Christmas Carols on Program at Library

Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite" will be featured on the program of recorded music in the music room of the Salem public library this afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock and on Friday, December 16 during the noon hour.

The "Nutcracker Suite," the dreams of a poor little girl on a Christmas night, is unlike Tchaikovsky's characteristic melancholy and is possessed of brilliance, vitality and baroque richness of tonal color.

The entire program is as follows:

Joy to the World
God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen
The First Noel
Down in the Forest (Carol)
Corpus Christi (Carol)
English Singers
Comfort Ye My People from the "Messiah"
Evan Williams, tenor
Wolfschuetz (Christmas) Hammerstein
Ernestine Schumann-Helke, contralto
Nutcracker Suite
Tchaikovsky
Overture Minuet
March
Dance of the Sugarplum Fairy
Trepak
Arab Dance
Chinese Dance
Dance of the Flowers
Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra,
Leopold Stokowski, conductor

Mr. Phil W. Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Barrett, has been elected to Phi Kappa Alpha men's music honorary, on the University of Oregon campus. He received this honor in recognition of his outstanding work on the pipe organ. Mr. Barrett is a junior at the university and a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

Hal Hibbard camp, USWV, and auxiliary entertained their members and guests from Woodburn Friday evening at a 6:30 no-host dinner. Department Commander Dr. Hoffman and wife of McMinnville also were present. After the dinner a short program was given.

"I'll have to return Jerry's ring—Bruno here just can't get used to him!"

If you find this state of affairs surprising—here's a real shock—but a pleasant one as soon as you get used to it. What looks like a tailored shirtwaist in the illustration is actually a lumberjacket—with the sleeves sliced off—and gone gold lame with fine tucks in the front and pearl buttons. As smart for cocktail and dinner form as the monastic black crepe with its var-hued needlework on shrug-shouldered sleeves.—Copyright, 1938, Esquire Features, Inc.
