In Slow Day

Dealings Slackest in Nearly a Year; Third Million Shares Are Turned

NEW YORK, May 12-(P)-At tempts to find rallying fuel for the stock market were unavailing today and leading issues finished on the downside for fractions to point or so.

European and domestic news seemingly lacked buying inspira-tion and the market merely drifted throughout. Dealings again were among the slackest in nearly a year. Transfers for the five hours totalled 343,530 shares compared with 400,190 the day before. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off ,3 of a point at Strike-End Effect Apparent ending of the dragged-out soft coal tie-up may have been anticipated marketwise. Anyway, the result brought in few buyers. Financial quarters seemingly had the idea the outcome was a decisive CIO victory and might portend a spread of the socalled "union shop" to other industries.

Speculative sentiment appeared more confused than otherwise over the outlook for tax recision. The president's comments on this subject, at his press conference, proved a negative market factor. It was noted the chief executive indicated the treasury would submit to congressional committees its studies on taxes, but that there would not necessarily be recommendations.

Weekend merchandising reviews, reporting a pickup in retail spending, did little more than steady stocks in this category.

Wool Movement Since 1st Heavy

BOSTON, May 12 - (AP) - The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The heavier buying movement which developed last week has been projected into the present week and it is estimated that fully 20 millions pounds of wool have been moved in these two weeks. At the present weekend, the movement seems to be subsiding somewhat, with prices now fully up to import parity and mill buyers a bit inclined to back away from offerings. Class III and IV fine territory wools are quotable at Boston at 65 to 67 cents, clean basis. Bright medium fleeces are distinctly stronger, with 25 to 26

Sales Offset

Market Put on Downtrend by Reports; Rye up on Sudden Demand

CHICAGO, May 12.-(AP)-Selling induced by reports of scattered showers in parts of the grain belt offset buying based on unfavorable crop reports and gave the wheat market a lower trend today.

Sudden demand for rye that lifted prices as much as 1% cents at one time, September rye going to 50%, highest of the season, attracted attention. Although wheat prices rose at times as much as % cent-above previous closing levels, the market was weak most of the session. A lower close at Liverpool, where quotations were 4-% off, also had a depressing effect here.

Need Real Rain The weather forecast indicated continued showery conditions over central and western Kansas and Nebraska. However, crop experts said showers could give little or only partial relief in many dry districts and that general soaking rains were needed. Wheat closed unchanged to 1/2 lower than yesterday, July and September 73 1/2-5/8.

Wool in Boston

BOSTON, May 12 .- (AP) -- (USDA) --Domestice wools continued to receive a fairly active demand today in Boston. Most of the business, however, was on wools that have not yet arrived in Boston. Good French combing length fine territory wools to be shipped direct from territory wools to be shipped direct from producing areas to eastern users were quoted mostly 65 to 67 cents, scoured basis, delivered. Bright fleeces in mixed lots of bulk three-eighths and one quarter bloods, offered from producing areas, were selling mostly at 29 to 29 ½ cents, in the grease, delivered to users. Occasionally a choice lot of light shrinking wool brought 80 cents, delivered.
