better drill tower than we have right here alongside the city hall, where we can execute the work exactly as we would if called to a downtown fire."

Fire Committee Chairman Goodman said his committee has not taken any definite action regarding either housing the first aid car at the new station, or to erection of a drill tower there. The car, one of the most popular of city-owned pieces of equipment, has had no housing other than a public garage during the winter months in the better than two years of its existence.

The new station will have brick and tile walls, but will be finished in a light color, probably oyster white or cream, to be in keeping with the residential district in which it will sit. The address is 1937 State.

On the first floor, besides an engine room that will accommodate two pumps, will be a completely furnished workshop large enough to accommodate the hook and ladder truck, an office, dining room, kitchen, living room and sleeping quarters for the officer in charge. The shop will be equipped to do all repair work on the city fire equipment.

Recreation Room

A recreation room and a dormitory with accommodations for 12 will be on the second floor, while a 12x52 basement will house a warm-air furnace, a fuel room and an auxiliary storeroom.

Pecan floors will be laid in the dormitory and recreation rooms upstairs, while the living quarters on the main floor will be covered with linoleum. The engine room, workshop and non-skid entrances will be of reinforced concrete.

The living room will be equipped with a modern fireplace and book cases, and the kitchen will be a modern, completely equipped unit.

Situated on the site of the old station, plus an additional lot recently purchased by the city, the new station will be accessible from five directions. It will be possible to enter it from the front, or State street entrance; from 18th street, proper; from South 18th street; from 19th street, through the alley; or from Ferry street, through the alley.

Corvallis Picked For '40 VFW Meet

PENDLETON, Ore., July 12.—(AP)—During a deafening ovation, John Scham, Portland police department detective lieutenant, today was installed department commander of Oregon Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The election and installation ended the annual campment. Only one contest developed. In K. O. J. Johnson, Pendleton, defeated Louis Starr, Portland, 110 to 78, for junior vice-commander. Corvallis was awarded the 1940 convention when Grants Pass withdrew.

Other officers were I. D. Canfield, Medford, senior vice-commander; W. E. McGuffin, Portland, reelected department quartermaster; Louis Starr, reelected judge advocate; Dr. J. W. Ingram, Seaside, reelected surgeon; Rev. James S. Reddick, St. Helens, reelected chaplain.

For its president, the auxiliary turned to Bett Hamreus, of Portland, who, since 1929, has held virtually every office in the organization.

Other officers included: Arilla Atkinson, Eugene, senior vice-president; Ethel Beck, Seaside, junior vice-president; Frances Kilkoski, Portland, chaplain; Esther Long, Silverton, conductor; and Lella Mothour, The Dalles, guard.

line of the Ranger amidship on the starboard side. The roar was followed by flame which swept the vessel amidship from the water line to the flight deck for a distance of approximately 200 feet.

Workmen near the scene of the explosion expressed the opinion that leaking gasoline spread on the water near the hull of the Ranger had ignited.

Fire raged for three hours aboard the Ranger before it was brought under control at 5 p. m. (EST).

which to place in operation the marketing agreement and to attempt to enforce it.

It points out that recommendations made by the majority of the growers can be more practically done under chapter 15, Oregon laws, 1933, and chapter 235, Oregon laws, 1933, as amended, providing for establishment of standards and regulations of containers.

Portland Grade School To Be Closed by Fire

PORTLAND, July 12.—(AP)—The fire which swept the three-story Peninsula grade school building yesterday, doing $50,000 damage, will force closure of the school until the second semester of the next school year, L. J. Baker, business manager of the district announced today.

Bricklayer Confesses Slaying

A confession that he murdered at least one of Cleveland's 12 torso victims has been obtained from Frank Dolzal, 52, bricklayer and former slaughterhouse employe, by Sheriff Martin L. O'Donnell of Cuyahoga (Cleveland) county, Ohio. Sheriff O'Donnell also linked Dolzal with two of the other murders. Above, arrow points to Dolzal at spot where he admitted tossing victim's head into lake; below, Kingsbury Run, where several dismembered bodies were found.

The federation said satisfactory operation of such a district was impossible without participation of the city of Hood River, and it asked the state hydroelectric commission to reject the proposal. The city rejected and the rural areas accepted the proposal at special elections.

Diseased Cattle Fund Augmented

Two hundred fifty dollars was transferred from the county emergency fund to the diseased cattle indemnity fund by the county court yesterday in a move to meet the revised federal aid plan under which the state and counties must share in payments to farmers whose cattle are condemned because of Bangs disease infection.

The county hereafter will pay $4 for grade and $5 for registered purebred cattle that are condemned, the state will pay equal amounts and the federal government will match the total. Farmers will collect from each source in the same manner as in the tuberculosis indemnification program.

Farmer Gives up In Infant Kidnap

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 12.—(AP)—Maurice Lies, 20-year-old farmhand, gave himself up to police today and was held on an open charge in connection with the kidnaping of 15-month-old Teddy Winston.

