

Zylstra Sends Second Letter

Former WPA Worker Says Griffith Has not yet Answered Charges

Declaration that E. J. Griffith, WPA administrator, had not answered his original charges with respect to operation of the WPA in Oregon is contained in a letter by Nicklas Zylstra of Salem this week, addressed to Griffith and released to the press. Zylstra's original charges were presented to the house committee investigating WPA at Washington.

Relative to Griffith's statement that Zylstra was "a former WPA employe" whose record of employment was unsatisfactory, Zylstra stated in his letter that records will show he left WPA of his own accord and was employed by it a second time on notarial work.

"The only thing they have against me is that I did not choose to play ball with them and become a member of the happy family," Zylstra wrote.

Pointing out that he had not claimed there were any fraudulent or criminal irregularities in the Salem office, Zylstra added:

"This I do say—funds are spent here wastefully and ruthlessly. That persons who are entitled to the fund do not get it. . . . My letter to Mr. Boatwright dated January 25, 1939, called his attention to persons working on WPA, drawing full pay and noting or little to do for it, and I challenge you or Mr. Boatwright to deny this. . . . I further charge that when it is found a man's wife earns a few pennies he is immediately released from the WPA payroll when at the same time married women whose husbands are employed are retained.

school for many years. The school will have three departments, beginner, primary and junior for children from 4 to 14 years of age. The emphasis will be interdenominational in character and all children of the community are invited to attend. Teachers in charge are Miss

Tax Roll Survey Sought by Burk

The state auditing division was requested yesterday to audit and balance the Marion county tax rolls in an order which which Sheriff A. C. Burk said he had asked. After the rolls are balanced, the auditing division will devise and set up a new complete accounting system to simplify the county tax department's operations and make error less liable to creep in.

"That was my request, because I wanted to know where we stand," Sheriff Burk explained. "The way those records have been made it difficult to keep them in order." The delinquent tax rolls dealing with real property go back to 1926 while a few personal tax accounts go even farther. Tax law changes down the years with various forms of installment payment, interest and rebate systems have complicated the tax record-keeping.
