Republican Women Form at Albany; Plan Group at Lebanon

Organization of a Pro-American group, the national organization of republican women, was completed in Albany Wednesday as a beginning in the organization of Linn county. Mrs. J. G. Gill and Mrs. Joel C. Mayer of Lebanon were elected trustees of the group. Mrs. Quincy Scott of Portland, president of the state organization, and Mrs. Roy Bishop, a state trustee, organized the Albany group, and explained the work.

The Pro-American organization was founded in Seattle by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, sr., to promote among women the idea of what America should be. Plans will soon be under way to organize a group in Lebanon. A tea is to be given soon to which all women who are interested will be invited. State officers have been asked to be present at the tea and explain the study courses.

Record Player Is New Music Source

One of the big sellers among gifts for the musically inclined this year, is the record player that comes ready to attach to the family radio.

Some record players, that can be plugged into the light socket, will play as many as 12 records without the listener turning a hand. If his mood shifts from symphony to swing in the middle of the batch, the manufacturer's amazing foresight provided a rejection button that will flip of a finger, snips of the offending record and slides on another. There are beautifully bound albums of records this year, too, for both child and sophisticated.

Other musts on young things' Christmas lists are mouth organs, jew's-harps, miniature Boy Scout trumpets, and always the sweet sounding music box of continental manufacture.

Mine Blasts Another Netherlands Liner

Victim of a floating mine near the Thames Estuary, the Netherlands liner Spaarndam is pictured in Radiophoto above with flames raging from her holds after the vessel was ripped wide open by a floating German mine. Five aboard the large ship were killed by the explosion. Others were rescued by nearby trawlers.

Mt Palomar Nearly Ready

Here's a general view of the Mount Palomar observatory, 69 miles north of San Diego, showing the dome that will house the 200-inch telescope, largest in the world, and the astronomical museum. Construction work is entering upon the fourth and final year and the telescope will be installed next year.

Operetta Is Well Received, Lebanon

LEBANON—"The Mikado," presented Thursday and Friday by the high school glee clubs under the direction of Miss Irene Moore, was very well received by the Lebanon audience. The cast all gave excellent performances in this famous old operetta. The principal characters were: Bill Warden as Pooh Bah; Nancy Kirkpatrick as Pitty Sing; Hal Reeves as Ko Ko; Janet Koebler as Katisha; Loris Phelps as the Mikado; John Schenk as Yum Yum; Gene McKinney as Nanki Poo; Charlotte Bohle as Peep Bo; and Richard Owen as Pish Tush.

The Rebekahs elected their new officers last Tuesday night, with Mrs. Ethel Mary, noble grand; Mrs. Della Smith, vice-grand; Mrs. Kathryn Simons, recording secretary; Mrs. Gladys Phelps, financial secretary; and Mrs. Helen Penfold, treasurer. Seven members were given birthday honors. The Lebanon garden club will meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. T. W. Munyan, to hear the weekly radio garden program. Mrs. Rol Oldham is expected to tell of her visit to the gardens of tomorrow exhibit at the New York world's fair.

H. W. Adams, superintendent of the schools, will introduce guests of honor, Bruce Buel and George Irish will play a clarinet duet. The high school band, under the direction of Floyd Ellefson will give a number of selections.

Flowers Blooming Out-of-Doors in Lebanon Gardens

LEBANON—A visit to Mrs. Roy Gardner's garden discloses that her new greenhouse is scarcely needed, though it is filled with blooming ageratum. Rudbeckia in warm autumn colors is still blooming in her flower border. The stems are bent and twisted by the winds, but they made the better flower arrangements with their curved lines.

The tall fuchsia bush has tiny teardrop blossoms hidden throughout its foliage. Geraniums still bloom in porch boxes and the Christmas Cheer chrysanthemums are holding up beautifully. That perennial rasher-of-the-season, winter jasmine, supposed to bloom in January, or even sometimes to wait for February, is again blooming goldenly in December.

A list of flowers blooming outdoors in Lebanon now would include hardy carnations, blue-eyed African daisy, opalcup, pot marigolds, aubretia, candytuft, roses, hollylocks, lavateras, Chinese forget-me-not, heather, mourning bride, echiums, nasturtiums, loquias, honeysuckle, and even stray canterbury bells.

Stationery Sure To Be Welcomed

Personalized Letter Paper, Cards Serve Well for 'Thank You' Notes

Write in style! That's what everyone wants to do. So a good cue to Christmas giving is stationery designed to please. That means "personalized" stationery—letter or note paper that expresses the personality of the writer. A very subtle compliment can be paid in the selection of such a gift.

Newer than tomorrow is the "set of three" in stationery. Created by a stationer whose name is a tradition, this particular style comes in three sizes—informal note paper, "thank-you" size, and double duty letter size.

Color is rampant again in stationery, not only in solid color paper but also in hand-water-colored edges usually in two smart shades. Monograms or initials pick up one of the colors and add a note of distinction.

Did you ever think of giving men stationery? They write letters, too, you know. And there is custom made paper designed especially for masculine use. There are also three accepted styles for the paper: large flat sheets for informal correspondence, the folded sheet for formal acceptances, and envelope size cards for informal "thank-you" and casual notes. This makes a gift that any man on your list will be proud to use.

Toys Donated At Jefferson

Community Booster Club Is Planning Outdoor Christmas Tree

JEFFERSON—The Jefferson Community Booster club met Tuesday night in the club rooms of the Review building. Plans were made for the Christmas celebration to be sponsored by the club.

Ed Wright, Albany fireman requested that the club cooperate with the Albany firemen in collecting and repairing used and broken toys, to be distributed to children in this community at Christmas. The PTA is also cooperating in the plan and Jensen is receiving toys at the schoolhouse, or they can be left at McKee's feed store or at the Postaine annex building. The toys will be taken to Albany for the firemen to repair and returned here for distribution. D. W. Barnes, Jake Meng and Guy Apperle were appointed on the club committee.

The club is also planning for a community outdoor Christmas tree at an intersection on main street, during the holidays. Gifts will be distributed to the children, at the tree Christmas eve, and a program of Christmas carols is being considered.

A needy family was reported to the club and C. J. Thurston and W. L. Jones were named to see if county aid could be secured for them.

Following the business meeting, a tumbling act led by E. A. Jensen was enjoyed. Boys taking part included Bob Whitby, Jimmie Henderson and Laddie Eulich. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Sidney Alexander, new proprietor of the Texaco service station, joined the club as a new member.

Play Night Is OCE Innovation

MONMOUTH—The physical education program at Oregon College of Education is sponsoring a popular innovation known as "play night" to be held twice each month in the gymnasium, open to all student body members. The theme of a play night is much the same as that for a play day, but is strictly intrastreet in scope and arranged to include both men and women.

The program for the year as planned includes all types of games: ping pong, badminton, handball and volleyball, square dancing, folk dancing, and other similar activities, to afford entertainment and social activity as well as exercise. Miss Helen Fabricius is faculty social adviser. Mildred Thomas, Portland, is chairman of play night meetings.

Arnold Arms, student home for women at OCE, was the scene of a Thanksgiving dinner party Tuesday night. It was an exchange dinner with West House, men's dormitory.
