Police Investigate Five Burglaries

Take Variety of Small Loot From Different Parts of Salem
An outbreak of burglary which resulted in five reports to police of burglaries or attempted burglaries Wednesday night was being investigated by the city police yesterday.

Louise Hopkins, 322 North Church street, reported loss of a radio and a suit case from her room, which she believed was entered by use of a pass key.

A box of 250 pennies was the only item found missing from the home of Floyd McCollan, 568 Knapp place, after a thief ransacked a cedar chest. Entrance was gained by cutting a rear window screen and unlatching the window.

Clinton Standish, 1975 North Church street, frightened away a prowler who was attempting to jimmy open a bedroom window. R. D. Ralston, 1759 South Commercial street, also reported a prowler.
