Corn, Wheat Both Climb

Better Shipping Demand Aids Cereal Markets Just Before Holiday
CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Leading a pre-Thanksgiving rally of the cereal markets today, corn climbed 1 1/2 cents a bushel, and held most of the gain.
 Better shipping demand for corn, as well as improved export inquiry, furnished the chief stimulus. In addition, purchases of corn to arrive here failed to achieve more than meager volume.

Wheat Climbs Also
 Responding to corn price action, wheat developed considerable backbone, and virtually overcame earlier losses brought about by reported prospects of the biggest Argentine wheat crop in ten years.
 At the close, Chicago corn futures were 5 1/2 cents high, r.
