But, I suppose, about half of those kids will bump into the nine-term ruling next term and will not even be considered for all-star honors when the work's all done next spring.

As from 25 to 35 points is somewhere near the average scoring of the winning team in high school football, the point-limit system would then compare favor-

Jamborees Compared.

Here's another comparison between point-limit and timelimit: As we have indicated, the winning No-Name side scored 60 points in 69 minutes, or an average of eight-tenths of a point while playing the pointlimit system.

The next night, on the same court, the WVI leaguers played time - limit basketball. They played four 15-minute quarters, or a total of 60 minutes. The winning side scored 53 points in the 60 minutes, or an average of eight-tenths of a point a minute—the same as the No-

The WVI leaguers tallied a total of 97 points in 60 minutes, or 1.7 points per minute, while the No-Namers scored a total of 111 points in 69 minutes, or 1.6 points per minute. -0-

Comparison no Proof.

That the foregoing statistics are not true criteria of what might happen in point-limit basketball when two teams really set out to get the counters in short order is evident in the way Oregon City But Only the Ladies Get Hogenson the sophomore Red swished in the points against Eugene. In the 15-minute quarter played by these two No-Name adversaries, Oregon City-scored 22 points in a little over 12 minutes, or 1.8 point per minute.

In the WVI league time-limit jamboree, Chemawa scored 23 points in 15 minutes, or 1.5 points per minute, but the Chiefs were really playing point-limit in that period as their side was behind and they had to go out and try to take up the slack.

Chiefs Dominate.

Inasmuch as we've stuck our chin out in naming a pre-season No-Name league all-star, we might as well keep it out long enough to name one for the WVI leaguers. Offhand, we would be tempted to name the whole Chemawa club, as Coach Gastineau's warwhoop quint was by far the class of the jamboree, However, the Chiefs were outstanding in the football jamboree last fall also, but failed miserably during the season, principally be-cause ineligibility deprived them of some stellar personnel.

Though many of the youngsters who didn't show much Saturday night will probably develop to a point where they'll far overshadow those who did produce in the jamboree, strictly on their Jamboree merits I'll nominate the following WVI league all-stars: Scalpcane and Backbone of Chemawa, forwards; Hampton, Molalla and Track, Chemawa, guards; and Jackson, Dallas, center.
