End a Dicer?

To be true atul, what I know about the tootball prowess of the marines can be placed in the eye of an ickybob and there d still be room for a coupia tour-power pacts. I do not know the name of heretofore unbeaten in high school the coach, or whether he's a ouck private, top sergeant or the mess orderly. Rumors, that the leatherneckers left end is working his way through the corps via a pair of loaded dice, have reached my ear, but whether that means he s also proficient at roming up a "f" on the score board every time ne count and came through on has the bones I'm unprepared to straight power with touchdown -0-

Heretical Hearsay.

That the fullback wears regulation puttees over his fatted calves is purely hearsay, and in the same breath, heresy. That the left tackle disdains shoulder pads and prefers in their stead a Sam Browne belt, complete with outriggers and gunnels, is common talk. That the center uses a hand-grenadethrowing movement in getting the ball back to his backfield buddies is probably an outright myth. That the gridiron the marines use is an old cement parade ground, a bit jagged here and there, is no doubt just some more bubbling-over of an over-enthusiastic publicity department. And that the goal posts are the four lone firs that played such a prominent part in Custer's last stand, is a triflefar-fetched.

One Year's Diff.

However, the good record book reveals the marines weren't glowingly successful against the 1937 Oregon Webfoots. The Ducks of that year, though not to be mentroned in the same category with kings couldn't solve. the Ducks of this year, nevertheless knocked over the leathernecks | Coach Hauk's preppers were themby a substantial 24-6 margin, selves on the way to a touchdown Jersey, and Gordon Moore will Linn again recovered a fumble Which is equivalent to three fin- at the first quarter's end. Hoxie Hexed.

After fully figuring the foregoing out to the last square on its hypotenuse, I called Tommy Hoxie and asked him if KSLM were going to broadcast the episode today. "We tried our derndest to get the broadcast," said turbulent Tommy, "but those marines put up a nix sign as big as a Czech sigh of despair. Said the marines in answer to our query: 'We'll come to you by land or sea, but by airnever!" As a last resort in my quest for marine information, I took a peek at my private crystal ball-which is in reality the glazed left eyeball of my city editor, Paul Hauser, Jr., and found: WILLAMETTE 13, MARINES 6.

Bees Tip Over League Battle Treechoppers In Full Swing

Salem Seconds Post 12-9 Stanford and Washington Win Over CCC Eleven From Detroit

Accurate pitching from the big right arm of Fullback Freddie The Pacific Coast conference Andrews gave the Viking Bees a 12 to 9 grid victory over the Treechoppers of Detroit yesterday afternoon on Olinger.

But the CCC 'Choppers, playing street shoes and darn near minus panties, gave the junior Vikings a tough afternoon as they repeatedly chopped gaping holes in the Bee line for long gains. Score on Pass The Bees went right down the

Keene Drills Men In Passes, Kicks

Breaking Away Midget Backfield Men

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 7-(AP)-Roy "Spec" Keene sent his Willamette university football squad through a fast drill here today in preparation for the Bearcats' intersectional contest tomorrow night with the San Diego' Marines. For nearly two hours Keene worked his men on passes and kicking, paying special attention to his safety men, apparently in the hope of springing such lightweight backs as Bunny Bennett and Don Gigler away for long regular left tackle, has a bad punt returns. He reported that with the exception of one or two cracked rib; and the Jaross men, all players were in trim for Devildogs Lose Ace

The Devildogs learned today that they will be without the services of their outstanding ball carrier, Arne Arneson, who was injured during scrimmage yesterday. Arneson, a triple threat, was confined to a hospital for treatment of a painful back ailment which might keep him out of action for several weeks. Captain C. McL. Lott probably will start a first-year man, Lawrence Hays, in this position.

Bryant Slated On Cub Mound

McCarthy Names Pearson, but Sinus May Keep Him From Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 7-(P)-Two up and two to go, the jubilant New York Yankees came home today, confident they would be "winners and still champions" when the fourth game of their world series with the Chicago

Cubs is over Sunday night. In sharp contrast to the Cubs, whose confidence seems to have run out-just as Dizzy Dean's fine pitching arm in the late innings of yesterday's second game -the Yanks feel Gabby Hartnett's club has showed them its best, that tomorrow's third game and Sunday's fourth will wind it

Capacity Crowd Due Indications were the manner in which the Yankees had over powered the Cubs in the first two contests, from both attack and defense standpoints, in Chicago's Wrigley field, would bring out a capacity crowd for the opening game at Yankee stadium, the big Bronx ballyard "Murderers' Row" calls home. The Cubs also have decided to keep Joe Marty in the outfield because of his longer hitting. with Phil Cavarretta, who played the first game, remaining on the Doubt About Pearson

While Manager Joe McCarthy stood fast on his previously announced selection of Monte Marballer with a record of 16 victories and seven setbacks in the American league campaign, to take the mound for the Yanks in the third game, some slight doubt still existed regarding him.

Pearson, credited by the New York Giants with twirling the best game and hurling more "stuff" than any other twirler in the 1937 series, suffers from a sinus condition. He made only one mound appearance from September 17 to the end of the season last Sunday, and there was the chance he might not be ready
