Filing Is Zero At Courthouse

Justice Court Unusually Busy, on Other Hand; Traffic Cases up

No documents were filed yesterday with the county clerk in connection with cases in the circuit court, no marriage licenses were issued and only one duplicate copy of an inheritance tax assessment was filed with the probate court. According to members of the staff in the clerk's office, not more than 10 years has there been such total absence of filings on any one day. Usually a score or more documents are filed daily in circuit and probate categories.

Whatever the dearth of filings in the clerk's office, justice court was unusually busy, with more than 25 civil and criminal actions filed. Judgments rendered in criminal cases follow:

Vernon Kessler; operating a motor vehicle during period of license suspension; sentence of 60 days in jail suspended, and fine of $25 and costs imposed.

Carl Martz; unlawful use of an automobile; pleaded innocent and preliminary hearing set for 2 p. m. Committed to county jail in lieu of $250 bail.

J. E. Tyson; improper vehicle license; pleaded innocent and trial set for 2 p. m. today.

Victor S. Miller; no clearance lights; fined $2.50 and costs.

Leo Dumler and Frank B. Scofield; no warning device; each fined $1 and costs.

Arlen E. Adams; no windshield wiper; pleaded innocent and trial set for tomorrow at 3 p. m.

Edward H. Lane; speeding with truck; fined $3 and costs.

Merle Stanger; no rear view mirror; fined $1 and costs.

Graham P. Sharkey; passing with insufficient clearance; $1 and costs.

Wilfred L. Baker; no muffler; fined $1 and costs.

The following lacked operator's licenses, and were fined $1 and costs in each case: Ralph S. Larson, Gordon L. Childers, Geraldine M. Reining, Robert W. Hartley, Earl W. Vealier and Earl G. Wright.

Municipal Court—Emil Kolks and John Benson, drunk; each given a 5-day suspended jail sentence.

militarism and the Russian genius for conspiracy, both concentrated against the West.

Everywhere either system penetrates it carries with it revolutionary agents—political commissars, Heinrich Himmler, the head of the dreaded Gestapo, was in Poland a year ago, organizing an espionage service. It is so efficient that four hours after the foreign embassies moved "secretly" from Warsaw they were being bombed by German planes! The Germans have brought into Poland gold and pennants who are spreading discontent among the Poles, telling them that Great Britain held back Poland when Poland wanted to act; telling them they have been betrayed by Britain, working up feeling against the Polish Jews, and promising to destroy Poland not only by war but by internal revolution.

Senator Borah's whole speech is a blind and fearfully optimistic refusal to look at realities. The Senator has refused to look at them for many months. His information, which he said, was better than that of the State Department, told him that there wasn't going to be a war. Mr. Farley and Mr. Morgenthau, in the President's own cabinet, evidently believed that Mr. Roosevelt was playing Cassandra, for the war he predicted caught them in Europe. Well, the war is here. And it will be waged all over the earth, with every conceivable weapon—on both sides with economic and military weapons, and by the Germans with the revolutionary weapon, and not a single neutral will be spared.

Like Islam, the Nazis are spreading fanatical doctrine by the sword. That is the essence of this war.

This doctrine is absolutely incompatible with anything that Senator Borah has ever believed in. He speaks of America's duty to preserve reason and justice. The frontiers of reason and justice, Senator, are on the Rhine. Whether or not they were there in 1917 is no longer pertinent. That is where they are today.

Nothing of 1939 will be the same at the end of this war. There will either be a new world in which there is reason and justice, or there will be despotism, chaos and the decline of the West predicted by Oswald Spengler.

It is in this situation that the Senator wants us to forbid the sale of arms to Britain and France—when all traditional neutrality permits us, legitimately and as neutrals, to do so.

Britain and France have not poured the entire energies of their people for five long years into nothing else than building a war machine. For that we are to penalize them? They have money here they have here because they have not cut themselves off from the world economy in order to make themselves self-sufficient for war. But we

Fellow Members Celebrate 85th Anniversary of Pioneer Here

Denominated "the best-loved man in Salem, C. P. Bishop, pioneer merchant and woolen goods manufacturer, was honored in advance of his 85th birthday which occurs Friday, by fellow-Rotarians at the Rotary club's luncheon Wednesday noon.

A birthday cake was brought in but instead of 85 candles it bore 20 in recognition of his 20 years of Rotary membership.

Mr. Bishop's career was traced briefly by William McGilchrist, jr., chairman of the club's "achievement committee" who conducted this part of the luncheon program. The chairman mentioned Bishop's early life in the Crawfordville vicinity, his business career in McMinnville and Salem, his start in the woolen mill industry and its expansion to include plants at Pendleton, Ashoughal, Wash., and Eureka, Calif.; and his support of all worthy causes in Salem including the YMCA, Salvation Army and other institutions.

