

Public Bid to View Hospital

Salem Deaconess to Open Friday, May 12, for Hospital Day

National hospital day is the most important single event by which a hospital may educate the public and this year National Hospital day will be observed Friday, May 12. The Deaconess hospital, one of the standard and modern hospitals of the city, will hold open house from 2 to 5 p. m., and from 8:30 p. m. on Friday with the public cordially invited to attend.

The Deaconess hospital was founded 22 years ago with a capacity of 12 beds and has grown to a capacity of 115 beds. In 1931 there were 963 patients and in 1938, 2991 patients. The hospital contains 40 private rooms and 39 a 4 1/2 bathrooms and 39 graduate registered nurses are on the staff with 6 orderlies and 9 attendants. F. F. Wedel is superintendent of the hospital and Miss Mary L. W. Regier is superintendent of nurses.

The surgery, which is complete and modernly equipped, is situated on the third floor with the best possible daylight. New and modern equipment to be found in the surgery is an anaesthetic machine, Heid-Berink-Kinetometer, and a surg-o-ray light which is automatic. On the staff is a registered anaesthetist, Miss F. M. Ogelaby. Spacious cubboards for the doctor's instruments are at the end of the room with supply shelves containing solutions to be used in surgery in another corner.

Surgery Is Modern
Next to the surgery is the sterilizing room used for sterilizing instruments and trays with hot and cold water sterile tanks in constant use. There is also a sterilizer used for floor and operating supplies. The minor surgery room for eyes, nose and throat work is across the hall with a new section machine for throat work just recently added to the equipment. It is used in the electric portable section and spray. Other rooms near the surgery are the supply rooms and doctors' dressing room.

The x-ray room is equipped with a new Westinghouse fluoroscopic machine, one of the latest models. In this room is also found the fracture and cast equipment. The emergency operating room is complete with two electric diathermy, port-electric surgical units, to assist in surgical operations. Other modern equipment found in the hospital is a new Sweetland heater and cast dryer, one new oxygen tent and one other for regular use, and a resuscitator in the delivery room.

Nurses' Dining Room Open
Each floor is equipped with a kitchen room where the patients' food is prepared, utility room, laboratory room and chart room. A new dining room unit has been added to the basement floor for the nurses and hospital staff. The food will be served cafeteria style with a new serving room containing a heating unit, coffee urn and refrigerator. The dining room has individual tables with smooth tops and chairs each seating four or six. This room is newly decorated and is used for a lecture room and banquet room for the doctors and nurses. The laundry annex to the hospital has been enlarged with a new steam presser and washing machine. The main kitchen where all the food is prepared is clean, large and nicely equipped on the basement floor.

