

FFA Contests Attract Many

Many Local Contestants for Competition to Be Friday Here

Previous records for attendance at the vocational agriculture and the shop contests for the upper Willamette valley section will undoubtedly be broken at this year's meeting to be held Friday at the Salem high school, according to J. F. Svinth, local agriculture instructor.

Entries coming in from the various schools indicate a full list of contestants for the 18 contests scheduled.

Poultry Contest New
New contests to be held this year will be in poultry demonstrations and judging. These will be conducted under the same rules as similar contests at the state FFA convention and the world poultry congress in Cleveland, O. In the poultry judging contest each contestant will judge four classes of exhibit birds, 10 birds for market, and 10 birds for breeding purposes. The winner of these contests will get a free trip to the world's poultry congress in July at Cleveland. C. S. Brewster of Portland, a noted poultry judge will officiate at these two contests Friday.

Local Contestants Signed
Local Future Farmer boys who will enter the various contests include: soldering: Dale Lively, Wendell Armstrong and Milton Bressler; leather splicing: Jack
