

Salem Folk Hosts To Numerous Visitors

The comings and goings of Salem folk during the summer days is hard to keep track of with visitors arriving each day and others leaving for sojourns and vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. William McGilchrist, Sr., and Mrs. Elizabeth Christ, Sr., were here for several days. Mrs. Elizabeth Donaldson of San Francisco, Mrs. Donaldson has been in Scotland for the past year and lived next to the McGilchrist in Scotland for a number of years.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Myers are Mr. and Mrs. George Blower and son, David, of Los Angeles. Mrs. Blower is a sister of Mr. Myers and is visiting with other members of the Myers' family during her stay here. The Blowers have recently returned from a trip to Yellowstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Wharton West are entertaining as their house guests for the next three weeks their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis West of Berkeley, Calif. Their young daughter, Nancy Lou, accompanied them north. Mrs. West will be remembered as Fay Wassam of Salem.

Arriving last night to be the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lewis at their suburban home were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. F. Holland of San Antonio, Texas. The Hollands were friends of the Lewises' when they resided in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wright have as their house guests for a week their daughter, Mrs. Willis Danforth (Kleanor Wright) and young son, David, of Klamath Falls.

Mrs. Butler Will Entertain at Luncheon

Mrs. S. J. Butler has bidden a group of matrons to a smartly appointed luncheon this afternoon at her South High street home. The affair will compliment her sister, Miss Irma Botsford of Honolulu, who is visiting in the capital this summer at the Butler home.

Bouquets of garden flowers will center the individual tables. Several hours of contract will follow the luncheon.

Bidden to honor the occasion are Mrs. Harris Litz, Mrs. Frank Brown, Miss Loretta Ford, Miss Zoe Stockton, Mrs. Robert Morton of Silverton, Mrs. George Blower of Los Angeles, Mrs. Charles T. Jory, Mrs. Cal P. Patton, Mrs. Ralph Mercer, Mrs. Walter Spaulding, Mrs. Percy Kelly, Mrs. Frank G. Myers, Mrs. Joseph Heck, Mrs. Roy Mills, Mrs. Ward Davis, Mrs. Leona Johnson, Mrs. R. C. Hunter, Mrs. R. W. Davis, Mrs. W. L. Staley, Dr. Max Parvane, Mrs. Roy Murton, Mrs. Wilson H. Darby and Mrs. S. J. Butler.

Blind since birth, this 28-year-old piano virtuoso possessed the rare gift of transforming an evening of music for the average tired business man into an evening of tuneful adventure! Whether he is playing some classical masterpiece, a composition of his own, or improvising on notes or themes called at random from the audience, Alec Templeton turns a concert into a "one-man show" and makes everybody love it!

This extraordinary artist has a prodigious musical memory and can play a tune or composition but once to have it indelibly impressed on his mind. The extent of his repertoire is amazing, but the thing which has endeared him most to his millions of admirers are his clever improvisations.

Templeton will play two groups with the Stadium Philharmonic Monday night, one of his numbers to be Gershwin's colorful "Rhapsody in Blue." He will also play the last movement of the Grieg piano concerto.

Conductor Lemay will also conduct one of Templeton's musical whimsies, "Bach Goes to Town." In addition to this and the numbers with the guest soloist, the orchestra will play selections from Gershwin's "Fory and Bess"; the prelude in F major from Bach's sixth violin sonata, orchestrated by Henry Rosenroth; and the finale from Brahms' fourth symphony.

The concert will commence promptly at 8:30 p. m., but to accommodate the crowds the stadium gates will be opened at 7. Popular priced scrip tickets are still available for this and the remaining Stadium Philharmonic concerts.

Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Look a "cool million" but keep well within your budget in Anne Adams Pattern 4150. For in an amazingly carefree, casual way, this useful shirtwaister seems to erase all those extra pounds. An eye-catching device of scallops down the bodice opening takes attention away from your "dribble-crease." And a wide front panel and single seam in back, together with a generously flared hem, gives you slim, smart skirt lines. The collar is young and soft, the short sleeves with their attractive tabs, may be coolly slashed. Make two of this style under the Sewing Instructor's clear directions; one in flowered rayon, another in sportier shepherd checked cotton.

Pattern 4150 is available in misses' and women's sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 16 takes 4 1/4 yards 29 inch.

Style-Smiles --- by Gretchen

"John says one nice thing about having children is that you can always find talcum powder after shaving!"

John would also say, if asked, he likes to see his wife in fresh looking cotton housefrocks. This one is red polka dot, buttoning down the front. Rickrack trims the square neck, puffed sleeves, and circular flounce on the skirt. Left, a boxy jacket of printed linen tops a coat dress of similar material. Notice how the seaming on the bodice curves into pockets on the skirt.

Quilted Beds Match Bed Quilts

In the style limelight, in some eastern markets, are beds with headboards upholstered in quilted satin, taffeta and chintz, with matching bedspreads available. The upholstery is used slip-cover fashion and is easily removed for cleaning. In some styles the upholstery is set into removable panels in both headboards and footboards. Custom-made upholstered beds first came into the style picture a few years ago.

