Ritner Clan Has Initial Gathering

Event to Be Made Annual Affair; two Pioneers Are Honored

Early days of ox teams on the prairies lived again in the memories of over 100 descendants of John, Sarah and Sebastian Ritner, who gathered in their first reunion at Helmiak park, south of Monmouth, last Sunday.

Sarah, with her first husband, John Ritner, and their four small daughters, followed the northern route to Oregon, their two teams of oxen being part of one of the early wagon trains. Before reaching the Platte river Joan Ritner was killed by stampeding oxen. One of the wagon boxes was used as a coffin and he was buried beside the river.

The widow, with her four children, continued the journey to Oregon where she met John's brother, Sebastian, who she later married. About 1848 they each procured a donation land claim in what is now known as the Ritner district, south of Peede.

Of the eight children, only two are now living, Lewis Ritner, 82, who lives on the original Ritner land claim, and Saphronia (Ritner) Grant, 78, of Corvallis. They were the honor guests at the reunion.

A unanimous desire to make the reunion an annual event led to the election of officers: Mrs. Frank Sheythe, route 2, Monmouth, president; Tom Allen, a Corvallis, vice-president, and Miss Alice Waters, Portland, secretary. About 200 members of the clan are expected to be present next year.

SUPER MARKETS

COURT ST. - MARION ST. - KINGWOOD

In the last few months we've adopted a new low selling price for every department of these markets, which of course has proven very popular and profitable to our customers. Yet in nearly every instance where we've asked the customer what they liked most when buying at these markets, it wasn't low prices altogether by a long shot, most every one said they especially like the freshness and quality of the foods they buy to serve their families. We were especially proud of the compliments paid our Bakery Department. So many of these customers told us since the re-organization of this department of these markets, they never think of spending hours over a hot range making cakes, pies and pastries. Not only do they like these pastry goods, but everyone said they can buy them cheaper than they can make them. Now if you are not a customer of one or the other of these markets, we invite you to visit either market. We're sure you'll feel it's time well spent. Free Delivery.
