Gong Family Wins Fight Against Deportation; Proceedings End

PORTLAND, Jan. 12—(P)—The Chinese-American family Gong won its year-old fight against deportation and separation today when United States District Attorney Carl C. Donough announced the government had dropped proceedings.

Donough said the government found defects in Fred Gong's certificate of admission in 1922 were not sufficient to permanently bar him and his family from the United States.

Entered as visitors The Chinese barber, his wife and a son entered this country on visitors' permits. Since that time, four children have been added to the family. They are American citizens. Deportation of the parents and the older son, now an Albany college student, would have broken the family, Donough said.

Several thousand Oregon citizens petitioned the attorney general and the labor department in an effort to gain permanent residence here for the family.

federal surplus commodities corporation plans to ship purchases of surplus California citrus fruits in cotton bags, the agency told western senators today.

Wilcox said it was not expected the use of bags by the corporation would reduce the commercial use of other types of containers, since the corporation shipments would be in addition to the large quantities that would move commercially. He added use of the bags would provide an outlet for some of the government-owned cotton surpluses.

Dave Beck Looks For Labor Peace

Employer-Worker Relation to Improve in 1939, Says Labor Head

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12—(P)—Dave Beck, Pacific coast leader of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stable-

men and Helpers union, today forecast a peaceful, progressive year between organized labor and employers.

Beck was here for conference with George W. Stokel, local representative of the Teamsters' union, and other officials to complete plans for the western states conference of teamsters, which will be held in Sacramento in May.

"The general outlook for the labor situation in 1939 is very good," Beck declared. "I think we have gone through the period of unrest and difficulties between

To Dig up Cellar In Quest of Body

SPOKANE, Jan. 12—(P)—The search for long-missing Mrs. Ada Nordquist was on in earnest today.

Mrs. Nordquist was last seen at her home here nearly 10 years ago. All efforts by authorities to locate her have failed although they have followed clues that led into eastern states, into Canada and other parts of the world.

Deputy Sheriff Mons Ulvin said that tomorrow the basement of the Nordquist home, on the east side of the city, will be dug up by county officers. He said that on a previous visit to the house he noticed a space in the concrete floor where the cement had been taken up.

Father of the family was Oscar Nordquist, sr., for many years a checks for a total of between $150,000 and $200,000 will begin to arrive Jan. 26 for 1100 workers in the Doernbecher Manufacturing company plant, the commission said today.

All Doernbecher employees, after a 12-week strike, will be back at work Monday. A commission referee ruled the company suspended operations because of slack market conditions, notwithstanding the strike over a proposed pay cut. His decision made the workers eligible for benefits.
