US "Concerned" Over British Ship Policy

EIGHTY-NINTH YEAR

We feel it our bounden duty as a citizen to expose here and now that growing army which is thrusting from within to destroy the vitals of our industrial civiligation. Gentlemen, we refer to those subtle saboteurs, the paper clip benders. When on some long forgotten day some inven-

Now we stand at a point of decision confronted with an occupational disease, chiefly prevalent among newspapermen, stenographers, filing clerks and other people with time to kill and paper clips to bend. Gentlemen, it is kill or cure. We have on one hand the great expanse of American industry, all based on that noble metal, iron, On the other hand . . . the paper clip benders. SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

This disease, sometimes referred to as the bends (Russia has another name for it) is known euphemistically to the medical profession as P.C.B. 39. As an almost cured P.C.B. 39 (case history No. X-53011) we can speak with authority on P.C.B. 39 (hereinafter referred to as paper clip bending for brevity's sake).

A severe case (and we were pretty severe) can ruin as many as 30 paper clips every 30 minutes on a good day. Some days are worse. That may not mean much to you as cold statistics (It is so difficult for us experts to put these things over to you laymen), but think of it in terms of millions, Millions of paper clip benders bending and ruining pa- opened the service with the hymn, per clips every hour. Benders are a great trial to efficiency experts, the US chamber of commerce, the United States navy and some other people we could mention. The efficiency experts, whose motto is "Waste not, want not," have figpred that if all the bent paper clips were straightened out they still wouldn't be any good as paper clips. The navy is the big problem. The navy is worried about its battleships. If industry con-tinues getting the bends and millions, trillions and dillions of tons of precious iron and steel go into paper clips where, we ask, is the navy going to get its battleships? Out of cabstoop to that. What is the answer then? Can the president declare a national emergency (we've still got the old one, thanks) and declare paper clips out of bounds for industry? Hardly. Would American industry stand for an ersatz paper

But something MUST be done. That, gentlemen, is the problem which faces us today.

Misty Eyes of Senate Colleagues Testify to Greatness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22-(AP)-President Roosevelt and other national leaders bowed in grief today at a state funeral for the revered elder statesman, Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.

Senator Glass (D-Va) and nany others brushed tears from their eyes in the hushed halfgloom of the senate chamber as congressional chaplains prayed beside the slate gray, steel caske ontaining the remains of the man who came out of the west 33 years ago to win fame in some of history's most momentous debates

After the ceremony the doors were locked, and the body lay in solitude, except for an honor guard of policemen, until the time came at 3:10 p. m., (PST) to start the long journey back to Idaho, where burial will take place Thursday in Boise. Solemn Grandeur Marks Ceremony

Aside from the solemn grandeur of the scene-floor and galleries packed with black-clad dip lomats, legislators, judges and Borah's friends from private life -the ceremony itself was simple.

This was disclosed tonight when the state department made public an aide memoire, handed to the British ambassador Saturday, which protested that American ships at Gibraltar were being detained three times as long as British contraband authorities hold Italian ships there.

The aide memoire, appending & list of nine American ships detained by British authorities at 4-Year Sentence Gibraltar between November 18 and December 15, pointed out that they were held an average of 12.4 days each, whereas Italian ships were held an average of only four days, and demanded assurances that the examination of American ships be speeded up. her orders of Turkish tobacco. The protest, after recalling that this government had already protested British interference with cargoes moving from one neutral country to another, said:

"In addition, it now regrets the necessity of being forced to observe not only that British interference, carried out under the theory of contraband control, has worked a wholly unwarrantable delay on American shipping to and from the Mediterranean area; but also that the effect of such action appears to have been discriminatory.

"Since ample time has elapsed to permit the setting up of an efficient system of control, it would seem that the present situation can no longer be ascribed to the confusion attendant on early organization difficulties.'

The aide memorie went on to say that American vessels proceeding to neutral ports "have been detained at Gibraltar for periods varying from nine to 18 with directors of Eugene's Trail to days; that cargoes and mail have been removed from such ships; (diplomatic) missions in Europe has been greatly delayed; that in some instances American vessels have been ordered to proceed, in violation of American law, to the belligerent port of Marseilles to unload cargoes, and there to experience further delays. "It is further reported," the memoire added, "that cargoes on Italian vessels receive more favorable consideration than similar or equivalent cargoes carried by American ships, and that Italian vessels are permitted to pass through the control with far less inconvenience and delay."
