if this year officials had waited until after Saturday night's finale to pick the stars, Newland would probably not have even made the second team . . . As for Hulen's near-accusation that Salem writers and officials have more voters present at the polls, and are prejudiced, we can only refer him to the records . . Although Salem has five times been champion and five times been runner-up in the 20 years of the tournament. Salem has placed but 15 on first-team and 14 on second-team all-state choices . . Medford, though champion but twice and runner-up but once, has placed nine men on first-team and seven on second - team all - state choices . . . For the three times Medford has been "up there" it has averaged 5.33 men per year on the two all-state teams, while Salem in the 10 years it has placed "in the money" has averaged but 2.9 men per year . . .
