Want Receiver For Firm Here

By-Products Company Is Sued by Stockholders; Claims Dissension

Suit to throw the Salem By-Products company, a corporation, into receivership to conserve assets was filed in circuit court yesterday by M. T. Moisan as principal stockholder. He asked that Leroy Grote be appointed receiver. The corporation and other stockholders are named as defendants.

Capitalized at $25,000, the corporation has spent $11,000 to date in erecting a building and equipping it and has liabilities amounting to $7500, according to the complaint. But with no funds or credit and $3000 additional expenditure necessary to complete the plant, the firm is "hopelessly confused by dissension" among its stockholders and several parties have already started suits to collect bills, it is further alleged.

The complaint asks that all assets of the corporation be turned over to the receiver because of the "imminent danger of insolvency."

The plant, intended to process animal by-products, is located in southeast Salem.

House Burglaries Gain Little Loot

Homes in City Yield but Small Rewards; Allen Firm Loses $60

An epidemic of house burglaries, in four of which nothing of value was taken, broke out in Salem over the past few days, according to reports made to city police.

Last Saturday the Allen Hardware company at 236 North Commercial was shoplifted of water pump equipment, estimated by Reynolds Allen, proprietor, to have a valuation of $50. Allen said the thief evidently walked in the back entrance during working hours and walked out with the equipment.

Sprague Home Entered
Burglaries reported include: That of the Charles A. Sprague home, where nothing was taken; the T. E. Alley home, 1935 North 5th, where the supposed burglar was frightened away about 5 o'clock in the morning; the L. A. Wilcox residence, 1366 Marion, Wilcox reporting nothing of value had been taken; the V. F. Comp-ton residence, 1367 Marion, where a burglar entered via an unlocked rear window but took nothing of value; the E. L. Clark home, 245 Division, from whence it was reported a clothesline was pilfered; and the E. W. Stripling home, 943 South Liberty, from which a small amount of money and a child's bank were taken.

The Junior Mission band will present a colorful pageant, "The Rainbow of Hope" and the Laborers in the Lord's Vineyard will give the pageant, "The Message of the Cross."

The entire membership of the Sunday school of Christ church belongs to the Junior Mission band. At present the band is engaged in winning new members for the Sunday school among Salem's non-church population.

The Laborers in the Lord's Vineyard is preparing a mission box for a missionary in the home mission field. This year a Canadian missionary has been assigned.

W. Salem Street Work Will Start

Drainage improvements for West Salem streets will be started November 18 under a WPA project which also includes grading the streets in case a PWA grant is secured for their paving. G. R. Boatwright, district WPA engineer, announced yesterday. Thirty men will be assigned for initial operations, which will be confined to open ditching.

With the original West Salem application for a PWA paving grant reported rejected, future of the project under which city officials there planned to have all streets in the town concrete-surfaced is unsettled. A resubmission on a reduced cost basis is expected to be filed. The city late in August approved a $105,000 bond issue for the work.

Court Affirms Aldrich Order

Plaintiff Against Estate of Late T. B. Jones Loses Appeal

The Oregon supreme court Thursday affirmed Circuit Judge Lewelling of Marion county in a suit brought by Lucille Aldrich in which she alleged she was promised a certain income and property from the estate of the late T. B. Jones.

The lower court held for the Ladd & Bush bank, executor of the Jones estate, and against the plaintiff.

Bonus not Contemplated
Plaintiff in the suit contended that she served as nurse and private secretary for Mr. Jones for many years prior to his death. Jones left an estate valued at approximately $300,000.

The supreme court held that it was never contemplated that the plaintiff was to receive anything but wages for the services which she performed.

The opinion was written by Justice J. O. Bailey.

Other Opinions Given
Mary Stacey, plaintiff-respondent, vs. Carl Fritzier, defendant-appellant, and Elizabeth Fritzier, defendant. Appeal from Multnomah county. Suit involving promissory note. Opinion by Justice Rossmann. Judge James P. Stapleton reversed.

C. F. Morse vs. Gold Beach Water, Light & Power company, appellant. Appeal from Curry county. Suit involving appropriation of water. Opinion by Justice Belt. Judge James T. Brand affirmed.

Ruth Brill and E. B. McNaughton, executors of the last will and testament of Ignatius Lowengart, deceased, vs. Rufus C. Holman, as state treasurer, appellant. Appeal from Multnomah county. Suit involving gift taxes. Opinion by Justice Lusk. Judge George Tazewell modified.

Petitions for rehearing denied in Whisler vs. United States National bank and Mechanics vs. Portland Traction company.

Damages Denied To Turkey Co-op

Because Oregon Turkey Growers failed to prove that 3550 turkeys raised by S. J. McKee in 1937 and sold outside his contract with the co-op were raised for marketing purposes only, the co-op has failed in its suit to collect liquidated damages and enforce compliance, Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling held in a memorandum opinion filed with the county clerk yesterday.

The plaintiff co-op sought to prove its case by eliciting from McKee testimony that he produced 3550 turkeys and sold them to Alton D. Hurley instead of to the co-op, the opinion states. But although McKee denied the complaint in general, the burden of proof that the birds were raised for marketing purposes solely rested on the plaintiff and its contention that the defendant could not show they were produced for

Governor-Elect Praises Helpers

Support of Friends Given Large Share of Credit, Committee Dinner

Governor-Elect Charles A. Sprague, at a victory dinner staged last night in honor of him and Mrs. Sprague by the members of the office staff of the Salem Sprague-for-governor committee, reiterated his profound gratitude to the people of his own community and of Oregon, both of his own party and the democratic party, for their support of him.

"Nor can I let this opportunity go without saying how grateful I am for the support of the people in other towns where I have lived," Mr. Sprague said. He referred to the work of Corvallis accorder from friends in Wash-ington towns, including Olympia, Ritzville, Waukegan and Walla Walla.

He told the group also that it was his purpose to start his work "without any desire at reprisals for those who did not support me."

State Welfare First
"My first consideration shall be what is good for the welfare of the state as a whole," Mr. Sprague said.

He complimented the workers, gathered at the Marion in an impromptu roundup of the headquarters group here, upon the character of the campaign behind the scenes.

Fred Lamport, jr., chairman of the Sprague committee, presided at the dinner and party workers present were introduced by Cecil Edwards, manager of the Marion-Polk county campaign. Brief remarks were made by a number of the workers.

Putnam Grateful For His Support

Rex Putnam, elected state superintendent of public instruction at Tuesday's election, Thursday issued a statement thanking the voters of Oregon for their support of his candidacy.

"I am very grateful for this expression of confidence on the part of the voters of Oregon and pledge myself to administer the affairs of the office with fairness to all," Putnam said.
