Farmers Making War on Beavers

LEBANON—At a meeting at Crabtree Monday night 14 farmers of the Beaver Creek section declared in favor of eliminating beaver from the creek. They prefer, if possible, to use traps to take the beaver alive and transport them to a place where they will be useful; but in their present location they are proving a menace and a loss. Dam building in 1937 had to be rebuilt and the work has proven useless and will be as long as the beaver remain.

Farmers say they will appeal to the US Biological survey for aid as it is useless to clear the beaver while in danger of overflow from the dams. Farmers voted to accept more WPA work in clearing in hope that the survey will meet their urgent need.

Legion and Unit Hold Fall Opener

Interesting Program Given at Joint Session of Mt. Angel Groups

MT. ANGEL—The first fall meeting of the Legion and auxiliary, held in the Memorial hall here Tuesday night augured well for a big year for the post and unit. A large number of members and special guests were in attendance.

Alois Keber, local moving picture camera enthusiast, entertained the gathering with moving pictures that he took of important local events, such as the flag festival, Memorial hall dedication, Decoration day services, Corpus Christi procession, the St. Paul rodeo and a number of others. A buffet of the pictures were in colors.

A buffet supper for members, guests and children of the post and unit started things moving. Earl Birchet, commander of the Mt. Angel post, introduced the following speakers: Dr. A. F. E. Schlager, master of ceremonies at the dedication services, Ed Stolle, local newspaper man, Frank Walker, chairman of the building committee, John Steinhilber of Salem, Alois Keber, prominent Mt. Angel business man, George Manolis, Silverton commander for 1938, Harry Wilson, secretary of the Marion county council, Mrs. Mary Prosser, president of Mt. Angel unit, Miss Georgia Webb, next year's president, Frank Ray, adjutant of Silverton post, and Peter Gores, Mt. Angel vice-president.

Ed Stolle commended the Legion on its stand on the war question and advocated a continuance of the fight to keep the United States out of the European brail. His words were forcefully endorsed by Walker, a Legionnaire who saw service in France.

Separate short business meetings were held by the Legion and auxiliary.

The highlight of the post session was a talk on the national convention in Los Angeles by Fred Prosser. Prosser returned from California Monday night.

Installation of new officers of both post and unit has been set for the next regular meeting, Tuesday, October 4. Most of the regular business of the unit was dispensed with an account of the lateness of the hour. Mrs. Cletus Butsch was elected to replace Mrs. Tony Miller, resigned, as first vice-president.

Brief reports were given by Miss Georgia Webb on the state convention, Mrs. Fred Prosser on the national convention, and Mrs. Cletus Butsch on the Legion and auxiliary Fourth of July celebration in Paris which she attended. Miss Webb brought back three prizes for the local unit from the convention; first prize for publicity, navy plate for membership, and a department citation.
