Scio Participating In Musical Event

Linn County Contest Slated May 12 at Albany Auditorium

Scio—Several Scio community and club organizations are expected to participate in the annual Linn county music contest night at Albany high school auditorium Friday night, May 12. Each group is to prepare three numbers.

Glen A. Holland, native of Scio but later employed at Portland and Camas, Wash., has purchased the 30-acre tract belonging to the Wallace estate and situated on the east city limits of Scio. The Hollands plan to remodel and occupy the residence. Consideration is reported at $2000. Roy McDonald, Salem, an heir of the Wallace estate, consummated the deal.

Application to the PWA for grading and other improvements to the new high school grounds has been made by the Scio school board. The building is nearing completion, and was partly financed by PWA.

Principal P. W. Johnston of Scio high school and Ruth Houser, grade teacher, plan to attend the educational conference at Monmouth this weekend.

Name Committee To Study Power

Group to Make Additional Inquiry on Bonneville Service to Town

WOODBURN—Those seven citizens of Woodburn were appointed by Mayor H. M. Austin to serve on a committee to make further study of the question of Bonneville power for this community: Rodney Alden, Ivan Beers, Perle Love, George Landon, Elmer Mattson, S. W. Maupin and Melvin Ringo. This committee will meet Friday night in the city hall and elect a chairman.

Rodney Alden is acting as the temporary chairman.

WOODBURN—The East Woodburn Commercial club held its regular meeting Tuesday noon at Tillie's tavern on the highway. The club voted to cooperate with the chamber of commerce and other local agencies in connection with the cleanup week which starts next Monday.

A committee of S. W. Maupin, Roy Dickinson and James Lawrence was appointed by the president, Clyde Smith to be on the club's cleanup committee.

Carnival Tonight
WOODBURN—Woodburn high school will present a carnival, Friday night in the high school with all concessions to open at 7 o'clock, with the general committee, Joanne Lee, chairman, Louis Murray, Virginia Kirsch, Bob Rann and Francis Ryan.

A large variety of booths will be offered.

The carnival is expected to be the biggest and best carnival yet presented at the high school.

J. J. Muhs Dies At Sister's Home

DAYTON—J. J. Muhs, 48, a resident of the Dayton vicinity for 20 years, who had been in delicate health for several months, died suddenly Tuesday morning while visiting his sister for a week at Tillamook. He was born October 30, 1889, at Landon, N. D., and with his parents came to McMinnville in 1899. He was married to Miss Jessie Scott at McMinnville, January 30, 1918. Mr. Muhs served at the Mexican border in 1916. He was a member of St. James Catholic church, McMinnville; Knights of Columbus and of the Farmers' union.

Surviving are his widow, also these five children of the 7-foot neighborhood: Josephine, Genevieve, Vivian, Clayton and Martha; three brothers: Fred of McMinnville, Louis of Antelope, Anton of North Dakota; three sisters, Mrs. Lena McCune of McMinnville, Mrs. Elizabeth Gignoux of Tillamook; Sister Mary Martha of St. Paul.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning at St. James church, McMinnville. Burial at St. James cemetery.

Bilyeu Suggests Cemetery Changes

Scio—Floyd Bilyeu, federal works progress administration official of Portland, a native Scioan, stated here that improvement to the approach of the Scio cemetery could and should be made through help of his organization.

The entrance to the cemetery is at present a narrow, steep cut from the Scio-Lebanon highway, and should be graded and widened for better visibility from the road, in Bilyeu's opinion. A road turning east opposite the cemetery entrance and also at right angles to the highway, further enhances driving dangers at that point.

THERE'S NO LIMIT WHEN IT COMES TO SERVING OUR CUSTOMERS!

Just the other day one of our customers was some what puzzled as to what to call Goat Meat so she called our store, to find out' the one receiving the call, always ready to oblige a customer, asked every one in our store includin our butchers. Askin each one whatcha call Goat Meat, you know sheep is mutton pig is pork alwas at a low price at our meat counters and not one of em knew so they were holdin a confab when we hapened to come along. One of em says to the others 'p'st here comes know it all he'll tell us. So one of em said to us as we passed by hey whatcha call Goat Meat? Whatcha call what we retorted? We wanto know whatcha call goat meat Yeah we says, thinkin there was a joker in it some where because we never have any goat meat. We replied by golly we dont hafta call it if theres any around as it always makes itself know, we resite this just to show that in addition to our good clean wholesome foods we give the kinda service folk appreciate. P. S.—we dont know yet whatcha call it. (Goat Meat we mean.)
