

Murderess Is Buried Quietly

Attorneys, Few Curious Idlers Only Mourners at Brief Rites

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8-(AP)—Anna Marie Hahn was buried today, quickly and quietly. Only her attorneys, the wife of Ohio penitentiary's warden, and the matrons who attended the poison-layer in her last hours were there as mourners; only one basket of flowers, anonymously sent, graced the consecrated grave of the woman who moaned the Lord's Prayer as she was electrocuted last night.

Curious Gather
The penitentiary chaplain, Father John Sullivan, performed the simple ritual at a downtown funeral parlor. Two dozen curious idlers gathered in the Catholic cemetery when the funeral procession of five automobiles drew up.

The dramatic fanfare that marked her 16 months' fight for life had died with the 32-year-old woman.

In the death chamber, where she pleaded vainly for life, her picture will be hung in a few days—along with those of 213 men. Warden J. C. Woodward said that act would end "the Hahn case."

Charge Voided
In Cincinnati the state annulled a murder charge in the poison death of George Gsellman, one of four old men she was accused of killing for their money. She was executed for murdering Jacob Wagner, 78.

One of the matrons, Mrs. Josie O'Brien, said that 24 hours before the execution Mrs. Hahn was "a little witch—a demon with a wild look in her eyes." Before that, the matron added, Mrs. Hahn behaved "because she knew it was the best way of fighting for Anna."

Big Drug Firm Affairs Mixed

McKesson & Robbins Asks SEC Aid to Straighten "Fantastic" Mess

NEW YORK, Dec. 8-(AP)—The tangled affairs of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., described by a director as "so darned fantastic he still cannot believe them," were taken under New York federal court trusteeship today, with the securities and exchange commission as a party to the proceedings.

On the prominent drug company's own petition, Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox appointed trustees to direct the company's reorganization under the new federal Chandler act, which permits the SEC participation with the authority of the court, which was granted.

Appointment of the trustees under the Chandler act supercedes the equity receivership proceedings brought in the district court at Hartford, Conn., last Tuesday.

Directors Tell Tale
An account of the "fantastic" circumstances which brought the $57,000,000 drug concern under the spotlight was given by two directors, W. L. Cummings and J. F. Thompson, in testimony yesterday before the New York stock exchange committee on stock list. A transcript of this was released by the stock exchange today.

Cummings and Thompson gave a minute account of the far flung operations of the company's crude drug department, in which falsification of books, mismanagement and waste were charged in the Hartford receivership action.

"It may be the whole thing (the drug trading department) is just a hollow balloon, just a shell," Cummings told the stock exchange authorities. "There may be nothing there. That is the worst of the picture. There is no involvement of any other part of the business."

The department's assets were carried in the balance sheet at $17,000,000.

57 Are to Obtain Citizenship Right

Twelve nations will lose citizens today when 57 residents of Marion county and vicinity appear in naturalization court at the county courthouse to take the oath of allegiance to the United States of America and receive their final citizenship papers. Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling will preside and Thomas Griffing, naturalization examiner from Portland, will conduct the hearings.

Of the 57 applicants for naturalization, 33 have been British citizens. The remainder include five from Switzerland, four each from Germany and Italy, three from Sweden, two from Denmark and one each from Norway, Turkey, Greece, Hungary, Russia and Rumania.

The court will open at 10 a.m.

Clues Are Sought To Mystery Pyre

Body of Man Discovered Burning Atop Pile of Logs Near Road

CASTLE ROCK, Dec. 8-(AP)—Prosecutor Shirley Marsh and Sergeant Little of the state patrol, went to Seattle late today seeking clues to the identity of the persons who placed the body of a man on a pyre alongside the Pacific highway near Olena, north of here.

The body was tentatively identified as that of Ed Killian, unmarried, who lived nearby. Sheriff H. T. O'Brien said the man may have been murdered, or hit by an automobile, then thrown on a pile of logs and the wood ignited.

Accident Unreported
Authorities said they believed there had been a traffic accident Tuesday evening, but it had not been reported.

The body was burned virtually beyond recognition. It was discovered, thrust head foremost into the fire, by James Dunn and H. J. Terry, state highway employes, and T. F. Triplett, Chellis. Killian's dogs were found locked in his house and his cows, apparently, had been un milked for two days.

Body Discovered In Garbage Dump

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Dec. 8-(AP)—A bulldozer spreading garbage at the Bayshore city dump uncovered the body of a red-bearded, unidentified man today. Investigators said they believed he was an itinerant rag picker. There were no marks of violence, and the theory was advanced he might have fallen from a garbage truck and suffocated.

Oregon Ranchman To Raise Bison

KLAMATH FALLS, Dec. 8-(AP)—C. V. Barton, Merrill rancher, prepared today to go into the business of raising bison.

He obtained two buffalo cows and a bull for $50 from the Portland zoo. The animals are now quartered in the Barton barn, but Barton said he expected to turn them out to graze with his black Angus cattle in Poe valley next spring.

Miners Disfavor Clean River Law

PORTLAND, Dec. 8-(AP)—W. H. Strayer, Baker, member of the state board of geology and mineral industries, agreed today that strict enforcement of the anti-stream pollution law would put all mines and a third of the irrigated farms out of business.

He concurred with other speakers at the newly organized Oregon Mining association in stressing results of such enforcement.

"If the law is not strictly enforced," he added, "it should be abolished."
