Steel Jump Boosts Mart

Early Losses Are Turned to Gain in Final Hour; Douglas Air up

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—Early stock market losses running to a point or more were converted into gains of as much today when Wall street was pleasantly surprised by a sharp jump in this week's steel mill operating rate.

After consecutive weekly declines, steel production in the current week was estimated up 3.1 points at 48.5 percent of capacity.

Dealings were about as slow as they could have been, without coming to a dead stop, until the steel news came out. Volume picked up in the final hour, but transfers totalled only 417,069 shares compared with 399,346 last Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues advanced .4 of a point to 47.7.

Even when the market was alight in the forenoon, Douglas Aircraft put on a climb all by itself. This stock held a net gain of 5 points at 67 1/2. Spurring bidding here was the announcement the company had been awarded a war department contract for bombing planes amounting to around $15,000,000.

Prominent shares on the recovery push included US Steel, Bethlehem, US Rubber, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone and United Aircraft, Westinghouse, Anaconda, Du Pont, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Great Northern and Consolidated Edison.

Quotations Jump As Much as 1 3/8

CHICAGO, May 22.—(AP)—Threat of "stagnation" in May wheat futures ended today without a spectacular price flurry, although quotations jumped as much as 1 3/8 cents, 8 1/4, highest any wheat contract had been quoted here since June, 1938.

With trading orderly, short covering on May contracts was accomplished at around 31 cents. The market closed at 80 3/4, indicating a wide price differential in various sections of the pit.

Liquidation Saturday of more than 900,000 bushels of May wheat left 3,902,000 bushels remaining to be settled and pit brokers said this was reduced further in today's session. Unsettled contracts will be satisfied by delivery of grain before June 1.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 1/2 higher compared with Saturday.

Wool in Boston

BOSTON, May 22.—(AP)—(USDA)—Trading slackened somewhat today on the Boston wool market. At the end of last week there were a few transactions of moderate volume at firm prices, but users were steadily resisting further price advances. The attitudes of buyers were indicative of less urgency in their needs as compared with the demand one and two weeks ago. Boston houses reported that offerings of wool in the country have increased with the advent of shearing.

"AIR MAIL BRIDE"

Marie Threse Alexander lives in Hollywood, at 657 Dover Drive. That Hollywood address may sound exciting but it isn't really. Dover Drive is a dusty, hot little street, far from the wide boulevards. There is a sign in the window, "Julie's Beauty Shoppe." Underneath it is another sign, "Circulating Library." Julie Sandifer, of the old silent film days, is Marie's mother. They live with Julie's third husband, Charlie Bronson. Marie hasn't the temperament for the movies. She takes out her longing for romance by corresponding with Edward Wilson of Oakland, whose letter to a correspondent club she answered. She looks forward to a first meeting with Edward, but fears it too. He arrives in Los Angeles without notifying her in advance. Marie is so flustered dressing for an appointment with Edward, she goes round in circles. Julie suggests that Marie bring Edward to dinner, but Marie, ashamed of her home, declines. Edward is just as Marie had pictured him—tall and handsome. They are mutually attracted. Edward is familiar with Hollywood's bright spots having played there in pictures.

lights seemed dimmer, and Chinese boys in soft brocade garments were silently emptying ash trays, sweeping up. "My car's parked around the corner, in the lot," he said. It was a roadster, with the top down. Quite an old one. "I didn't bring my own car," he explained. "I just took a notion to come, suddenly. Drove up with two other fellows. This is Press Hackett's car." "I live way out in Hollywood—it's a long way—"

"We'll go by way of Santa Monica—that'll be longer."

They drove out to the ocean, listened to the dark water pounding hear me. Oh, it isn't that I don't want her to wake up—and fall in love—that part is fine. I want her to have a normal life, heaven knows. But Charlie—in her own funny little way she's in LOVE with him—terribly in love. And you know as well as I do, that it's absurd, and it's funny—if you care for that kind of joke—and it is going to hurt when she realizes the truth.

"Because of course she's just one more little adventure to him—she's been around, that one. Did you notice the way he played up to me this afternoon when he came for her?" Charlie looked up. "I can't say I noticed anything out of the way."
