Scio to Build Concrete Walk

Pedestrian Lanes Will Supplement new Bridge

SCIO—At a special meeting of Scio city council this week E. D. Myers, city treasurer, reported $446 in the street fund, which could be applied on foot bridges. Total cost of such walks in concrete was estimated at between six and seven hundred dollars. Linn county court members stated here that the county has no fund available at present to lend the city in the project. The council, however, decided to proceed with plans for the concrete walks, as wood structures are estimated to cost more than half the amount and be much less durable. Contract for the pedestrian walks was awarded to G. S. Barhan of Portland, in charge of bridge work here under direction of the Portland Sales and Contracting company, contractors. Waterworks project in Scio has been given another extension of time, to January 13, by Portland PWA authorities. R. H. Corey of Portland is to replace C. T. Ellison of Salem as city engineer. Scio turkey growers and grain growing interests are making concerted protest to the Oregon delegation in US congress against the proposed reciprocal trade treaty with Argentina, lowering the duty on turkeys from that country. Linn county is Oregon's largest turkey producer, and flocks of 10,000 birds are not uncommon in the Scio area. To Build House Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reuttger of near Turner are making their home with Mrs. Reuttger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Rospraka on the farm on Thomas creek six miles east of Scio. The Reuttgers plan to build a new residence on the place. A championship, three first and two second awards in the Mammoth Bronze strain of turkeys brought home by R. H. Borovicka of the Linahurst turkey farm near Scio. Borovicka has been a specialty of the breed, said to be very broad-breasted, and his birds have commanded high prices in many large markets.

Columbus Honored At 'Grove School

MIDDLE GROVE—National Fire Prevention week was observed in the school here with the safety commission Norma Jean Van Loan and Arlene Fromm, giving talks on fire prevention in the school before the primary grades; the same subject was discussed in assembly, each student trying to correct at least one fire hazard in his home. October 13, the sixth grade presented a Columbus day program, including a play, "Columbus and the Egg," by Gloria and Barbara McClintock, Robert Bartruff, Raymond Gotchall, Dale Van Loanen, Leslie Polzel and Edna Munson. Musical numbers were given by Leslie Polzel, Dale Van Loanen, Raymond Gotchall, Leslie Polzel, Gloria McClintock. A number in the community are ill. Mr. Buckles who received a blood transfusion last Friday is improving. Ruth Fandrich is in a local hospital, where she was also given a blood transfusion on Tuesday of this week. August Otjen and Robert Bartruff are both under doctor's care in their homes.
