

Settle Protest On Water Bid

New Award Made to Eugene Company at Slightly Smaller Figure

SCIO—Solving the protest filed by a Seattle water pipe concern to the action of the Scio city council in awarding the proposed $19,000 waterworks project here, the successful bidder, the Eugene Ruedy company of Portland, has brought its proposal within specifications sought and a new award for a slightly less amount was this week made by the local city council.

Work was to have started on the project on December 5 but an extension of time to the 10th has been granted by Portland PWA.

Proceedings for the sale of $12,000 bonds authorized by voters here to assist PWA grant of approximately $10,000 are advancing toward fruition. These matters have been handled at several recent regular and special sessions of the city council.

Approve Beer Request

Among other public business transacted at the December regular meeting of the city board was the allowance of Max Wenzel's applications for renewal for 1939 of his beer class B and his package store class B licenses. Salary of the city treasurer, which has been $25 a year was increased to $60 a year. E. D. Myers, cashier of the Scio State bank, has been city treasurer for more than 25 years.

School Board to Ask PWA for Part of Fund; Give Diploma Contract

SILVERTON—At the December meeting of the Silverton school district board the chairman, O. E. Lee, and the clerk, Harold W. Adams, were authorized to apply for an advance grant of the federal fund to be used in the new building now underway. The first grant asked for is approximately $88,000.

The school board also awarded a three-year diploma contract to the Master Engravers of Portland.

Garden Club Has New Set Officers

SCIO—Mrs. W. F. Gill is the new president of the Scio Garden club. Mrs. H. O. Hart, Hoagland, vice-president; Mrs. John Lettler, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Roy Shelton is chairman of the program committee for the coming year. The first meeting in the new year will be January 5 with Mrs. F. W. Schrank.

A large party of relatives and friends gathered at the B. I. Arnold farm home near Scio a few days ago in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of the Arnolds, who are descendants of a widely-known pioneer family of this community.

Council Retains All Appointives

WOODBURN—All present city officers were chosen to succeed themselves when the Woodburn city council met Tuesday night. Alfred Ashland was chosen city marshal; Dr. Gerald B. Smith, health officer; John Muir, street commissioner and day marshal; and E. N. Soule, water superintendent.

Frank Wright, councilman from the west side, was reelected president of the council. A Portland firm was selected to audit the city books.

Beer license applications were approved for George and John Becker, George Crimmins, M. D. Perd, Tom Renn, Leo Zuber and the Safeway store.

Council Proposes More Stop Signs

DALLAS—At the regular meeting of the Dallas city council held Monday night, an ordinance providing for the placing of more stop street signs on Ellis street and Main street, was read for the first time.

The council approved nine applications to the Oregon liquor control board for beverage licenses. They were J. T. Primus, Safeway stores, Eva Chatas, J. B. Vilette, W. D. Collins, Charles Bilyeu, William C. Budke, William Sanders and C. L. Crider.
