Chairman Forecasts Successful Fete As Mt. Angel Flax Festival Looms; Grand Parade Route Sunday Outlined

MT. ANGEL—Arthur W. Holmes, president of the Flaxarians and general chairman of the Flax Festival August 18-20, expressed himself well satisfied with festival prospects in his report at the Business Men's club luncheon Monday. He said the committees were all clicking and he was confident the festival would be a success. Holmes requested that all Flaxarians report at the auditorium in uniform at 7:45 p. m. Friday to take part in the coronation ceremonies. Flaxarians will also form a guard of honor for the queen's float in the grand parade Sunday.

Mr. Holmes also commended highway signs drawing attention to the Flax Festival. Parade Route Mapped Frank Hettwer, parade chairman outlined the course of Sunday's parade. The parade will form on St. Mary's school grounds, march down College street to Main, past the reviewing stand at the city hall, over to Railroad street, north to Shepherd's corner, then across to the highway and up Main to College and thence back to the school ground, thus passing the reviewing stand twice.

More decorated floats could be entered in the Kiddies' Parade according to Leonard Fisher. Louis Schwab stated that the bicycle race, Sunday at 1:30 p. m. will have two divisions. The boys' race will start at the Hazel Dell school on the Silverton-Mt. Angel highway and end at the ball park while the girls' race will start 15 minutes later from the academy.

The investigating committee on the Oregon Hospital Service society reported, and J. T. Bauman, chairman, voiced his approval of the plan. The highway chairman, Aloys Keber, stated Mt. Angel had had splendid cooperation from the county court in its road problem. Non-skidding surface has been applied on the Mt. Angel-Scotts Mills road from Meridian road to the Mt. Angel city limits, the bridge on the Gervais road has been repaired, and the Otto Hasling road will be graveled this fall.
