Illegal Votes Deemed not Intentional; Reeves Runs for Mayor

LEBANON—Owing to a check-up which allegedly revealed that 41 of the 143 voters at the Tuesday school bond election were not qualified to vote, not having their names on the tax rolls, the board has decided to hold another election later. It is conceded that no one purposely voted illegally.

Dr. J. Gill, who was drafted a few weeks ago as a candidate for mayor has resigned and Vern Reeves, well known business man, has filed for the office and will contest T. W. Munyan, who is also a candidate on the democratic ticket as state legislator.

George Geist arrived Wednesday from Missouri for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Rosella Geist and other relatives.

Miss Alvord to Wed
Miss Harriet Alvord formerly employed in the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., and well known in Lebanon, where she visited at the C. C. Whitaker home, has written from Honolulu where she has been employed at Queen's hospital the past year, to Maurine Hopkins that she is to be married in the early winter to an American train dispatcher. Miss Hopkins expects to visit her in the islands shortly after the new year.

A dinner with husbands as guests will be given by the DAR Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. T. G. Cowdell in honor of Mrs. Holt of Pendleton, state regent.

An old time charivari greeted Mrs. Clyde Robertson and his bride, Miss Velma Sylvester, who were married at Lacombe September 24, by Rev. Lindley of the Free Methodist church.

Another Lacombe couple, Mr. Ardell Edwards and Miss Dorothy Morris, were married at Prosser, Wash., and will live at Seattle where he is employed.

Plan Harvest Jubilee
A committee of Lebanon business men and the American Legion are busy on plans for the annual harvest jubilee to be held sometime in October.

The county fair board has allowed $50 for agricultural awards; this will be augmented by the business men who once a year entertain farmers of the surrounding community as their guests. Free entertainment in every line will be furnished the guests of the day.

Rev. A. L. Metcalf, pastor of the Tanager Methodist church, addressed the Lions' club Thursday. Mr. Metcalf and wife are in charge of the Red Cross drive which opens November 11 and closes Thanksgiving day; the county goal is $2500.

The Frank Groves home on North Main street has been checked for improvements costing about $300 to include raising of a barn, erection of a garage and kitchen built-ins.

From Missouri
Paul Lanning, employe of the Great Northern railroad, arrived last week from St. Louis, Mo., with Mrs. Lanning, for a visit with Phil Lanning, his cousin, whom he had not seen since they were very small boys. A pleasure of their trip was a drive over the Santiam Pass and back by the McKenzie route; they were decisive in their opinion that Oregon scenery is the finest they have seen.

The midyear association and missionary rally will be held at the Baptist church, October 10-11. A banquet in the evening of the first day will feature the meeting.

Garden Club Has Enjoyable Event

Mrs. C. A. Kells Hostess; Gardeners' Roundup Plans Completed

SALEM HEIGHTS—Mrs. C. A. Kells entertained the Little Garden club on Thursday with a desert luncheon.

Thirteen members were present. Due to the absence of the president Mrs. Myron Van Eaton presided over the business meeting.

A paper on "Perennial Phlox" was read by Mrs. R. D. Cooper. Plans and appointments of committees were made for the gardeners' roundup to be held today at the community hall October 8.

Committees appointed were: Program and registration—Mrs. C. A. Graham, Mrs. Homer McWain, Mrs. R. D. Cooper, Mrs. A. Taylor and Mrs. Myron Van Eaton.

Rufus C. Holman Silverton Guest, Speaking at Auditorium Thursday

SILVERTON—Rufus C. Holman, state treasurer and candidate for United States senator, spoke before a group at the Eugene Field auditorium Thursday night. Mr. Holman briefly reviewed his term of service for the state, telling what the duties of a state treasurer are.

He also stated that while he was not fighting present national set-ups, it seemed to him that as the present plans had been tried for five years with no headway, with unemployment as serious as it was five years ago, and with the national debt doubled, it was time to try something else. Mr. Holman suggested the Townsend plan of "pay as you go" a worthy one to try. He explained that he had a horror of accumulating interest-paying debts either privately or publicly. In reference to the Wagner bill he mentioned its purposes and aims as "splendid," and insisted he would not have it repealed if it were in his power to do so but he did express the opinion that it needed some amending to conform with the constitution of the United States.

N. R. Gilbert of Bend, introduced Mr. Holman and also showed a number of reels of motion pictures depicting the work at state institutions.

The Safety Valve

Letters from Statesman Readers

These excerpts of a sermon delivered by the Rev. L. W. Collar, pastor of church of the Nazarene, to his congregation Sunday morning, September 11:

"About 30 million children and young people of our nation are beginning their year's work in the schools and colleges of our nation. It is difficult to visualize this great army of young people. They represent the hopes and desires of the parenthood of our country.

"The type of education that the youth of this generation will receive, will be far different from the type received by the parents. The new age in which we live has made necessary a new and different form of education. The task of working out this new system of education is such as demands cooperation between parents and teachers. The old system with its emphasis on reading, writing and arithmetic is as much out of date as a one-horse carriage would be on the super highway to Portland.

