Chest Service Told Chamber

Junior Workers of Chest Agencies Present Case at Luncheon

Reminiscence of the old fashioned "testimonial meeting" was the program of the Salem chamber of commerce luncheon on Monday, when junior workers of six welfare agencies supported by the Salem Community Chest told what those organizations have to offer in return for public support. Incidentally the young spokesmen were living representations of the benefits those agencies provide.

An exception, however, was the speaker for the Hotel de Minto, Judge A. Warren Jones.

The municipal judge admitted there was nothing especially uplifting about the "hotel" but described it as a necessary agency for protecting Salem people against "moochers" and housebreakers.

YWCA Work Described—Eva Burgess, member of the Girl Reserves, described the services of the YWCA to young women, including the employment service which provides about 90 jobs every month, the Girl Reserves who expect to have 200 members in the senior high school alone, the pleasures of Camp Santaty and the importance of the clubs for older girls.

Red Cross Beneficial—Mary Holt, member of the Junior Red Cross, described the dual benefits of that organization, in practical help to others and in the training received by the members.

Joe Cronin, active in the Central Youth organization as a scoutmaster, described the relief work of the St. Vincent de Paul society and the character building activities of the CYO, both supervised by the Catholic Charities.

Norma Koon, young Salvation Army worker, outlined the numerous activities of that organization and the benefits of the young people's program.

Stuart "Butch" Nelson proved as capable at public speaking as at football when he outlined the activities of YMCA and declared that to him, its principal attraction was the opportunity for fellowship with other boys.

W. M. Hamilton, president of the community chest, presided.

Big Bunch Grapes—Although Tokay grapes usually come from California, H. M. Buell, route one, has only to go out to his own vineyard to pick as fine Tokays as anyone would want. Yesterday he brought to The Statesman office a bunch of his Tokays that weighed exactly 1 1/2 pounds. Buell has three Tokay plants among the seven kinds of grapes he raises on his Brush College place, and every Tokay vine is well loaded.

Held At Astoria—Deputy Sheriff B. F. Honeycutt left last night for Astoria to return John Amos Dillon to Woodburn to face a charge of larceny, involving a $600 car alleged to belong to P. A. Bernard. Late Saturday Honeycutt returned from Klamath Falls with Arlie Lee Hixon, also wanted at Woodburn, in his custody.

Stricklin to Nevada—Charles E. Stricklin, state engineer, left for the first time today for Reno, Nev., where he will attend an irrigation and reclamation convention for 11 western states. Stricklin is scheduled to give an address at the convention.

Hottinger Improved—Glenn Hottinger, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hottinger of Stayton, is so much improved in his condition that he has been removed from a hospital and is being cared for at his home. He received treatment from a child specialist.

Disney Loses Wage Actions

Default Judgments Given to Pay Labor Claims of Marcho, Backer

After a trial with the defendant absent, default judgments for $22 and $316.75 in payment of labor claims of W. H. Marcho and George Backer were allowed against E. D. Disney in circuit court yesterday in a suit brought by C. H. Gram as labor commissioner.

Other cases scheduled for trial before Judge L. H. McMahon this week have gone off the calendar or been moved back.

Two other decrees were signed by Judge McMahon during the day, one annulling the marriage of Olwynne Jones to Mark Edward Jones at Vancouver, Wash., September 12, and restoring the plaintiff's former name, Olwynne Thomas, and the other allowing the defendant a divorce in the case of Joseph Hopfinger vs. Tillie C. Hopfinger. In the latter case the court ratified a settlement stipulation giving custody of a daughter to the defendant, $10 a month for the child's support, $13.40 court costs, $50 attorney fee and furniture in the home at Silverton.

Sparton Has Unusual Tone

Automatic "Governor" Is Feature on new 1939 Sparton Models

As a result of symphonic tone expansion, a feature incorporated in the 1939 Sparton radios, on display at Nelson Bros. appliance division, 391 Chemeketa, it is now possible to recreate a thrilling orchestra performance "in all its magnificence" right in your own home, the makers say.

The principle of this feature is explained thus: The main difference between listening to an orchestra in a concert hall and listening to it by radio has been in the effect of volume from the very soft sounds to the full crescendo.

Frequently the differences between the very loud and very soft sections have been equalized in transmission.

Now, however, Sparton symphonic tone expansion restores all the most delicate nuances as expressed in the original performance and gives the full effect of a great conductor's artistry.

Performance Fidelity

Further fidelity of performance is achieved as a result of the fact that all the coils are concentrated in a central arrangement with unusually short connecting leads—and achieved in spite of varying atmospheric conditions, man-made static, disturbances from tubes and the like. This new design prevents any electrical impulses from entering the coils except those coming from the aerial, and at the same time it assures the conservation of all the very delicate desired incoming signals.

This unusual construction detail, featured on 1939 Sparton receivers, is appropriately named "centralized nerve system" by the manufacturers, because of the logical and systematic way in which everything is ordered within the central assembly.

Also automatic on the larger console models is the device which controls frequency. The sponsors describe it as "an automatic circuit like a governor on an engine." With its stations are pulled into perfect tune and held there whenever the wave length or tuning position "wavers a hair's breadth."

Bill to Ask Cut In Legal Holidays

A bill which would wipe out all but six legal holidays in Oregon, exclusive of election days, will be presented to the 1939 legislature, according to information received here Monday. Names of the sponsors of the proposed bill were not divulged.

Holidays that would be preserved under the bill include Thanksgiving, Christmas, Fourth of July, Memorial day, Armistice day and New Year.

A number of state officials said they would favor such legislation.