Long Acquaintance Told Paul Wallace, recalling a friendship of 50 years with Mr. Bishop, declared that he was an "ascending life," fuller and more satisfactory each year. Dr. Bruce Baxter mentioned Mr. Bishop's service to Willamette university but rated more valuable his life as a model for young people to copy.

Responding, Mr. Bishop said the most appropriate rejoinder would be "Oh, pshaw," but he nevertheless expressed appreciation of the honors bestowed.

Following the address of the day, Hugh Morrow, new city librarian, which included some facts about the establishment of the library here, Mrs. Bishop, who was a special guest, mentioned the initial steps toward creation of a library, taken by the Woman's club which had been organized at a meeting in the Bishop home.

Morrow emphasized the library's facilities for aiding studies of practical value to business men and the library staff's desire to be of service in this respect.

Rocking of the parking space and roads in Silver Falls state park was under consideration by members of the county court yesterday, with obtaining an adequate supply of crushed rock the most weighty difficulty before them.

The court yesterday met with power company officials to discuss extension of present power lines, with obtaining an adequate supply of crushed rock from the Stayton plant is also under consideration.

State highway commission, CCC, PWA and the county agencies would all be involved in the proposed plan, for which some 5,000 to 6,000 yards of fine rock will need to be supplied by the government.

GOES TO COLLEGE
BETHANY—Miss Agnes Torvenden will leave in a few days for Corvallis where she will enter her senior year at Oregon State college. Silas Torvenden, who was graduated from the Silverton high school in June, has gone to Morhead, Minn., where he will register in liberal arts at Concordia college.

William Morgan Dies at Albany
ALBANY.—William Morgan, 67, died at the Albany General hospital Wednesday morning following an extended illness. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Fisher funeral home in charge of Rev. Alan H. Banks. Burial will be in Riverview.

William Morgan was born at Oakville, April 27, 1872, and had spent his entire life in Oregon, and for most part in Llan county. He was a member of the Baptist church and also of the Modern Woodmen lodge.

On December 18, 1899, he married Leona B. King, who survives. He is also survived by a brother, James P. Morgan, and a sister, Mrs. Martha Couer, both of Portland, and another sister, Mrs. Minnie Davis of Albany.

Wrist Badly Cut By Machine Saw

A wood saw nearly severed the right wrist of William H. Walters in an accident occurring at 2015 North Liberty yesterday.

Walters and a companion were attempting to move the saw while it was running. Walters' hand accidentally pushed the conveyor into the saw, which bit into his wrist. He was treated by city first aid men, who took him to the Deaconess hospital. There a doctor said he believed he could save the arm.

Poultry Larceny Trial Here Today

Two Men Brought to City to Face Charge; One of Four Released

Frank R. Recomb, 43, of Sherwood, and William T. Jones, 43, of Portland, were brought here from Oregon City yesterday by officers from the county sheriff's office to stand trial on a charge of larceny of poultry. They will be arraigned today in justice court for preliminary hearing.

Recomb and Williams, together with Clifford Molde, 29, of Wichita station were arrested yesterday by Clackamas county authorities in what was believed to be a cleanup of widespread poultry thieving operations which have occurred since mid-summer.

Recomb and Williams have confessed, it was reported, to the theft of 165 Barred Rock pullets from the A. E. Leary Westwood hatchery near Woodburn on September 8. The ring is believed to have stolen more than 5000 chickens in 50 or 60 thefts.

Molde, whose father was released after first being held by the Clackamas county officials, is still held in the Oregon City jail pending arraignment on a charge of possession of stolen property.

Bits for Breakfast

Applegate's hut was covered with fir boughs which had become very dry. In the evenings it was his custom to read and write by the light of pitch splinters, a substitute for candles. While so engaged, the volume of flames suddenly increased. All the upper part of the shanty burned away before the fire could be checked. I doubt if Uncle Jesse considered this sudden combustion of his hut as a capital joke, but I heard laughter in the grove after the illumination.

The native population of our neighborhood was a tribe of the Calapooias, and near and far, even to the sea, were the Tualatins, Chewaketas, Tillamooks and Luckiamutes, all seeming to be the same tribe and speaking the same language. . . . In the summer of 1844, the cattle, horses and wagons left at old Fort Walla Walla were sent for and the remnants arrived in the settlement late in the fall. A few of the cattle were not found. A few, it was supposed, had been appropriated by the Indians.

Jesse A. Applegate related in his book that his father, Lindsay, was a carpenter of sorts and that his uncle, Charles, was a rough blacksmith, while Jesse was a surveyor and something of an architect, and that they together made and repaired their farm implements—that they had; necessity was the mother of invention.