The police, Capt. E. W. Rogtase said, Lies signed a confession admitting he took the child from its grandmother's home three and a half hours before he surrendered. He said he took the child because his mother, Mrs. Alice Winston, had refused to patch up a quarrel. He said he had asked the mother to marry him.

Lies said he returned the boy to the grandmother's home when he found a police patrolman was following him. The child was not hurt.

for uptown Pocatello, then transferred to a taxicab and was driven to the city limits. The cab driver, Jim Perkins, said Hargraves waited until he returned with change for a $10 bill given him in payment of fare.

Maurice Perkins, employe of the store where Hargraves telephoned, told police he saw blood on Hargraves' face, indicating the man had been wounded in the gun fight.

Perkins said Hargraves' conversation with his mother was excited.

"It's too late now. It's happened. I don't think I killed them, though. I'm going to get the rest of them. Don't worry. I'm all right," Perkins quoted Hargraves as saying.

Hargraves, Nelson asserted, went to Bailey's home about 2:30 p. m. and demanded to see his wife, Gertrude Bailey Hargraves.

"Hargraves threatened Bailey, who refused to let him see her," said Nelson, "and he took a shot at Harold Bailey, his son, but missed."

During an exchange of shots, the officer was struck in the heart by a bullet from the slayer's gun, and Bistline was wounded, said Nelson.

Jack Watkins, Alameda village clerk and police judge, said he received the call from the Bailey home and summoned Hunter.

The officer started out of the door without his gun, Watkins declared, adding that he warned Hunter he was unarmed.

Bistline, who was visiting Watkins, took the marshal to the fire station for his gun, then drove to the Bailey home.

There, witnesses said, Hunter got out of the machine and was shot down. Three bullet holes were found in Hargraves' car. The slayer ran behind a building where neighborhood children saw him reload the gun, then go to the corner where he boarded the bus for Pocatello.

All available police were called and given orders to "take no chances" as they patrolled the city for the gunman.

Physicians reported Bistline was not seriously injured, suffering mainly from shock.

Hunter is survived by his widow and four children, Glenn, 13; Juanita, 12; Maxine, 10; and Carolee, 2 1/2 years old.

Oregon Leads in Lumber Producing

PORTLAND, Ore., July 12.—(AP)—For the first time in history Oregon led the nation as a lumber producing state during 1934, a Pacific northwest forest and range experiment station report showed today.

Oregon's total cut of 3,791,072,000 board feet topped Washington's cut of 3,348,567,000 feet by almost half a billion feet. The total for the two states was 7,139,639,000 feet, a decrease of approximately 21.3 per cent from 1937.

Lumber production records, going back to 1839, showed that Maine was the first national leader, the Michigan came to the top in 1849, held it until Wisconsin went up in 1899.

Washington gained the lead in 1905 but was nosed out by Louisiana in 1909, regained the title in 1910, and held it until 1914 when Louisiana went ahead again. Washington remained first from 1915 until last year.

Veteran Southern Legislator Dies

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—Rep. Sam Davis McReynolds, of Chattanooga, Tenn., 67-year-old chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, died Tuesday after a long siege of heart disease.

McReynolds was stricken last fall, and his persuasive voice on the floor and in the cloakroom had been missed this session by administration leaders.

He piloted neutrality legislation through the house in 1935 and 1937.

President Roosevelt wrote Mrs. McReynolds that as a legislator, McReynolds "brought to his public duties exceptional ability, integrity and great capacity for work and—latterly, as chairman of the important committee on foreign affairs, he rendered high public service."

The body will lie in his residence here until taken to Chattanooga, for funeral services and burial today.

Recommend Figure On Hop Agreement

150,000 Bales of '39 Crop Advised by Industry for Allotment

YAKIMA, July 12.—(AP)—Growers, dealers and brewers testified today in a department of agriculture hearing on a hop marketing agreement in discussion of the salable allotment for 1939 crop hops. C. W. Paulus of Salem, Ore., manager of the hop control board, said the allotment recommended to the department was 150,000 bales or 85 per cent of the estimated production.

Irving Sullivan, Chicago brewer, said there had been a decrease in the amount of hops used in making beer. He said in 1937-38 a barrel contained .702 pound, and in 1938-39 the amount was .1619.

Sullivan gave as reasons for the decrease the high price of hops, competition, changes in taste and bitterness of the product and use of some substitutes. He sought to bring out the need for a fluctuating allotment.

The industry, considering proposed amendments to the marketing agreement, was instructed to file briefs before July 28 at Washington, DC. The hearing was recessed today to reconvene in Salem, Ore., Friday.

Lincoln Town Is Plan Near Eugene

EUGENE, July 12.—(AP)—A replica of New Salem, Ill., one-time home of Abraham Lincoln, will be built on the McKenzie river, 10 miles east of here as a motion picture location, a film executive said today.

Louis Shapiro, of Hollywood, RKO location manager, said his company would film much of its forthcoming picture, "Abraham Lincoln in Illinois," in this state.

About 100 actors will come north, he said, and many persons from this area will work as "extras."

