Barry-Amundson Vows Said in Kelso

Miss Ruthella Mae Amundson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Amundson, became the bride of Mr. Homer Joe Barry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Barry, August 17 at the Baptist church in Kelso, Wash.

The bride wore a dress of white lace fashioned with long, full skirt and short puffed sleeves. Her corsage was of Cecil Bunker roses and sweet peas.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Barry attended schools in Salem and Mr. Barry is now serving the rest of his enlistment in the navy at Bremerton, Wash.

Mrs. Ella Watt, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Martin at their South High street home the past three weeks will leave for Oakland, Calif., today. Mrs. Watt is the mother of Mr. Martin. For many years she has been one of the supreme officers of the Artisans lodge and is now the president of the northern branch of the California state fraternal congress.

Rebekah Lodge Initiates New Members

Salem Rebekah lodge met in regular session Monday night with many witnessing to initiation of three candidates, Miss Frances Kyle, Mrs. Marie Mills and Miss Peggy Goebel. The team captain, Jessie Moore, appointed Lola McFarlane as assistant to the captain. Lola McFarlane, Christina Cladek and Myrtle McClay were appointed to revise the constitution and by-laws of the lodge.

The lodge voted the noble grand, Miss Yvonne Smith a month leave of absence as she is making a trip to the east. Next Monday night the birthday committee will have charge of the program and refreshments following lodge meeting.

Au Revoir Party for Mack Maison Tonight

Mrs. H. G. Maison has invited a large group of the younger set to an au revoir party tonight in honor of her son, Mack, who is leaving Monday for Washington, D. C. Mr. Maison will attend the Columbia Preparatory school this winter.

A swimming party will be enjoyed at the Olinger pool followed by a supper at the Maison home on Tamarack street. About fifty will enjoy the affair.

Mrs. Thomas E. Rilea is entertaining with a picnic this afternoon in compliment to the eleventh birthday of her daughter, Janet. A group of Miss Rilea's close friends have been bidden and the picnic will be enjoyed on the Santiam.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker and son, Jay, are regretting to learn that they are soon leaving Salem to make their home in Portland. They have purchased a house in Eastmoreland and plan to leave the first of the week.

Mrs. J. M. Schon and daughter, Miss Elva Schon, have returned from a trip to Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver, B. C. In Seattle they visited with Miss Margaret Nunn.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Meyer and their children have taken a cottage at Neskowin for the next fortnight.

Mrs. Delbert Schwabauer entertained members of her bridge club at an informal affair last night.

Refreshments were served following an afternoon of games. Those honoring Miss Coralie were Shirley Brewster, Helen Melby, Joanne and Lorraine Ellis and Kenneth Doughton.

In the Valley Social Realm

LEBANON—At high noon Sunday at the Episcopal church of Albany Dr. C. E. Coles read the service uniting in marriage Miss Gwendolyn Hopkins, daughter of Mrs. C. C. Whitchee of Lebanon, and Mr. Donald G. Twentyman, a business man of Rochester, Minn., in the presence of the immediate family and close friends.

Miss Joella Mayer of Lebanon played the wedding march, Glenn Taylor of Albany and the violinists. Attendants were Miss Maurine Hopkins, sister of the bride, Mr. Larry Bennett of Lebanon, best man, and Galen Mishler of Salem was usher.

Other numbers played during the ceremony included "The Indian Love Call," "I Love You Truly" and "Beckus" and the recessional from Mendelssohn. The bride wore a full length gown of white chiffon with Grecian veil and carried a bouquet of orchids, gardenias and sweet-heart roses.

The bridesmaid's gown was of dusty pink chiffon with bouquet of blue flowers. The groom, a nephew of Charles Mayo of the Mayo clinic of Rochester, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Twentyman, also of Rochester, is a graduate of the Kahler school of nursing.

A reception was held at the Whitchee home on Mayer drive Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Joel C. Mayer and Mrs. D. Cormier served and were assisted by Misses Helen McGowan, Marjorie Pearson and Audrey Heimendinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Twentyman left by auto Sunday afternoon for a trip through Washington and following a brief stay at Lebanon on their return will tour California en route to their home in Rochester. Guests from outside points were Mrs. Paul Pearson of Rochester, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Mishler of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Swanson from Scotland.

