campus.

The Lebanon high school band directed by Wayne Giffey provided music which was much appreciated as was a solo sung by Dean Stephens.

The principal address of the day was by W. H. Ross of Portland who gave an illuminating comparison between "then and now" with able discussion of present day conditions.

An interesting diversion was the greeting to Joe Shank of Lebanon who assisted in building the old academy when a boy and who later attended as a student and was present on Sunday, his 95th birthday, which was noted by a decorated cake divided among his schoolmates.

Ross is President
At the election of officers George Ross of Lebanon was elected president, Mrs. Anna Steen Pratt vice-president and Mrs. Maude Kirkpatrick, secretary.

At the suggestion of Don Swan, Judge George McKnight of eastern Oregon was appointed chairman of a committee to gather historical data of the old academy to be arranged in book form and presented to the alumni for inspection and approval.

Among leading Lebanon people who were former students of the academy are Albert Wilson, Helen Messinger, J. M. Burtenshaw, George Randle, Maude Kirkpatrick, J. M. Donaca, Judge D. B. McKnight, Frank Steen and Mrs. A. S. Pratt. Many state officials and business men received early training in this building erected in 1854 and razed in 1936.