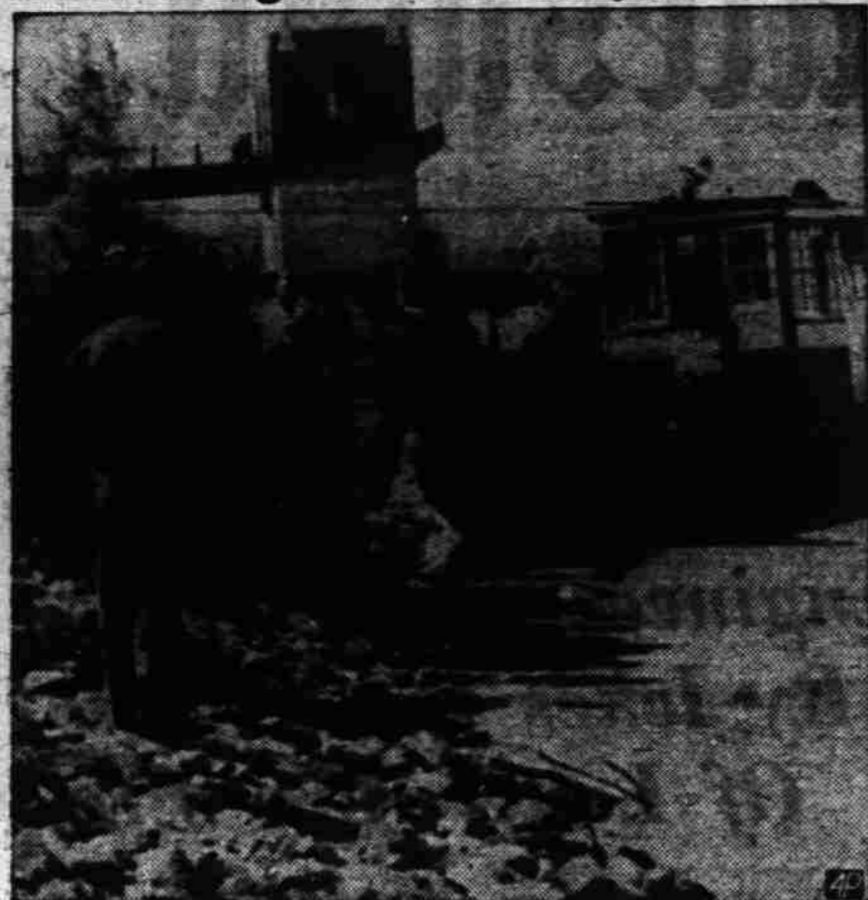

The hospital staff will serve refreshments in the dining room on Friday with nurses delegated to conduct the visitors through the hospital. It is hoped that the individual is made to realize the important and the great public service the hospital is to the community and city or town in which it is located.

4 Cents Subsidy To Shell Walnuts

WASHINGTON, May 6-(AP)—A subsidy of 4 cents a pound will be paid to walnut growers to convert six million pounds of unshelled nuts into shelled walnuts for sale in regular markets. Shelled nuts bring a smaller return.

The west-coast industry operates under a market agreement limiting the quantity of unshelled nuts which may be sold interstate and requires the balance to be delivered to a control board for sale. The subsidy from the AAA would attempt to dispose of nuts not exported.

Pendergast Aide's Body Found

This was the scene just before the body of Edward L. Schneider, (arrow) business aide of Boss Tom Pendergast of Kansas City, was taken from the Missouri river, four days after he left a suicide note in his automobile. Schneider was a potential key witness for the government in its case against Pendergast on income tax evasion charges.—AP Telegram.

proper and calls for a severe reprimand. In the future you will confine yourself strictly to your duties, which do not include giving out statements or publicity of any sort."

Beck's own answer, a lengthy document, replied, in part: "Re-examination of article should convince you I neither represented myself as acting administrator of Bonneville nor spoke for Bonneville. Mr. Ross and myself fostered, nursed and, by request, were official advisors to the PUDs involved before Bonneville existed and it's my purpose to continue to do so in such a capacity as long as the public power people of the northwest want me to, regardless of whether I am inside or outside Bonneville."

A second Ickes' telegram said: "The issue is clearly one of insubordination in the first instance to which you have now added defiance and threats. . . In the circumstances you leave me no alternative but to effect your separation. This I have done . . ."

Announcement of Beck's dismissal followed by two days the appointment of Frank A. Banks as acting administrator of Bonneville. Beck has been under fire from the southwest Washington utility districts upon issue involving procedure in connection with the acquisition of privately owned power facilities.

Canby Musicians Seek US Finals

Canby union high school musicians directed by Miss Faye Sparks of Salem won the class C sweepstakes at the recent state music tournament in Forest Grove and will compete in the national regional finals at Portland May 12 to 13. Last year at Seattle the Canby entrants won top honors.

Canby's girls' trio, girls' glee club and mixed chorus won "superior" rating at Forest Grove; the boys' glee club may also enter the Portland finals since it received an "excellent" rating and no competitor was rated "superior." Esther Arneson of Canby was the only girl soloist in class C to receive a "superior" rating.

The groups will sing Monday night at the opening Music week program at the high school in Canby.

Tillamook County Fish Are Periled

TILLAMOOK, May 6-(AP)—Continued drought in Tillamook county is beginning to threaten fish life, Charles Roadarmel, superintendent of the state trout hatchery at Hebo, said today.

With the aid of state police, he seized 50,000 young trout and salmon from Mossy creek and said that if the dryness continued other streams which are getting low would be seized.

progress and once more stressed the need of an "immediate settlement." He said he would meet individually with the operators and union groups beginning at 11 a. m. tomorrow and that another joint meeting would start at 2 p. m.

The conferees, however, in a formal reply to President Roosevelt, held out hope of an agreement.