Surprise Shower Compliments Miss Kells

"Judging from what I've seen of her, I'd say she was the kind who always has a few minutes when you haven't!"

The lady addressing the transmitter finds she keeps pace with her activities best by wearing this chic, modern costume for dinners at home. The long, circular skirt of beige wool is in sharp contrast to the royal blue bodice. Convertible revers, faced in beige, gain quite a military air when closed, the little collar forming a stand-up neckband. The wide, rust colored suede belt is buttoned in blue.—Copyright, 1938, Esquire Features, Inc.

Fashion Decrees Clothes "They" Are Wearing

What are they wearing this season is always the first question to ask when winter, spring or autumn rolls around. There's no telling these days what "they" are wearing, you might blossom out in the newest full skirt you knew how to purchase and come face to face with your next door neighbor in the tightest one she could find, likewise small and large hats, also long and short skirts, ditto textures and colors.

Here then is an authentic resume of what "they" are wearing this summer by way of fall and winter clothes. The story comes neatly folded in a nutshell from the eastern style centers.

Strapless evening gowns with huge, bouffant skirts. Bloused backs in coats, suits and dresses.

Dolman sleeves and sleeves ending twixt elbow and wrist. A vintage shade that looks like crushed grapes.

Dark brown for dressy and casual days. Short jackets and infinitesimal boleros of fur.

Broad, upstanding high shoulders, with slim wristlines. Old-fashioned chateauxins to dangle from our belts.

Velvet dramatic, sweeping off the face hats. Shoes high up off the ground with very wide straps.

Plaids with brilliantly hued accessories. Wool dresses in high shades under dark fur coats.

Linen Pride of Every Modern Homemaker

Every housewife treasures her table cloths and napkins, whether they are made of pure flax or cotton or rayon threads. Some of the loveliest modern so-called "linens" consist of two or more types of yarn.

Time was when only the wealthy used linens for dining. Poor folks were satisfied to place their dishes directly upon bare boards. Napkins too, used to be a luxury confined to the upper classes. A peevish note in the diary of Samuel Pepys tells of a 17th Century banquet at which only lords of the pry council received cloths for wiping their lips and hands.

Such discrimination seems ridiculous these days now that naperery of all kinds is in common use. One housewife may have finer table cloths and napkins than her next-door neighbor but the cost doesn't make half so much of an impression as the condition in which they are kept.

Cleanliness counts for more than quality in table linens. A soiled or spotted cloth is unacceptable at any time. All of the modern fabrics used in table cloths and napkins respond to the same effective treatment—washing in good live soapsuds, careful handling, and thorough rinsing. If treated with reasonable care they will last for years.

Today's Menu

Salad is a feature of the menu that includes veal steak with lemon butter.

Hungarian fruit salad. Veal steak-lemon butter. Buttered cauliflower. Grapes-cherry crackers.

HUNGARIAN FRUIT SALAD. 1 cup crushed pineapple. 1 cup banana slices. 1 cup canned orange segments. French fruit dressing. Mayonnaise.

Mix fruit and dressing, arrange on lettuce, sprinkle with paprika and few gratings nutmeg.

Peppers, Olives in Combinations Are Favored

While nutritionists are pointing with pride to the extra vitamins that nature provides in a sweet green pepper, home cooks are reveling in the green pods for their ability to lend menu variety, and their refreshing qualities in salads and entrees.

There are many ways in which green peppers add latitude to summer menus: in casserole combinations of canned or fresh green peppers, home cooks are reveling in the green pods for their ability to lend menu variety, and their refreshing qualities in salads and entrees. There are many ways in which green peppers add latitude to summer menus: in casserole combinations of canned or fresh green peppers, home cooks are reveling in the green pods for their ability to lend menu variety, and their refreshing qualities in salads and entrees.

For salad use, the green pepper cases are parboiled for five minutes by the indirect heat of boiling water poured over the prepared halves and allowed to remain under close cover until the pepper may be easily cut with a fork.

Here, the close harmony of flavor with ripe olives is the basis for outstanding flavor. Green peppers, ripe olives and onions particularly afforded cause for enthusiastic applause as flavor accent for combination salad bowls or plate combination salad service. They make delicious additions to potato or macaroni salads for picnic purposes.
