

Permits Asked On Power Line

Bonneville Authority Is Requesting County for Easement

The Bonneville authority yesterday sought permission of the Marion county court... string the Vancouver-Eugene electric power transmission line across 30 county roads.

Construction of the line is progressing so rapidly that we have permission to build over these roads at an early date.

Restrictions Looser The court noted that a suggested form of easement, providing among other points for an irrevocable right to be vested in the United States government, did not include all of the restrictions which it has been customary to impose on private power companies.

Roads to be crossed by the Bonneville line include:

Carnival Games Closed by Chief

Police Chief Frank Minto personally closed up beano and fish pond games at the Browning Amusement company carnival now occupying Cottage street from State through to Ferry. He indicated that the games could not be regarded as games of skill and so ran counter to city ordinances regulating games of chance.

The "Parisienne Folies," occupying the stage at the Grand theatre, were reported cleaned up

Home After 33 Hours in Woods

After wandering in the woods at Livingstonville, N. Y., for thirty-three hours, David Ellett, 2, is shown back in his mother's arms. A group of CCC boys found him within two miles of his parents' farm. His ordeal in the thick underbrush during heavy rain storms didn't seem to have bothered him much.

Dr. Kantner Performs 600th Wedding; Retired Local Pastor Recalls First

Dr. W. C. Kantner, retired pastor of the Salem First Congregational church, officiated at his 600th wedding ceremony Wednesday when he performed a service at Nelscott.

Principals in the wedding ceremony were Miss Maude Long, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. B. Long, Nelscott, and Lieut. Harold E. Hammers, Tacoma.

Dr. Kantner said yesterday he was not certain of the total number, as early records kept by him are incomplete, but the ceremony was No. 600 in his books. He performed his first recorded wedding in the fall of 1875 at Tremont, Pa., he recalled.

The following year he came to Salem as assistant pastor, in 1877 he took a circuit ministering to Yamhill and Polk county towns, came to Salem again from 1894 to 1906, went to Corvallis and back to Pennsylvania for a while and returned here to stay in 1918. He has been retired for several years.

yesterday in full compliance with an order from Chief Minto requiring the deletion of certain lines in the script and the wearing of more adequate clothing by members of the cast.

Housing Provided For All Visitors

Over 600 Accommodated in Private Homes; Large Task Completed

With all Salem hotels filled to capacity for the duration of the Legion convention which is now underway, more than 600 Legionnaires and members of their families had been provided with rooms in private dwellings early this week, with an estimated 400 applications still to come, according to J. J. Elliott and Mrs. Carlton Smith, chairmen respectively of the Legion and auxiliary housing committees.

For some time past the committees have been arranging for housing accommodations in private houses for the overflow from hotels, and Chairman Elliott indicated yesterday that plenty of rooms are still available for Legionnaires who have not yet made reservations with the committee. Auto parks and camp grounds were also suggested as potential solutions to the housing problems for traveling Legion members.

In addition to providing for delegates and friends, the Legion housing committee has also undertaken to provide accommodations for members of bands and drum corps who will remain in Salem for more than one night during the convention. For this purpose the committee has rented 200 cots, complete with blankets, sheets, pillows and pillowcases, from a Seattle firm.

Among the organizations so provided for are the Oregon City Junior drum corps, the girl members of which will remain at the Y. W. C. A., and the boys at the Y. M. C. A.; the Bandon corps, with girls at the Episcopal parish house, and the boys at the Lutheran church; and the boys

He Is Safety Pioneer

D. A. Beauregard benefited all motorists when he originated the traffic laws shown here—the first traffic laws marking ever used in the west. This was the first "share the road" movement and started in 1920. Mr. Beauregard, former deputy sheriff and traffic officer of Santa Cruz, Calif., is shown holding the emblem of Shell's "Share-The-Road" club which has several million members.

of the Clatskanie and Klamath Falls corps, who will be lodged respectively at St. Joseph's hall and the senior high school. Other musical organizations which will appear at the convention will not remain in town over any one night, it was understood.

The Salem Cherrians' drum corps and marching unit won first award in the 40 st parade Wednesday night, the committee in charge announced Thursday. Awards were presented Thursday by Charles W. Ardery, national correspondent, Lloyd Demarest is drill master for the Cherrians and Dave Shade is in charge of the drum corps.

Other awards were: best band, Dallas; largest number of voyagers in formation, Astoria; best box car, Albany; best stunt, Astoria; best stunt by Legion post, Woodburn; Oregon voltire member traveling longest distance to promenade, Curtis Johnson, Vallejo, Calif.

Housing Delegate Back From Europe

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 10—(AP)—Fred E. Taylor, Portland, delegate to the international conference on housing and town planning at Stockholm in July, arrived home today with the advice: "We'd better stay out of Europe. They have no love for us. They are just interested in our money and our manpower." He said that building activity in many European countries, notably Germany, was intense — much greater than here, but taxes were uniformly ruinous. "In England," he said, "the tax system will wipe out all the large fortunes within one or two generations."

Fish Packers Fail To Get Damages

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 10—(AP)—Federal Judge Claude McColloch cancelled today an award of treble damages to the Columbia River Packers' association for $20,000 loss it claimed to have suffered when the Pacific Coast Fishermen's union refused to deliver fish.

Judge McColloch said the packers applied originally for a restraining order to prevent the union from interfering with fish purchases after the restrainer was issued.
