

Dr. Raver Asks Rate Approval

Bonneville Administrator Due to Reach Oregon September 19

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Paul Raver, Bonneville dam administrator, asked power commission officials today to speed up approval of the new rate schedule so he could begin marketing Bonneville energy.

Raver also discussed "policy" with Secretary Ickes and said he would have "some definite announcement" to make when he reached Portland September 19.

He asserted the schedules now before the power commission would "meet the needs" of the project and expedite sale of power, little of which has been disposed of to date.

New Rates Flexible

The rates, prepared by Frank A. Banks, federal construction superintendent of Grand Coulee, while he was acting as Bonneville chief, were more flexible than those prepared by the late J. D. Ross, Raver explained.

"The new rates," he said, "differentiate between demand and energy charges and make possible disposal of power in certain sections where the load factor condition would not be advantageous under the horsepower-year base proposed by Mr. Ross."

Raver emphasized he did not intend to exercise any "dictatorial authority." "My job," he said, "is strictly that of salesman."

Raver said he anticipated no difficulty inaugurating power distribution. He indicated he planned some personnel changes, including some additions to his administrative staff, but added

Auto Death Toll Jumps 3 in Day

PORTLAND, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Portland's 1939 traffic death total increased three today, to 33.

Sam Borich, 60, Colton, died under the wheels of an oil truck. Four witnesses told Traffic Investigator George Phillips the man stumbled under the vehicle.

Phillips also received a San Francisco report of the death of C. E. Hattery, 54, Portland, from injuries suffered in an accident here June 10.

J. E. Kirby, Portland, was fatally injured in a collision between two autos this afternoon.

He would make no announcement until he reached Portland.

"Remember Mistakes and Disasters Last War" Taber's Advice

MUSCATINE, Ia., Sept. 7.—(AP)—L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, urged farmers tonight to remember "the disasters and mistakes" of the last war period—over-expansion and speculation, followed by collapse.

In an address prepared for delivery to the Muscatine grange and farmers' county rally, Taber said:

"Our over-expansion in agriculture, our speculation in farm lands, our failure to protect the farmer in the collapse that followed, left a stark tragedy in the boom of the corn belt in 1920 proved a financial curse injuring all."

"It is time to keep our heads, to think things through and,

Troops Say It With Flowers on West, Not With Bullets, Germans Reporting

BERLIN, Sept. 7.—(AP)—They're saying it with flowers, children's toy balloons, leaflets and even with personal visits along the Alsatian-German front, according to German reports which reached the capital tonight.

According to these reports:

1. Both German and French soldiers decorated their bunkers in the Siegfried and Maginot lines with flowers while awaiting orders from their respective governments to open fire.
2. Occasionally toy balloons are carried from one side of the "enemy" line to the other with friendly greetings.
3. At certain hours visits are exchanged.
4. This morning French and German privates even bathed together in the Rhine river.

Nazi military experts said above all, use common sense and keep your feet on the ground.

Taber predicted hog, corn and meat prices would soar if the European war lasted long.

Liner Camouflaged

HONOLULU, Sept. 7.—(AP)—The Empress of Canada arrived here today from Vancouver, B. C. The ship approached from a southeasterly direction, far off her usual peacetime course. The liner's stacks were painted in part with a battleship grey camouflage.

him with Carol today."

"No."

"Oh!"

"Please, Larry, let's not!"

Then Mike broke down. "I haven't been able to eat or sleep. I couldn't go home and face the family..." Mike's voice was so pitiful that even Handsome was dismayed.

"Mike, darling, I can't kiss you on Brooklyn bridge in all this traffic. Move over close to me. Stop crying!" Handsome was sincerely sorry. He was appalled at the depth of Mike's suffering.

"There, put your arm through mine. Now listen. I suppose you saw that crack in the paper today? That's silly. Those girls at the Inferno will say anything to get their names in the paper. Iris is all right, just another blonde. A swell show girl!"

Handsome spoke her name so easily that Mike winced.

"She keeps calling me up, says that picture in the paper is worth a lot to her professionally." With that she dropped the subject.

Nine Terse Words Relate Sea Drama

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A life and death drama of the seas was told tonight in nine words.

"Proceeding assistance Olive Grove," Captain Giles C. Stedman of the US line Washington told the New York office after an SOS from the torpedoed British freighter.

Then—several hours later—

"Saved 88, lost none, injured none."

From New York went the tenth word to close the wireless file.

"Congratulations," said John M. Franklin, president of the company.
