Northern Division Crown in Balance

Oregon and Oregon State This Week May Bring Title Decision

(By the Associated Press) Oregon and Oregon State open a northern division Pacific coast conference baseball series at Eugene today which may well decide the 1939 collegiate title. Oregon is a game ahead of ing in the pinch kept them from State, the latter pair co-holders of the 1938 crown. Two wins for Oregon-One today and the other tomorrow at Corvallis-will give the Webfoots the championship. Oregon will tie with Washington State if the Cougars win their remaining games next Sunday and Monday from Washington, and Oregon splits with OSC. If the Beavers and Cougars win two apiece, they'll again share the pennant. Hobby on Spot

With all these "ifs" laying around, Coach Howard Hobson is on the spot in seeking his second consecutive northern division title of the year. His basliminary to annexing the national hoop title. Bob Hardy, who has won six of Oregon's nine games, will be seeking his seventh straight when he goes against the Beavers. Hobson will probably follow up with Bob Creighton in the season's finale.

Washington's rejuvenated Huskies, winding up their season on the road, hope to leave the cel-lar. They play Idaho today and tomorrow and wind up at Pullman against WSC next week.
