Washington Woman Binds Self to Cherry Tree to Halt Cutting

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18-(AP)-Cherry trees caused more excitement today than they have since young George Washington whacked one down.

From the capital's tidal basin to the White House a word battle raged on the question whether any of the famous Japanese cherry trees should be removed to make To Promote Tilt way for the new $3,000,000 Thomas Jefferson memorial.

"This," said one angry woman, as she chained herself to a tree Wreck Whitman but Drive that a workman was trying to remove, "is the worst desecration of beauty in the capital since the burning of the White House by the British."

Later she unchained herself, but she and 10° other lady guar-Saturday throngs something of dians of the frail trees continued an angry demonstration.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt sought to get at the root of the up-rooting. Stating that only 88 trees have to be pulled from the historic soil, the chief executive added that not only would they be re-planted but they would be joined by 92 new trees.

But his announcement didn't from the hands of the astonished the state best. workmen, they starting re-filling the holes left gaping by the uprooted flora.

The workmen then re-united their shattered forces and gently recaptured their shovels. While the ladies made caustic remarks, the men once more removed the
