

Governor Martin Commends Attorneys

Law Enforcing Effort Lauded

Col. McGuire Flays Trend Toward Absolutism in Government

To the lawyers of Oregon, Governor Charles H. Martin yesterday commended the dedication of their "several and collective efforts toward the restoration of respect" for the state and federal constitution and laws.

Speaking at the opening session of the Oregon State bar at the Elks temple, the chief executive declared that "more diligent attention must be given to law enforcement if the peace, prosperity, social contentment and independence of our people are to be maintained and perpetuated." Neither the legislature nor the courts are infallible, he said, with the result that the legal profession can render its greatest service in the proper application of the laws governing collective and individual conduct.

Lauds Moody

The governor referred to the recent drive to end labor terrorism, citing its results in terms of arrests and convictions, and paid "tribute" to the industry and tirelessness of that great member of your bar, Ralph Moody, who prosecuted labor terrorism cases in Oregon.

Lawyers at the afternoon session heard what was described as an increasing trend toward absolutism in governmental administrative bureaus decreed by Col. O. R. McGuire, of Washington, DC, chairman of the committee on administrative law of the American Bar association.

Constitution Held Adequate

Col. McGuire insisted that the federal constitution was adequate to meet the needs of the people in the 20th century and that necessary reforms could be made within the framework of that document.

The speaker urged Oregon lawyers "to stand against the forces of popular passion and prejudice in behalf of social and economic rights" for all.

"That we must modernize our machinery of government to carry the increasing load of regulation and control and to preserve the rights of the individual admits of no denial," Col. McGuire asserted. "But even more dangerous to our liberties than the advocates of absolutism are the preachers of laissez faire . . . who would permit the strong and mighty to ride hood and spurred over the masses of mankind. Neither of the extremes of thought or action will serve."

Committee reports were disposed of by the convention as follows:

Board of governors authorized to sponsor a series of radio broadcasts to keep the service of the lawyer before the public.

Proposal that newly admitted lawyers serve a year as court bailiffs to gain knowledge of actual practice, rejected.

Continuation of legal aid program, which provides for giving law service to indigent persons, approved.

Disapproval expressed toward a proposed law that notaries public who are not lawyers be compelled to take examinations, that they be prevented from drawing up legal instruments.

Silver Falls Lot Deeded to State

A one-half interest in one lot in Silver Falls city and 200 acres of land nearby were deeded to the state by the Marion county court yesterday as additions to Silver Falls state park. The county will receive $500 from the state highway commission for the acreage. It paid the same sum for the same land to the federal government several years ago.

To clear its title to the Silver Falls city lot the state needs to locate some person authorized to deed the other half interest, held in the name of a church organization that did not function, according to report to the county court.

Elizabeth D. Moore Called at Age 89

Was Resident of Salem for Past 33 Years; Services Saturday

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Davis Moore, 89, early yesterday at the 575 North Capitol street residence, removed a resident of this city of the past 33 years.

Services have been set for 2 p. m. Saturday from Walker & Howell chapel. Rev. Lynn Wood will officiate with interment to be in the Lee Mission cemetery.

Mrs. Moore was the daughter of Benjamin and Harriett Davis and was born near Ona, W. Va., September 4, 1849. At Ashland, Ky., she became the wife of Jackson L. Moore, October 2, 1867. Mr. Moore died in 1928, shortly after their 60th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Moore had since made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Carl O. Engstrom. Mrs. Moore was a member of the Jason Lee Methodist church.

Surviving are a brother, Theodore Davis, Tustin, Mich., sister-in-law, Mrs. Sally Moore Butler of Ashland, Ky., and the following children: Mrs. Helen Iler, Mrs. Augusta Fleetwood, Luella Engstrom and Marvin E. Moore, all of Salem.

Citizen Body Aids Sprague to Office

Group Being Organized Is Open to Republicans, Democrats Alike

PORTLAND, Sept. 29—(Special)—Organization of a non-partisan citizens' committee to work for the election of Charles A. Sprague as governor started in Portland this week.

The new committee already has several thousand members, according to A. G. Riddell, Portland business man who has been elected chairman.

Emphasizing the fact that the newly organized group is composed of both republicans and democrats, Riddell stated that the membership had but one objective, and that is to elect a man to the office of governor who possesses the qualifications necessary to insure a safe, sane and liberal administration of state affairs.

Demos, GOPs Join

"Our committee is composed about equally of republicans and democrats," Riddell said, "and includes people in all walks of life."

"Any citizen of voting age may join the citizens' committee. There is no membership fee. We have no political axes to grind. Our sole purpose is to do our part to insure the continued progress and welfare of Oregon, which we are firmly convinced can only be done by electing Charles A. Sprague."

Rhotens Returned From Jaunt East

13 States Covered During 7000-Mile Trip; Good Crops Reported

E. A. Rhoten and wife returned yesterday from an auto trip as far east as Shevrygen, Wis., on the shore of Lake Michigan. They traveled through Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Washington, a total of nearly 7000 miles, spent about two weeks in Lincoln county, Iowa, the boyhood home of Rhoten.

Farms in Good Shape

Their visit was principally in the farming districts and Rhoten reports the crops as generally being good. There has been ample rain in the corn belt and with hogs bringing a good price, the acre return is very good. Owing to the corn acreage reduction plan of the government, most of the Iowa farmers are raising a few acres of soy beans for livestock forage and they were finding it difficult to care this crop for hay on account of the frequent showers.

In returning the Rhotens visited the badlands and the Black Hills in South Dakota, also the Yellowstone park. They were gone from Salem nearly six weeks.

93 Drivers Lose Licenses, August

There were 92 revocations, suspensions and cancellations of motor vehicle drivers' licenses during August reported Thursday.

Sixty-two of the revocations were for drunken driving. Of these six were in Portland and the remainder in other parts of the state. There were 17 suspensions of licenses for reckless driving and seven because the drivers had not satisfied judgments arising out of previous traffic accidents.

Congregationals To Meet Monday

The annual meeting of the East Willamette association of the Congregational churches will be held here Monday at the First Congregational church, with sessions at 10 a. m., 1:30 and 7:30 p. m.

Dr. John Burns of Corvallis, moderator, will preach the moderator's sermon at 10:30 o'clock. Guest speakers will be Dr. Warren H. Dennison, assistant secretary of the general council of Congregational churches, who comes from New York City and who will speak in the afternoon and at night; and Dr. Burr, pastor of the First church of Tacoma.
