MUSIC

By MAXINE BUREN
From eastern cities comes the news that the National Federation of Music clubs is beginning a systematic collection of discarded musical instruments, suitable for university students. It will be sent to Miss Ruth Bugbee at the University of Shanghai.

Miss Bugbee, an American graduate of the Juillard school of Music in New York, left America recently after a thorough, to laboriously begin to rebuild the music department of the university, after pianos, textbooks and even buildings had been destroyed by bombs.

She resumed classes in a tiny bare basement room, borrowed by one of the YWCA hostels, with the largest enrollment of students in history of the department. Piano classes only, were omitted because close quarters left no room for a piano for practice.

Thus does music serve humanity in every circumstance, homes are lost and food is scarce but as long as life remains there must be solace for the soul—even in China.

Escalera Girls Will Be at Home Tonight

The Escalera club, young business girls of the YWCA, will entertain with an "Open House Tea" tonight at the new headquarters of the YWCA, 1000 Commercial street from 5 to 10 o'clock. All interested young business girls are invited to attend.

Miss Lucille Dunigan is in charge of the invitations and is assisted by Miss Marguerite LaMoine and Miss Marie Baumgartner. The program committee includes Miss Verda Thorokildson, Miss Doris Dear and Miss Marion Wyman.

Miss Frances Kyle, president, Miss Dorothy Jenette, past president, and Miss Helen Becker, YWCA secretary, will receive the guests. The refreshment committee included Miss Hildur Sjo-vangen, Miss Leona Digby and Miss Blanche Baumgartner.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartman have left for an extended visit in Pasadena, Calif., where they will be the guests of their daughter.

"I'm calling our architect—I forgot where he put the closet!"

Though the modern house may present riddles of where to put things, a modern brooch of itself suggests a variety of possibilities. Clips, necklaces, brooches, flowers or those delightful adaptations of vegetables, fruits and humorous little figurines could dress up this deep rose wool whose bodice is fitted by darts and waistline nipped by tucks. The navy silk crepe's bodice is draped charmingly, it's skirt rising high under the belt to catch the gathers in the blouse.—Copyright, 1939, Esquire Features, Inc.

Dr. Santee Guest Speaker at Luncheon

Federated Music Club Councilors of this district met for luncheon Wednesday noon at the Argo hotel. Miss Dorothy Pearce, president, presided at the preliminary meeting. It was decided to send a group of Junior club members to present a program in Portland in March. Monthly programs are given here at the YMCA and are to feature certain composers for the rest of this year.

The program for February 3: Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven; March 3, Romantic composers; April 7, Modern composers, and May 7, Ultra-modern composers.

A series of weekly radio programs over KSLM will also be given beginning in February and presented by the various clubs and teachers.

Miss Frances Virginia Melton is a student of the distinguished speaker, Dr. J. F. Santee, from the Oregon Normal school at Monmouth. His subject was "A Preface to Some Present Day Economic Problems." He said, in part: "Analyzing the situation throughout history, even for the past two or three thousand years, we discover a pattern of conquest is happening today. There are two struggles, class struggles, and struggles for possession. The big question is 'Who Owns the World?' and the struggle to possess more of it is the same throughout history: conquest, understanding between nations and fostered hatred."

Dr. Santee closed by saying "The great fault in our country today is that we 'glorify the gun.' Magazines, periodicals and pictures bring it to our attention constantly. A little more introspection by our own countrymen and less criticism of foreign nations might be well."

Covers were placed at the luncheon by Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Santee, Mrs. R. A. Amacker, Miss Alice Brown, Mrs. June Hopewest and Mark Hatfield. Mrs. Walter Denton was in charge of luncheon arrangements.

Those present were the honor guests, Mrs. Percy Cooper and Judson Bressler, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Pruitt, Mr. Percy Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gustafson, Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wane, Miss Ruth Macey, Mr. Hugo Hanson, Mrs. Emily Gustafson, Miss Maureen Gustafson and the hostess.