It was the first time the president publicly had taken a hand in the situation, although one of the conferees said today Mr. Roosevelt had been in telegraphic communication with the negotiators previously to determine what progress was being made.

Approximately 460,000 miners in 26 states were idle as the negotiators sought and to end their differences, and while it was estimated that soft coal supplies in the nation totaled from 21,000,000 to 26,000,000 tons—a month's supply if equitably distributed—reports of scarcity in many communities increased.

Skilled Workers Are Held Scarce

CORVALLIS, May 6-(AP)—A scarcity of skilled workers exists in Portland and few young men are seeking apprenticeships in many trades, Frederick G. Leasure, director of vocational education in Portland schools, told 125 delegates to the Willamette Valley Vocational association meeting.

Despite a belief there is no chance for youth, the security of this generation lies in the multitude of opportunities, Dr. U. G. Dubach, of Oregon State college, declared.

William E. Showalter, Chemawa, was elected president, Amo DeBarnardis, Portland, vice-president, and W. L. Allen, Chemawa, secretary-treasurer.

Pacific Highway Workers Advance

Advisory Councils to Be Formed in Cities on Route of 99E

Appointment of advisory councils in the various cities along the Pacific highway will be the next step in completing the organization of the Oregon Pacific Highway association in northern Oregon, it was announced here Saturday by Carl Rynearson, association manager.

The executive board of the association met following the dinner held here Friday.

"We are well pleased with the attendance at our first meeting in this section of the state," Rynearson added in commenting on the meeting here.

"Once people in northern Oregon realize that the great portion of tourists enter Oregon from California, and that the condition of the Pacific highway in southern Oregon and the lack of adequate advertising of the resources of this section is costing northern Oregon millions of dollars, we believe this association will have the financial and moral support not only of the county courts, but of the people as a whole."

Road Survey Set in Triumph Area

Two sections of road in the Triumph school district were ordered viewed and surveyed by the county court at its May Road meeting on Friday. The two roads, one 3 1/2 miles and the other a mile long, are to be improved by WPA crews.

The court dismissed four road proceedings because of incomplete petitions, as follows: Petition of R. O. Amort and others for road in Silverton hills; L. O. Hedley and others, for road in Silverton hills; Frank D. Gerrard and others, for short road near Hubbard; William G. Rush and others, road in cloverleaf Farms north of Salem.

Blind Man Loses Savings for Eyes

TACOMA, May 6-(AP)—Joe Brown, sightless Oregon Indian, lived frugally for the past year, saving money so he might receive treatment to restore his eyesight.

Today he waited dejectedly at headquarters while police looked for another Indian they termed "a man without a heart."

The blind man and a fellow tribesman from the Klamath Indian reservation arrived here yesterday in search of an eye doctor. Unfamiliar with the town, they became acquainted with another Indian who directed them to a hotel.

When S. K. Brown had his blind friend established comfortably he went out to interview eye specialists. While he was gone the third Indian returned to the blind man's hotel room and told Joe Brown he had been sent by a Tacoma physician to examine his sightless eyes.

"During the 'investigation' $45 was removed from the blind man's pockets," Detective Captain Cliff Osborne said. "The thief substituted scraps of paper in Joe Brown's pocket in order to conceal the theft from the sightless man."

Fear Medfordite Drowns in River

RED BLUFF, Calif., May 6-(AP)—Discovery of a pile of women's clothing and a scrap book on the Squaw Hill bridge over the Sacramento river caused sheriff's deputies today to drag the river in a fruitless search for a woman's body.

Sheriff James Froome said the scrap book, and apparently the clothing, belonged to Mamie Burnett of Medford, Ore. Froome understood she left Medford Thursday, accompanied by two other young women, supposedly en route to Sacramento and San Francisco.

The sheriff said he would have no comment until he had obtained more information concerning the case.

The river at the point where the clothing was found, is deep and almost a quarter-mile wide.

Medford Resident Is Called Suicide

MEDFORD, May 6-(AP)—George Henselman, 42, widely known Medford insurance agent and civic worker, ended his own life by shooting himself in the head, in a Klamath Falls hotel Saturday night, Coroner Frank Perl said he had been notified by Coroner George Adler of Klamath county, calling he was dependent over financial matters, Coroner Perl said.

Henselman is survived by his widow and four children, the oldest a freshman at Harvard university.
