Anyone seen Detective Atherton, the Pacific coast conference

In being assigned the conference schools to investigate, it looks like he was given the wrong horse to ride. He should have been assigned the dark mag known as "alumni associations" of the member schools. He could ride that horse.

If you think not, look what the Spokane alumni association of Washington State college adopted in the way of a resolution: "In view of the fact that Washington State college football has fallen to depths not commensurate with the standing of the school in Pacific coast college circles; and in view of the further fact that it appears to this group that WSC's football failures are attributable to lack of finances; and in view of the fact that football finances are largely responsible for the furnishing of athletic facilities for the student body as a whole; now therefore, be it resolved:

That this group go on record urgently recommending to the ciated students of the State College of Washington that in its budget provision be made for adequate compensation to football players, so that Washington State college may again attain its high place in coast football competition and thereby continue to provide athletic facilities for the entire student body."

New Attack for Alums.

You've got to tip your sombrero to the intestinal fortitude of Spokane's alumni association. The old grads only come out with a tough to penetrate, but maneuvflat resolve to pay their gridiron heroes, something that is being done ered the ball for one-handed pops most places anyway, but they attack the lack of remuneration for players, as the reason for the poor showing of the Cougars, instead both in front and at the side of the coach.

Heretofore it's always been, "can the coach," but now here comes a proposal to, "pay the players." And in the same breath confidence in Coach Orin "Babe" Hollingbery, whose suppo unpaid athletes couldn't win a conference game for him last fall.

Fates After "Smoky."

Last season Coach Dwight "Smoky" Adams, of Dallas, had abou every known malady strike his basketball club during the season, in fuding the loss for the state tourney of Alvin Kroeker, star guard who had played every minute of every game up to the tourney. This year "Smoky," being bent on keeping his cagers in good health, had 'em "shot" for every disease of which he could think. He had just been congratulating himself on his foresight when Kenny Cleaver, tall guard, got hit by a car on a Dallas street and "The fates are after me," says Adams

The Pacific coast baseball school will hold its annual session this year from Feb. 15 to March 31, with Bernie Deviverous, former major leaguer and currently manager of the Spokane Hawks, as prosor. He'll be assisted by Bill Brenzel, Hay Rhyne and several other Ed Collins Laughs As the school sponsors claim they have more demands for young players than they can fill, perhaps there is opportunity for local ingsters who would like a trial at baseball. If interested, write to: The Pacific Coast Baseball School, Box 99, Alameda, Cal.
