

News From All Over World as Viewed Through Camera's Eye

George Cardinal Mundelein gives benediction at New Orleans

Following a solemn pontifical high mass in the City Park stadium in New Orleans, one of the most impressive of all National Eucharistic Congress services, George Cardinal Mundelein, papal delegate, gives his benediction to a huge throng. More than 50,000 persons were in the stadium for the mass.

Edith Snyder and Ruth Etting

Nervous and fretful, Ruth Etting, the radio singer, appears before the county grand jury in Los Angeles to tell of the shooting of her husband, Myrl Alderman, in a fray which landed her former husband, Martin Snyder, in jail under an indictment on charges of shooting. Miss Etting later was served with papers in the $150,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Alderman's divorced wife. Shown with Miss Etting, seen at the right, is Edith Snyder, daughter of the accused Snyder.

Scene in a Paris schoolroom

Coincident with the reopening of the schools of France, came the map-changing events of Czechoslovakia and Germany. Geography immediately became the most important subject on the school curriculum as this glimpse into a Paris schoolroom will attest.

Chamberlain doll

This is a doll and will be sold as a Yule toy in Britain. It is of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and immortalizes the "peace-maker" in the recent Czech crisis. The outfit is Chamberlain's favorite attire as a fisherman.

Betty Jo Randolph, Alvie C. Wright and Elnora Griggs

Suspected in the slaying of Sheriff Hugh Owen of Nowata, Okla., Alvie C. Wright, 24, of Nowata, was arrested at Poplar Bluff, Mo., with two girl companions, Betty Jo Randolph, 15, left, and Elnora Griggs, 19. The youth is suspected of several Ozark hills robberies.

Myrl Alderman and Ruth Etting

Recovering from a bullet wound in a Los Angeles hospital, Myrl Alderman, 30-year-old radio composer, is comforted by his wife, the radio singer, Ruth Etting. Miss Etting's former husband, Col. Martin Snyder, is named as a suspect in the shooting.

Queen Farida

Egypt prepares a $15,000 layette for the child of a queen, Farida, shown above. If the new arrival is a girl, the heir apparent will continue to be Prince Mohamed Aly, King Farouk's elderly cousin. If it is a boy, he will be heir to the throne.

Louis Cloff, Ralph Grassion and John Nestor

Friends of the slain Mary Coyle, 17-year-old New Rochelle, N. Y., schoolgirl found beaten to death in a parking lot at Larchmont, N. Y., kneel in prayer in front of Holy Name church where the slain girl was to have attended a novena when she was killed. Police doubled their efforts to find her slayer.

View of the Roosevelt "dream cottage" from a driveway in the rear

This is how President Roosevelt's "dream cottage" on his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate looks from the rear. The cottage is nearly completed. It will be without telephone and radio so that the chief executive of the U. S. can find peace from the worries of his high office.

Ohio Wesleyan university students at Delaware, O., selected Lois Gross of Maplewood, N. J., for their homecoming queen for the fete to be held on Oct. 29.

Like many other baseball players, Gabby Hartnett, manager of the Chicago Cubs, goes hunting in the off seasons. Here he is in Chicago with his gun and his dog prior to departing for the northwest.

Francis Curvian

Said to fit the circularized description of the Charles Mattson kidnap-slayer, Francis Curvian, 37, above, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was held by police at Columbus, O., for questioning. The suspect claimed he was working in Toledo, O., at the time of the Mattson kidnaping in Tacoma, Wash., in 1936.

Max Constant and Capt. Alex Papanas

Flying to Bucharest, Rumania, Capt. Alex Papanas, Rumanian army air ace, and his companion, Max Constant of Los Angeles, stop at Miami, Fla. The two planned stops at Dakar, Africa, and Tunis before Bucharest. Shortly after this photo was taken, Papanas damaged his plane slightly in taking off for Curacao, Dutch West Indies.

Erich Glaser, Johanna Hofmann and Otto Voss

Three defendants in the sensational spy trial now being heard in New York federal court are pictured during a recess. They are, left to right, Erich Glaser, former private in the U. S. army air corps; Johanna Hofmann, former hairdresser aboard the German liner Europa, and Otto Voss, German-born U. S. airplane mechanic. Each was expected to take the stand.

Mrs. Jackson Barnett and daughter fight photographer

When Mrs. Jackson Barnett, widow of the "world's richest Indian," was served with a notice that she would have to vacate her palatial Wilshire, Cal., home by U. S. marshals, photographers attempted to take pictures. One photographer didn't get away with it, however, for Mrs. Barnett, left, and her daughter, Mrs. Maxine Sturgis, turned on him and a battle resulted.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of New York, is pictured formally accepting Democratic nomination for governor. Supreme Court Justice Charles Poletti, candidate for Lieut-Governor, is at right. Behind Lehman, paper in hand, is Postmaster-General James Farley, who is also National and State Democratic chairman.