Large Size Leos Visit Statesman

Lions visited The Statesman again yesterday, the same two two-weeks old puppies that paid their respects a year ago. Only you would hardly have known them. The fuzzy little fellows of a year ago had grown into 250-pound jungle lord specimens, and while they didn't offer to eat anyone, they looked like they could have consumed a horse apiece without much trouble.

Owned by Cecil Montgomery, the bay beasts were being taken by Earl Loney to the Zoo auto park, north of Hubbard, where they'll be on display for two weeks or so. They'll have the company of a pair of fancy peacocks, a pair of black racoons, a pair of rare cotnamundias which have just arrived from South America, and some 20 other birds and beasts.

Boyd, Union, had collided, an accident involving a dog and two cars occurred at 14th and State, where a car driven by Blanche Faulks of Turner, who had stopped to let a dog cross the street, was hit from behind by a car driven by Pete McCaffery, 1590 Market, a man came running up to report a collision at 17th and State. When he arrived at 17th and State, however, Burgess found the crash participants had gone.

In Dallas and Silverton, plans are being made for a variety of activities, including, besides those provided by the WPA instructors, those made possible through volunteer help. In both cities a local director will be employed.

Arts and crafts, music, drama, games and sports of all kinds will be featured. Special training has been given those who will direct the activities.

Opening dates for each of the different communities will be announced later.

One for Your Money That's Tuned to Go!

YOU spot it for its beauty—love it for its easy-going gait—buy it for its value. But there's no question at all about where the thrill lies in having this quick-stepping Buick for your own.

Action is its middle name—fleetness out where the roads are clear, agility when the traffic's thick.

You've literally got the hurricane harnessed to your service—for with every six inches this great car travels, a tiny cyclone lets go in the cylinders of this Dynafash straight-eight.

Your hand on that steering wheel guides a big and roomy carriage—yet a finger movement steers it.

On curves, its Knee-Action "banks" the road for you—on gravel, washboard, loose stone, or cobbles, giant coil springs blot out the bumps.

Now it's "LOOK AT ALL FOUR." It may surprise you to know, Buick is one of the four largest-selling cars this year. The other three are in the "lowest-price field." Fact is, 1 out of 4 people who buy Buicks for the first time, trade in one of the "lowest-price three." Doesn't that say "Better buy Buick" to you?
