Englewood Society Has
Guest Day

The Englewood United Brethren Missionary society held its annual guest day in the church parlors Thursday afternoon with Mrs. S. E. Long, the president, in charge of the devotions. This being the annual literature meeting, Mrs. F. L. Buehl, secretary of literature, presented the books listed on the reading course and Mrs. O. E. Foster and Mrs. J. C. Hill reviewed the books, "Moving Millions" and "Christianity's Alternative to Communism." The program included a violin solo by Shirley Jean Adamson and a vocal solo by little Beverly Johns accompanied by her sister, Elsie Mae Johns.

The church parlors were decorated with autumn leaves and fall flowers as were the tables and church dining room where the following hostesses presided: Mrs. S. E. Long, Mrs. O. E. Foster, Mrs. J. S. Hill, Mrs. O. A. Chase, Mrs. Harry Rowe, Mrs. J. E. Oliver, Mrs. V. N. Lowery, Mrs. W. A. McMellon, Mrs. W. A. Reeves and Miss Bertha Van Cleve, Miss Betty Hill who was hostess to the children present. Eight new names were added to the membership roll of the society.

The Priscilla Meisinger studios was the scene Wednesday evening of a gathering of 52 guitarists which marked the first weekly fall meeting. After an hour of music an election of club officers was held which was followed by refreshments and a social evening. Mr. Richard Barton was chosen president and Mrs. Standley secretary-treasurer. Committees were headed by Evelyn Dunn, Mrs. Chapman, Miss Betty Elofson, Miss Martha Foster and Miss Patricia Meisinger.

Miss Maclagan Is
Guest at Tea,
Luncheon

Miss Theodora Maclagan, who has been the guest of the Salem YWCA, was honored twice yesterday. The women of the Episcopal church were her hosts at a luncheon at the Marion hotel at noon, and later the Salem YWCA presented her at tea in the home of Mrs. O. K. DeWitt on Court street.

Miss Maclagan is a member of the World's YWCA executive committee and is from London, England and is here in the interest of that group. She arrived late Thursday afternoon, was the guest of Mrs. David Bennett Hill for dinner and has been houseguest at the William Burghardt home. She leaves for San Francisco this morning.

At yesterday's luncheon Miss Maclagan was introduced to the group by Rev. J. George Swift. Opening her short talk, Miss Maclagan told of her girlhood as the daughter of the Archbishop of York and told of some of the distinguished visitors in her father's home.

She said that her father was perhaps one of the very first to take steps toward a unification of the Christian churches, a work in which she has become deeply interested. One of the chief concerns of the YWCA is bringing together girls and women of all Christian churches and Miss Maclagan said its wide scope and great opportunities in that field attracted her to the organization. She talked of the conferences for world unity at Oxford and Edinburgh in 1937 and told of her unofficial part in the latter. The Episcopalian church she stated is the "bridge church" between the two branches.

Present at the luncheon were: Mrs. Sidney Kromer, Mrs. Thomas Everett May, Mrs. Alton Hurley, Mrs. James Laidlaw, Mrs. W. Connell Dyer, Mrs. Frank H. Spears, Mrs. Edward M. Duffy, Miss Mabel Robertson, Miss Helen Becker, Mrs. J. N. Chambers, Mrs. J. T. Whittig, Miss Vesta Mulligan, Mrs. A. C. F. Perry, Mrs. A. Wood, Mrs. E. H. Smith, Mrs. J. Elliott, Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. Russell Catlin, Mrs. William Burghardt, Mrs. J. Richard Devers, Mrs. Robert Niemeier, Mrs. Cornelia Bonnell Thomas, Mrs. James J. Panton and Rev. Swift. Mrs. O. K. DeWitt acted as hostess in the afternoon for the pleasure of Miss Maclagan in her Court street home. Mrs. W. E. Kirk greeted guests at the door and Mrs. H. G. Maison, president of the board, introduced the honor guest informally. Miss Bocker, secretary of the YWCA and members of the board, assisted in the living room.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth centered by an antique crystal and silver centerpiece, a tall bowl with standard and matching side pieces in which fall flowers in shades of peach, blue and white were arranged. Mrs. Russell Catlin and Mrs. H. G. Maison poured while Mollie Jean Mousen and Betty Childs served. Mrs. Harold Olinger and Mrs. William Burghardt were in charge of the dining room.

Miss Maclagan spoke informally during the afternoon on "International Aspects of the YWCA."

Delta Zeta sorority honored Mrs. G. M. Jarret, their new house mother, with a reception Friday night at the chapter house at the Oregon State college. Mrs. Jarret has many friends in Salem and among those who motored to Corvallis for the reception were Miss Clara Mielke, Miss Loraine Parsons, Mrs. Ivan Brown and Miss Carol Brown.

Mrs. LaMoine Clark and Mrs. William H. Byrd were among the members of the MacLaughlin Memorial society who attended their annual meeting at the chamber of Commerce in Oregon City yesterday. The meeting was called for the purpose of election of officers. The present president is Mr. J. E. Hedges and the secretary, Mr. Fred Perrine.

Blume-Parker Wedding
At Groom's Home

Miss Nellie G. Parker became the bride of Mr. Sherman L. Blume at a candlelight ceremony performed at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Robert Lee, last Sunday at 4 o'clock. Rev. Charles Weston officiated before a small group of friends and neighbors.

The bride, who was attended by Mrs. Stanley Blume, wore blue chiffon over taffeta and carried a bouquet of white roses and purple asters. Her attendant wore deep tan and carried an identical bouquet. Mr. Stanley Blume attended his brother as best man.

Following the wedding a small reception was held for guests present. Mrs. Blume came here recently from Roanoke, Virginia. The couple will be at home at 517 North Capitol street.

Mrs. Ray Clark Hostess
To KCKT Club

Mrs. Ray Clark was hostess on Thursday afternoon to members of the KCKT club and was assisted by her daughter, Miss Maxine Clark. Mrs. Clark decorated the refreshment table with a large bowl of chrysanthemums.

Pattern
By ANNE ADAMS
Here's a well-bred dignity and grace... a "bow" dress to give you a thinner, smarter, years-younger figure! It's one of Anne Adams latest creations... with very few seams to sew, and a step-by-step Instructor Sheet that makes it a delight to use a sewing machine. Whether in a novelty crepe, a soft synthetic or printed silk, it's a style to don right now and wear on every gala occasion right through Christmas. Don't miss the charm of the extra fullness placed where it will do the most good in the bodice. And note that the diaphragm seems more slender because of the slightly raised waistline. Indeed, the skirt with its single pleat is delightfully slim without sacrificing ease for walking or sitting!
Pattern 4964 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 4 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric.