Afternoon Off Filled With Cooking

Perhaps readers would enjoy and find amusement in what a food writer calls an afternoon off. It's very much like a postman's holiday, because most of us like to spend the afternoon in cooking.

Last week's holiday for this writer included the following activities, all packed into one afternoon, because there's only one half day a week for such recreation from office routine.

First a veal shoulder was stuffed for supper, dressing made from bread, fresh celery from the garden, onions. The pocket was sewed up ready for roasting in a slow oven.

A Norwegian recipe for rulle polse, a meat to serve cold, was made. The recipe goes like this:

RULE POLSE

Buy two lamb flanks and two pounds of shoulder of lamb. Remove any bones from the flanks and cut the shoulder in pencil sized pieces. Rub a pinch of salt on the flanks and add 1 tablespoon ginger, some salt and pepper. Lay the lamb shoulder strips on the flanks, filling in with a little fat and small pieces of meat scraped from the bones, add more seasonings. Roll tightly and sew, beginning at center and finishing at ends. If flanks are too small to roll, sew the two together before placing on the filling.

Put in a crock in a brine that will float a raw potato (1 cup rock salt to 6 cups water) and leave for 8 days or more. When ready to serve remove from brine and boil for 2 1/2 hours in fresh water. Press between boards while cooling. Serve as a sandwich meat.

Thirteen pints of Dutchman's soup began with a soup bone. Just about everything found in the garden was used, including a few stalks of asparagus, several zucchini squash, some beets with fresh tops, shredded carrots, leaves off the celery, green beans, onions and fresh dill blossoms. The dill along with bay leaves, gives an unusual and excellent flavor. The soup was processed for an hour at 15 pounds pressure.

Combined Fruits Are Ready for Salads

A combination of light colored fruits canned together makes an attractive pack and a convenient product to have at hand, since it is ready to serve as fruit cocktail, salad or dessert. For fancy appearance the fruit may be packed in alternate layers, or arranged in other attractive designs.

Pleasing combinations are: Green gage plums, pears, white

Today's Menu Interest Hides In Bread at Salad Time

Pork chops are the day's feature.

Cabbage-pimiento salad
Buttered summer squash
Pork chops, corn dressing
Baked potatoes
Apricot Bavarian cream

PORK CHOPS WITH CORN DRESSING
4 cups soft bread
1 cup bran cereal
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 cup drained whole kernel corn
1 cup stock, liquid from corn or milk
4 pork chops

Combine bread crumbs and all-bran. Cook onion and celery in fat until lightly browned; add to bread mixture with seasonings, corn and stock. Mix thoroughly. Press into baking dish, 8 inches in diameter. Arrange chops on top of dressing and sprinkle with salt. Cover and bake in moderate heat (375 degrees) about 45 minutes; uncover and bake 15 minutes longer.

There's hidden interest in a piece of bread, with plenty of chance for variety as an accompaniment to soup, salad and main dishes.

For summer salad accompaniments consider these ideas:

Bread sticks and Melba toast are a crisp, pleasantly contrasting which give taste and texture contrast to a salad luncheon.

Thinly sliced bread, spread with cheese and rolled, makes dainty tidbits to serve with fruit or vegetable salads. Toast the tiny rolls just before serving and return them to the table hot.

Poppy seed sticks are good with tossed vegetable salads. Brush strips of bread with melted butter, sprinkle with poppy seeds, and toast. Serve hot.

Crusty French rolls cut diagonally into slices a fourth of an inch thick, brushed with butter, and toasted, make a delightful salad accompaniment.

Toast fingers, brushed with butter and sprinkled with cheese before they go into the broiler to toast, are good with fruit salads.

Toast rings, cut from slices of bread with a doughnut cutter and brushed with butter before toasting, are delicious with salad.

grapes.
Peaches, pears, blue plums.
Pack cold into hot jars; cover with syrup made with 3 parts sugar to 2 parts water; partly seal and process for 20 minutes in a hot water bath.

Buy two lamb flanks and two pounds of shoulder of lamb. Remove any bones from the flanks and cut the shoulder in pencil sized pieces. Rub a pinch of salt on the flanks and add 1 tablespoon ginger, some salt and pepper. Lay the lamb shoulder strips on the flanks, filling in with a little fat and small pieces of meat scraped from the bones, add more seasonings. Roll tightly and sew, beginning at center and finishing at ends. If flanks are too small to roll, sew the two together before placing on the filling.

Camp Favorite Found In Fried Dish

Scraple is a man's food, suitable to take camping, provided there's a fairly cold place to store it. Good husky nourishment will be found in this Pennsylvania Dutch favorite:

SCRAPPLE
3 pounds inexpensive pieces of pork
3 quarts water
2 cups cornmeal
Salt
Seasoning (sage or thyme)

Add water to pork and simmer. When so tender it will drop from bones, strain off the broth, remove bones and chop meat fine. There should be two quarts of broth and if necessary add water to make that amount. Bring broth to the boiling point and slowly stir in the cornmeal and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add the chopped meat, salt to taste and any other seasoning desired. Pour into leaf pans which have been rinsed in cold water. Will keep for a week in refrigerator. Slice and roll in flour or in beaten egg and cracker crumbs and brown slowly in greased frying pan.
