

Singers From Indiana Come

These boys, from Anderson, Ind., are traveling in the interest of the Anderson college and theological seminary. They have been invited to sing at the First Church of God, Hood and Cottage streets, Friday night at 7:45. With a fine program arranged a large audience is anticipated. Left to right: Mark Denton, Princeton, Ind.; Val Clear, Detroit, Mich.; Earl Neal, Lodi, Calif.; and Milo Chapman, Eugene, Ore. Chapman was formerly a resident of Salem.

Troops to Be In Big Parade

Regular Army, ONG, Send Over 1200 Men for Friday Event

Over 1200 officers and men of the national guard and the regular army will be in Salem on Friday night for the Legion parade, according to Dr. B. F. Pound, parade chairman. Contingents will include the 7th infantry from Vancouver barracks, which will send 170 men and seven officers, and national guard units from valley towns.

The 7th infantry detachment, of which Captain John W. Joyce, Jr., will be the commander, and First Lieutenant Stillson S. Smith, second in command, will drive from Fort Vancouver in army trucks to Salem. An advance guard has already arrived but the main body of the force will be met at 8:30 a. m. Friday at the city limits and brought to the armory, where the men will be quartered, by a city police escort.

Flag Ceremony
A color guard will proceed from the armory to the courthouse lawn, where a flag-raising ceremony will be held at 9:15 a. m. The regimental band will accompany a rifle company, and will under the command of Warrant Officer Arthur S. Haynes. The band will march in the parade on Friday night.

In addition to the 7th infantry, nearly 1000 officers and men of the Oregon national guard will be assembled here during Friday to participate in the parade and to put on a special military display on Westland field in honor of Governor Sprague. All national guard units will be under the command of Colonel Harry Brumbaugh, with Major W. E. Vincent regulating officer.

Among the national guard units will be a battalion of heavy artillery from the 218th field artillery of Portland. This unit will bring with it four heavy field pieces, which will be included in the parade.

All reserve officers and national guard officers in this region have been invited to march in the parade, and Dr. Pound has estimated that 100 to 150 will be present.

Turkey not Wild, Neither Is Shot, So Moore's Fined

Charles Simon's turkeys may be wild but that proved no excuse yesterday for A. Moore, 58, when he killed one with a shotgun.

On Simon's complaint to the sheriff's office, Moore was caught near his river bank camp above Weathervane with the turkey nearly ready for the pot, Deputy Bert Smith reported.

Moore pleaded guilty to the resulting larceny charge in justice court. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail but released on condition he pay Simon for the bird and pay court costs as soon as he receives his first hop picking check.

1929 Conclave Here Recalled

Financial News Different Then, So Was World, Research Finds

"U. S. Steel was brought forward once more as a leader, and was bid up nearly six points to a record price above 221."

So read an item on the financial page of The Statesman on August 8, 1929, the same day on which several thousand members of the American Legion gathered in Oregon's capital city for their annual convention. Financial news was different a decade ago, but so, too, was the world news in general.

The Graf Zeppelin was on the front pages during the Legion meeting in Salem, since in those August days it was making the start of its famous trip around the world. The dirigible had made a false start in the previous May, but had been forced to return to Lakehurst, N. J. for a second try later in the summer. At the same time that the giant German lighter-than-air craft was heading east across the Atlantic toward Ireland, however, the Cunard liner "Mauretania" was falling to beat the time of the North German Lloyd "Bremen," on a passage westward to New York. The "Mauretania's" time was four days, 21 hours and 44 minutes.

New "Yard" Chief
A new man, an authority on laundry marks, had been made chief of Scotland Yard detective force at the same time that the Boulder dam was building in the west of America, and Stanford university men, by an edict of their president, were required to wear shirts while working at jobs around their Palo Alto campus.

The murder mystery of the day was the Snook trial at Columbus, Ohio, where a former member of the faculty of Ohio State was defending himself—unsuccessfully, as it turned out a few days after the Legionnaires left Salem—against a charge of killing his college student mistress. The secretary of state had just appointed Supreme Court Justice Van Devanter to the commission to investigate the sinking of the Canadian rumrunner (curious word!) "I'm Alone," and the national law enforcement commission had just published its investigations in 11 different phases of crime conditions in the United States.

Reparations Deadlock
Abroad, France, England and Italy were deadlocked on the distribution of reparations collected from a Germany where Adolph Hitler was still a street-corner orator.
In Virginia a democratic "machine" was getting ready for a big drive to put over the "Smith wets," and in Ireland an American horse won the chief event of the annual Dublin horse show before the era of the Irish Republican army. Peggy Hopkins Joyce, original glamor girl, was suing James Hopkins Joyce, her first husband, for half million dollars or such a matter.

And in Wall Street where telegraph boys and waitresses were still dabbling, . . . some of the rails were also bid up rapidly, Atchison rising above 12 points to a record of 277. Utilities rallied substantially, and such shares as Air Reduction, American Telephone, American Tobacco, Consolidated Gas, Gillette, National Biscuit, Packard and Union Pacific made wide gains.
