Don't Look now

Singing in the rain . . . Mrs. Marie Flint McCall invited guests to a picnic dinner last Wednesday night, but Mr. Jupiter Pluvius thought otherwise. So the group moved indoors and had a fine supper, served in Mrs. McCall's usual interesting way. Guests who enjoyed the meal, games, and a sing after-Wirtz, Miss Barbara Miller, Miss wards were Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Vassal of Dallas, Mrs. Vassal's sister, Mrs. Caroline Erlandson, Miss Margaret Gillis and Mrs. Marie Flint McCall.

Reunion blues . . . Mrs. Philip Shobar, who has been entertaining her family for 10 days, found the house lonesome after they'd gone yesterday. Her sister, Mrs. W. H. Christie of Pasadena, had not seen her Douglas Chambers, Fred Nichols, father, Mr. A. E. Hollom of Snohomish, Wash., for five years, until they met at the Shobar home last week. Mrs. Hollom and Mrs. Christie's son Stanley were also present for the reunion.

Beauty and the beast . . . in a living example at Lausanne hall. Several of the goodlooking coeds, Anna Lou and Rosemary Ditweiler and Ann Faxon, are waiting tables for the football players until school opens and the regular training table is started.

Sweet and lovely . . . were the Misses Marylee Fry and Barbara Crain when hostesses at tea in Barbara's house on Friday afternoon. Marylee wore a black crepe with fuchsia trim and a corsage of Rubrum lilies that shade from almost wine to white. Contrasting with brunette Marylee, blond Barbara wore a fuchsia angora wool dress with a corsage of the same lilies. Incidentally, 65 handkerchiefs changed hands during the afternoon, because it was an au revoir party for Patty Otten.