Raymond Massey, who starred in the stage production by the same name, will enact a similar role in the motion picture, Shapiro said.

Adjournment Bar Put out of Way

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(AP)—One potential barrier to adjournment of congress disappeared today when the house and senate committee pigeon-holed President Roosevelt's request for legislation to prohibit future issues of tax-exempt securities.

The committee referred the proposal to its tax subcommittee for study during the recess period and for possible inclusion in a general revision of the tax structure scheduled for next year.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the committee felt that adjournment was too imminent to warrant an attempt to enact the legislation at this session.

Investigation of Court Is Delayed

Delay in the return of Attorney General I. H. Van Winkle from vacation yesterday resulted in further postponement of consideration by his office of a request for appointment of a special prosecutor to conduct the impending investigation of the Marion county court. He is expected to arrive back in Salem before the week closes.

The investigation was suggested to the new grand jury in special instructions presented by Circuit Judge L. H. McMahon.

Harry Bridges Is Identified

Was "Comrade Rossi" of Red Party Asserts John L. Leech

During the Portland trial, Milner testified that Stanley Morton Doyle, special prosecutor, had not tried to get him to change his testimony. At the hearing here he said that Doyle asked him to change it.

"My false testimony in the DeJong case was solely for one purpose," Milner said today, "to protect my standing with the communists."

Landis said he could understand why Milner might have testified in the DeJong trial concerning DeJong's communist party membership, but could not understand why Milner gave the false testimony that Doyle had not tried to get him to change the testimony.

"How could that have helped you get along with the communist party?" Landis asked.

The witness paused awhile and then said "I just can't remember. I'm trying to recollect."

Doyle To Be Called Examiner Decides

Defense counsel said they would seek a contempt citation for Milner, but when Landis said he did not think a court citation would hold in connection with a labor department hearing such as this, the defense attorneys then said they'd ask the US attorney to cite Milner for contempt on the basis of his Portland trial testimony.

Landis told Thomas Shoemaker, chief deputy US commissioner of immigration and counsel for the government, that Milner should hold himself available until the defense decides whether it will attempt to cite him for perjured false testimony at the hearing.

The examiner announced as the hearing closed today that he had ordered the issuance of a subpoena for Doyle.

Says Bridges Used Name of SF Mayor

Leech, in pointing out Bridges as "Comrade Rossi," said it was the requirement of the communist party "or was in 1936" to use names of prominent people in the locality in which party activities were undertaken.

When Shoemaker asked him if there was "any significance to Bridges' name," Leech replied "Well, the mayor of San Francisco is named Angelo J. Rossi."

Leech testified that he attended a communist party meeting at San Francisco early in 1936 at which Bridges "made a report pertaining to the impending crisis in the maritime situation in 1936."

He said that Bridges spoke for an hour at the meeting and said that the maritime strike "would be an opportunity for communist members to mingle with nonparty people."

The witness said that Bridges' speech dealt with the role of the communist party in the strike, but he added that he could not remember any details of the speech.

Milner Testimony Denied by Doyle

MINNEAPOLIS, July 12.—(AP)—Reports in which the name of Stanley Morton Doyle was linked with that of Major Laurence Milner, a government witness in the deportation trial of Harry Bridges at San Francisco drew a protest from Doyle here tonight.

"The reported testimony of Major Laurence Milner, principal government witness, that I approached him with an offer of a job to change his testimony when he was a character witness for Dirk DeJong, defendant in a criminal syndicalism prosecution at Portland, Ore., in 1934, is not true."

"When Major Milner took the witness stand in Portland as a witness for DeJong, I knew who he was, what his duties were and by whom he was paid. . . ."

"The published statement that I had been investigated by the LaFollette civil liberties committee in Portland is likewise untrue. I have never been examined by this committee."

Fair Barns Built In 1904 Vanished

Last of the old livestock barns constructed on the state fairgrounds in 1904 was demolished this week.

Visitors at the 1935 state fair which opens early in September will find one new super barn that will house nearly 4000 cattle, swine and sheep. Only goats and horses entered for premium money will have separate show places.

The new addition to the large display barn will be 722 feet long and 240 feet wide and will be completed July 31, Earl Coons, WPA construction superintendent announced.

A number of other WPA projects now under construction at the state fairgrounds will be completed well ahead of Labor day.

OSC Meet Hears National Director

CORVALLIS, Ore., July 12.—(AP)—Education must bulwark American ideals, Dr. Carl Ormond Williams of Washington, DC, National Education association field service director, told an Oregon State college institute today.

Teachers are the greatest force for building ideologies, he said, warning that "nazi, fascist and communist heads turn early to teachers to reach children. Democracies, no less than other social systems, depend upon their schools and their teachers for perpetuation."

Finaly said it was not likely that any of the four field parole officers would be appointed at Friday's session. There are 250 applications for these four jobs.

Members of the board are Paul R. Kelly, Lafayette, chairman; Gerald Mason, Portland, and R. S. Keene, Salem.
