Liquor Trial Set Thursday

Appeal of Henry Becker to Be Heard in Circuit Department One

Trial of state vs. Henry Becker on a charge of selling liquor without a license has been placed on the circuit court docket for Thursday in department one. Becker was arrested and tried on the charge before Justice Miller B. Hayden last June 9. He was convicted at that time and sentenced to pay a fine of $250 and serve 90 days in jail. The case is now to be reviewed in circuit court on appeal.

Justice Court Hearing of William F. Weddle of Jefferson, charged with assault on Albert F. Costelow while armed with a dangerous weapon, will probably not occur in justice court until the private prosecutor is able to attend, according to information received from the district attorney.

Mrs. Ida B. Godfrey Dies After Short Illness; Resident 65 Years

Mrs. Ida B. Godfrey, 83, resident of Salem for 65 years, died at her residence, 501 North Winter street, late Sunday night following a sudden, brief illness. Funeral services will be held from the W. T. Rigdon chapel at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday with Dr. W. C. Kanner officiating. Order of the Eastern Star rites will be conducted by Chadwick chapter, No. 37, of which Mrs. Godfrey was a member. Interment will be in City View cemetery.

Mrs. Godfrey for 30 years had operated Godfrey's boarding house, first at Court and Front streets, later at Liberty and Center and finally at Marion and Winter.

Ida Belle Chatterlin was born November 29, 1857, in Marion county, Iowa, the daughter of W. H. and Catherine Chatterlin. She came across the plains with her parents in 1863 to settle at Lafayette. Later they moved to Amity and then to Salem where Mr. Chatterlin became one of the county's pioneer photographers. Miss Chatterlin was married February 20, 1878, to James E. Godfrey, state printer and high Masonic leader. He died January 20, 1914.

Mrs. Godfrey was a member of the Eastern Star, Past Matrons' association, White Shrine of Jerusalem, Old Timers' club, Artisans and the First Christian church. Surviving are daughters, Mrs. Frances Campbell of Portland, Mrs. Kate McClanahan of Oakland, Miss Emma Godfrey of Salem; grandchildren, Mrs. Ray Lucas of Portland, Richard Campbell of Oakland, Calif., Mrs. Dorothy Payton of Multnomah and Fred Godfrey Kurtz of Salem, and four great grandchildren.

Teutsch Tells Chamber of Commerce of Changes in Marion County

Farming practices involving more than 10,000 acres of Marion county farm land have been altered since 1936 in accordance with recommendations of the county land use committee. William L. Teutsch, assistant county agent leader, reported in discussing "Land Use Problems and Progress" at the Salem chamber of commerce luncheon Monday. Most of the changes have related to soil conservation and have involved sowing to perennial grasses or perennial and biennial legumes, or the use of lime or treble phosphate. The program has centered principally in the hill sections. The committee's recommendations called for diversion of 24,000 acres to this type of soil-conserving use.

Outlining the land use problem for the entire state, Teutsch pointed out that 50 per cent of Oregon's accountable income is derived from the soil through agriculture or lumbering and that most of the remainder consists of services rendered because of the existence of these industries. Agriculture alone accounts for an income which has risen as high as $130,000,000.

Land use study started in the early '20s but was limited at first to production problems, the speaker explained. Thus 200,000 acres in the Willamette valley formerly devoted to grain were diverted to the small seed industry which has developed a $6,500,000 annual income. Oregon now produces 90 per cent of the nation's vetch seed and nearly that percentage of several other varieties. Better quality hay in the Willamette valley.

Life in US Marine Corps Pleasant for Salem Youth

Herman H. Walbert, private in the US marine corps and son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Walbert of route 2 Salem, is enthusiastic over his new life as a marine, according to a letter he wrote recently to a friend in Salem.

Walbert has completed his recruit training and has been assigned to sea school at the marine corps base in San Diego, which indicates that he will soon be transferred aboard one of the ships of the US fleet.

He was accepted for enlistment at the local marine recruiting station November 29, 1939, by Sergeant William M. Cheney, non-commissioned officer in charge.

Anderson Suffers Paralytic Stroke

Anderson Suffers Paralytic Stroke

Gus Anderson, one time Willamette university student and who several times during the Christmas holidays spoke in Salem in regard to his experiences in Europe, and who was aboard the Athenia when that Canadian vessel sank following an explosion off the British coast, September 3, has been hospitalized in Chicago since last Thursday, according to word received here yesterday by his sister, Mrs. Olive Beardsley.

Mrs. Beardsley told The Statesman she received word last night that Anderson had a slight stroke while in Chicago, where he was called from Salem by the serious illness of a friend, Dean Wigmore of Northwestern university.

Anderson had scheduled a number of lectures here for mid-February, Mrs. Beardsley said, but would now have to cancel all such engagements. He will be hospitalized at least three weeks, was the word she said she received.

Kite Flyers Are Warned To Avoid Use of Tinsel

Approach of kite-flying time led W. M. Hamilton, division manager of the Portland General Electric company, to issue a warning yesterday against use of tinsel string. The tinsel serves as a conductor of electricity and its use means injury, if not death, to kite-flyers whose kites become entangled with power lines, he explained.
