AYC Members Hoot in House

Hiss Reps. Lambertson and Hoffman for Remarks They Don't Like

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Irrepressible members of the American Youth Congress, primed by three days of cheering and jeering at their own meetings, flocked to the capitol today to heckle and applaud the national congress at work.

Before being squelched by Acting Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex), who threatened to have them ejected from house galleries, the boys and girls:

Hissed Rep. Lambertson (R-Kan) when he expressed approval of Republican Chairman John Hamilton's refusal to send a representative to the congress.

Turned thumbs down on remarks critical of the CIO by Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich).

Burst into applause when Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) declared Lincoln would not be "throwing stones" at young people.

Red Issues Still Alive

Although the organization's meeting here closed last night, the question of whether or not it is communist-controlled continued to be agitated both within the group and without.

Before the house got around to other subjects, Rep. Nichols (D-Okl), praised those in the youth congress who were trying to purge it of "communist tendencies."

Mrs. Roosevelt also touched on the subject at a press conference. She said:

"I think one of the regrettable things is that we think so much of communism—which seems to be so little in the minds of the great mass of young people—that we have submerged the really important thing, that is, jobs."

To Work With Labor

Meeting today, the congress assembly, a group of 100-odd leaders, recommended political cooperation with organized labor.

A grounds for common action with the CIO, AFL, farm groups and other organizations sharing aims with the youth congress. A conference with John L. Lewis, head of labor's Non-Partisan league, is scheduled tomorrow.

The assembly is expected to sponsor a country-wide peace demonstration April 6 and to organize local committees to watch for civil liberties violations and anti-semitism.

DR. SAMUEL HIGGINBOTTOM Comes Wednesday

Presbyterians' Moderator, Missionary to Make Three Addresses

Dr. Samuel Higginbottom, world famous missionary and general moderator of the Presbyterian church, will be in Salem tomorrow to deliver three addresses. He will speak in the morning at Willamette university, at noon to the Rotary club and at night to an audience at the First Presbyterian church.

A graduate of Oregon State college, Dr. Higginbottom has spent many years in India and has received many honors for his work for his agriculture school there. In 1924 he was decorated by the Indian government with the Kaiser-I-Ind gold medal, in 1935 with the King George V Jubilee medal and in 1937 with the King George VI coronation medal.

With Dr. and Mrs. Higginbottom will come Mrs. Merlyn Arms (Chappel) of New York, who has been secretary of the Presbyterian board of national missions since 1937. He is former pastor of the American church of Havana, Cuba.

Politics Stymied Says Latourette

PORTLAND, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Oregon Democratic National Committeeman Howard Latourette described the national political situation as "stymied," on his return from Washington, DC, today.

Democratic candidates, he asserted are "waiting for the president to move."

He declared those parts of the country he visited reflected favor for "continuance of the policies of the present administration."

Counterfeit Bills Topic at Chamber

People Ought to Look at Money They Receive, Speaker Advises

Most counterfeit currency is not difficult to detect; the reason it is often successfully circulated is that few people bother to inspect the money they receive, William S. MacSwain, Portland agent of the United States secret service, pointed out in an address at the Salem chamber of commerce luncheon Monday.

As a timely warning a bit off the subject, the secret service agent mentioned that large numbers of WPA checks have been stolen or forged in recent years and that merchants should be cautious in accepting these checks.

Counterfeit currency can usually be detected because the serial numbers are not printed in the proper type, or because the portrait and the seal are not clear-cut. Other means of detection include the type of paper used, since the paper on which genuine currency is printed is closely guarded and most counterfeit notes are on ordinary bond paper.

In general, the difference in appearance corresponds to that between an engraved card and a photo-engraved card.

Counterfeit coins may be detected by difference in weight, the "soapy" feel, the acid test or imperfect grooving on the edge.

REMEMBER YOUR FIRST INTRODUCTION TO SCARLETT O'HARA!

"Scarlett O'Hara was not beautiful, but men seldom realized it when caught by her charm... Her eyes were pale green without a touch of hazel starred with bristly black lashes and slightly tilted at the ends."

A tantalizing, provocative description of a woman in a thousand! Actually one woman in fourteen hundred! For to capture and portray that elusive charm and fire on the screen 1400 actresses were screen-tested—149,000 feet of black and white film and 13,000 feet of Technicolor film were exposed at a cost of $92,000.00!

Only then was the selection of Vivien Leigh announced, whose green eyes, graceful 17-inch waist and tip-tilted nose proclaimed her a Scarlett every bit as alluring and teasing and lovely as the heroine of the book!