"Never in the history of the church have we faced a graver situation in the religious, spiritual and educational realms than we face today. Threatening perils are lurking in every turn in the road and only God can steer the prow of the Gospel ship and our Bible college through these turbulent waters, treacherous eddies and cross currents of these last days of unbelief and scepticism. The influence exerted a and the seed sown during the past decades are now culminating and ripening into full fruition and today we are reaping a harvest of what has been sown.

"During the past century the most unbelievable crumbling and decay has taken place in our entire moral, spiritual and educational structure, until today we have virtually collapsed.

"In 1850 the entire world respected the character and culture of the American people—but this cannot be said today. Scores of European parents send their children to this atmosphere. The churches were well attended, family altars were found in most homes, the Bible was revered and believed and Sunday was nationally observed. Backstreetings, kidnappings were unknown and divorce was seldom heard of. But today America is one of the most lawless Christ-rejecting nations in the world. The Bible is rejected, the churches are nearly empty and the public schools have been breeding places of unbelief, scepticism, communism and what not. The family altar is torn down, the Sabbath is wickedly desecrated, crime is on the increase and one out of every five marriages goes on the rocks. The nation has plunged from high morality-spirituality, faith in the Bible and a Godly fear in 1850 to atheism and criminal chaotic confusion in 1938.

"There is a system of education that gives strength to the body and at the same time supports the basest vices. The imagination may be trained to spend its gorgeous eloquence in the service of that which is low and vile. The more that I see of the condition of youth of our nation the more I am convinced that without Christ—education may become a menace both to the individual and to society. The end of education is to know God and out of that knowledge to love and imitate Him. As some one has said: 'How empty is learning and how vain is art but as it mends the life and guides the heart.'

"An education to be of importance should be more than the mastery of certain books and courses. It should teach the proper way of living. Education that takes one away from the practical and most satisfying way of living is not worth while. The young person is being properly educated who is able to set up the right objectives in living and is constantly striving to attain them. Education is a process by which each individual in his own way becomes a more useful, happy Christian citizen.

"The destiny of any nation lies in the education of her youth. It is true we must educate or perish. But God have mercy upon any nation whose education is not Christian. Look at Russia, Germany and Italy with their great armies mobilized and ready for war. The Golden Rule has been forgotten and it is—RULE OR RUIN.—Christ has been left out of that education. Education should prepare the individual for union with God and a consecrated devotion of all man's duties.

"Education should develop the character from within—there is nothing that makes men strong, rich and great except that which they carry inside of them. Education must promote health, courage, initiative and cooperativeness. Thirty million youths should expect these personal qualities to be developed as they start their year's work. Education is not merely training the mind—but training the life. The greatest teaching of the schools of our country will be done in silence. The radiating influence of the teachers will impress the students most. The curriculum does have its part but it was a wise father who started his son off to school and said, 'I care little what courses of study you take up—but I care much for the kind of teachers you are to have.'

"In choosing your school or college—personally I would rather have my son denied many privileges that are offered by some high ranking institutions—yes, even to havin' him go to bed half hungry and be around an atmosphere where Christ is the center—and where the professors are true and tried in the doctrines of the Christian faith, than to send him even for a month to a school that was religiously cold and the professors atheistic in their belief."

James Lee Cooke Services Monday

Mt. Angel—Funeral services for James Lee Cooke, 76, St. Paul native who died at his home there Friday night, will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the St. Paul Catholic church, with the funeral home of Mt. Angel in charge. Recitation of the rosary will be Sunday night at 8 o'clock at the Cooke home.

Mr. Cooke was born at St. Paul October 12, 1861, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cooke, who had come to Oregon from Ireland. He was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Agnes C. Cooke, several years ago. Surviving relatives include the following children, all of St. Paul: Helen, Jean, Dorothy, Malcolm, Rachel and James; a sister, Mary L. Cooke of Portland, and a brother, N. F. Cooke of Garden Home.

He was a member of the Christian faith, than to send him even for a month to a school that was religiously cold and the professors atheistic in their belief."

Davy Bound Over Non-Support Case

DALLAS—James Edward Davy was brought to Dallas from Eugene Friday morning by Sheriff T. E. Hooker. Davy had been arrested by the sheriff of Lane county for the Polk county authorities on a warrant charging non-support.

He was arraigned Friday morning and waived preliminary hearing. He was bound over to the grand jury and released on his own recognizance.

"How Much?"

Soon or late, that query enters into every transaction. In those cases where Health is involved, you do not desire to quibble. Yet even here you have no wish to pay an unnecessarily high price.

May we explain frankly how prescriptions are priced here? To the cost of our fresh, potent drugs, we add the time of a skilled pharmacist in compounding your prescription, plus overhead and a modest profit. This fair price is often less than you pay where prescriptions are haphazardly priced. Why not bring your next prescription here to be filled?
