

Evangel Denies He Did Wrong

Preacher Denies Immoral Acts at Los Angeles Court Hearing

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—(AP)—Staunchly denying any wrongdoing, Evangelist Joe Jeffers testified today the only reason he promised to plead guilty to immoral conduct charges was to protect his wife from prosecution.

Jeffers spent the day on the witness stand in superior court as state and defense attorneys peppered him with questions regarding the night he and his wife, Zella, were arrested during an alleged bedroom exhibition in the Jeffers' apartment.

Jeffers, relating he was taken before District Attorney Byron Pitts the day after the arrest, testified:

"Pitts told me his investigators had been listening to my lectures and that I was preaching a gospel of hate against the Jews and Catholics."

"I told him, 'I am preaching against the communists, Jews who are trying to get a war with America.' Then Pitts said he would bring a charge against my wife accusing her of attempting to kill one of his men. To save my wife, I said I would plead guilty."

Jeffers' testimony was the same as his wife had given. He said he and Mrs. Jeffers were persuaded to drink a powdered concoction, supposedly non-alcoholic, by a visitor who later turned out to be Vincent Higgins, detective, and even that followed were most vague.

"It went to my head and felt like I have felt in dreams," he said. "I did not seem to have any power to resist anything—everything Casey (Higgins) said to do, I did."

Jeffers said soon after he became ill, he lay down on a twin bed opposite his wife, and the next thing he remembered was waking up in the Beverly Hills jail.

PORTLAND, June 29.—(AP)—Mayor Joseph Carson was advised by Congressman Angell yesterday that the WPA had approved $106,000 to complete the Portland-Columbia super-airport paving project. Final sanction must be obtained from the civil aeronautics authority.

Ickes Bids Adieu To PWA Tearfully

Secretary Says He Hopes He "Can Take It" as He's Taken Rest

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(AP)—Harold L. Ickes said farewell to his six-year-old public works organization today in a voice choked with emotion and a mumbled hope that he could "take it."

"I've taken a good many things on the chin," he said, "and I ought to be able to take this."

On July 1 John M. Carmody, named by President Roosevelt to head the new federal works agency, will take over as an interior secretary. The former administrator, traditionally known as a "tough guy," found difficulty in controlling himself when he faced the microphone before 2,581 PWA employees massed in the interior department cafeteria.

"No government agency," he said, "ever did a better job or undertook a more difficult task than PWA."

The former administrator told his employees, some of whom may lose their jobs under reorganization, that President Roosevelt had said he wanted to find other places for them.

Annual Boy Scout Session Is Ended

NEW YORK, June 29.—(AP)—The 29th annual meeting of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America closed today with a visit to the New York world's fair. More than 75,000 youngsters rolled about the "world of tomorrow" before and after formal exercises in the court of peace.

They paid tribute to the "grand old man of scouting"—Daniel Carter Beard, national scout commissioner; heard an address by J. Edgar Hoover, and participated in a citizenship investiture conducted by Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts and Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Chief Scout Executive James E. West led the group in a renewal of the scout oath.

Federal Wildlife Agencies Meeting

Non-Political Aspect of Oregon's Game Units Praised by Wire

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—(AP)—Absence of politics in Oregon fish and game administrative units was lauded today by the state's four-man delegation to meetings of state and federal fish and wildlife agencies here.

The delegation also voiced its opinion that a trend toward specialization in wild life education and hiring of trained men in conservation programs were among the most encouraging signs reported in current sessions.

Oregon Game Supervisor Frank R. Wire said it was probable Oregon was ahead of nearly all other states in using men from a recently established federal-state game research department at Oregon State college.

On politics, E. B. Wilson, Corvallis, chairman of the Oregon game commission, said he was a Democrat, respected and made chairman by a republican governor. Wire said he was named first by a republican governor, carried through a democratic administration and was now serving under another republican.

Wire, Wilson, Dr. A. B. Peacock of Marshfield, and Charles H. Leach, Portland, all commission members with the exception of Wire, said they believed Oregon was "well up in the lead" in its conservation program.
