Perhaps I got out of bed on the wrong side that morning, for to me-up until the time the Beavers started going places in the final quarter, it was as lousy a ball game as I saw this year.

Until the time Kisselburgh, on the last play of the third quarter, pumped his long shanks through the Oregon lett guard for 31 yards to the Oregon seven, it was a ding-dong defensive duel if there ever was one. It lacked any ordinary spectator appeal whatsoever. Only technicians of the game of football could appreciate the resolute struggle that went on for three quarters. To Mr. and Mrs. Gus Q. Fan it was a limpid, lackluster, mid-stream log-roil.

Action Absent.

True, the Beavers and the Ducks were playing hard, basically sound football. But who, at $2.50 per lookout point, wants to see that kind? What the customers want is action, something that for nearly three heats of that game was as absent as absinthe in days before

For three years we've been hearing a lot of pro and con discussion concerning the overemphasis of defense in football. Saturday we had a prime example of what has been meant by those who have opined that defense is ruining foot-

Until Kisselburgh's 31-yard sashay, 15 yards had been the longest run by either side. Once Gebhardt, from his own 13 drove 15 yards inside his own right end, and once Kisselburgh, back to pass, instead ran a similar distance over the Duck right tackle. Moreover, the biggest piece of yardage gathered in by either team in a single series was 27 yardsaccomplished by Oregon State immediately after taking the second-half kickoff.

Orange Line Won.

The Orangemen made a football game out of it in the last period, or to be exact, beginning with the final play of the third quarter. They got a break by re-Oregon territory before and noth What really happened in the itself. After it did, the outcome was but a matter of moments.

Though Kisselburgh, whom I gave to you as a "comer" even as early as the Idaho game in which he did little, and Higgins received the headlines for the Oregon State | victory, the true victors were the Orange forwards.

Coons Best. Those Beaver guards, Hutchins and Schultz, and Hutchins especially, had too much man power for the Webfoots. The Beaver ends, Coons and Wendlick, and Coons especially, were too aggressive and too alert for Coons, as he has in all of the four games I've seen him play this year, emerged from the bottom of better than 50 per cent of the pile-ups, with his hands grasping the ball carrier. If there is a tougher, harder working end in the conference this year, I haven't seen him and I've seen 'em all but California's.

Stiner the Star.

But the big hero of the Oregon State machine is undoubtedly Coach Lon Stiner. With his neck on the block but a scant year ago, and with his 1938 team a pitiful sight late in September against Idaho, the Beaver headman has come a long way. He has rallied a at Lebanon. ramshackle machine, that was at season's outset sans such stars as Gray, Duncan and Kolberg, and Linn at Woodburn; Lebanon at boosted his Beavers into third position in the conference. With a splinter or two more of luck, the Beavers might have been a Rose Bowl candidate. They should be next year, although those peaky Trojans will be better than ever. With another week of rest in store for them, the Orangemen should mop up on Ucla Dec. 10 to end the most gratifying Oregon State season since 1933, when the "Iron Men" won six and lost two.

Raps Critics

In an impassioned address before the student body on the University of Pittsburgh campus, Dr. John G. Bowman, chancellor, refuted rumors that he and Head Coach Jock B. Sutherland are at odds and charged that "unofficial managers, both inside and outside the university" are responsible for the university," are responsible for the controversy over the recentlyscopted athletic policy. Meanthat Dr. Bowman had disregarded their plan advocating the appointment of a committee to investigate the athletic policy.

Trip Will Be Blue Devils' First to Bowl; Wade's Record Clean

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28-(AP)-Duke tonight was invited to play the University of Southern California in the Rose Bowl football classic January 2.

The invitation was accepted. Director of Athletics Willias O. Hunter of USC made the formal announcement. Earlier today the Trojans had been selected by the Pacific Coast conference to represent the far west in the traditional battle.
