"China Boy" Is Three-Act Comedy; Cast Rehearses for Presentation

JEFFERSON—"China Boy," a three-act comedy to be presented by the Jefferson high school student body, has been in rehearsal for two weeks.

"China Boy," by Tom Taggart and James Reach, is a happy, glittering comedy of youth. It tells of the sometimes hilarious and always entertaining adventures of a misanthropic almost perfect son encounters in America, when he makes up his mind to be "had." This is the part played by Lawrence Rehfeld. As his American cousin, Mickey Thurston and Bill Anderson appear, while the parts of his uncle and aunt are taken by Francis Martin and Margorie Norton. Others in the cast are Betty Bruce, as the little "brat," Blanche, the town's "tough" girl; Lyle Smith as the "tough" Bryce Pace, a high school boy; Doris Miller, the dumb maid; and Kern Mills, the radio announcer.

Mrs. Dana Logan Smith directs the play. Production staff members are Eleanor Lehn, Kern Mills, and Bob Whitby. Arthur Ramseyer has enrolled

Singing Is the Hobby of These Business Men

The Eugene Gleemen, 70-voice male civic chorus, will give a benefit concert March 5 at Silverton. They are pictured above with their director, John Stark Evans, and accompanist, Cora Moore Frey, when they appeared at Treasure Island last July.

Eugene Gleemen Concert Planned

Men's Chorus Will Sing at Silverton on March 5

SILVERTON—The Eugene Gleemen, civic male chorus of 70 voices from Eugene, will present a benefit concert in the new high school auditorium March 5. Glenn L. Briedwell, local chairman, said Monday that the services of this chorus had been obtained as a goodwill gesture of Eugene. Expenses incident to the concert will be taken care of by the Silverton Rotary club, and all the proceeds will go to the benefit of the school piano fund and youth work in the Silverton community.

The Gleemen were organized in 1926. They have sung in cities from Victoria, B.C. to San Francisco. John Stark Evans, director of the chorus, has won nationwide acclaim for his ability to weld a group of business and professional men into a musical unit whose work compares favorably with that of the professional choruses, said Briedwell.

With many arrangements by Evans, made especially for the Gleemen, they sing numbers ranging from works of the old masters to the modern ballads.

A recent achievement program here H. C. Seymour and Wayne D. Harding as well as Father Alcun urged more interest and active cooperation on the part of the parents. As a result Andrew Schmidt has agreed to take over a club of six members. Ed Hammer will lead both a corn and a pig club, five boys being enrolled in the former and six in the latter. The seven potato club members will have Andy Wachter, Jr., as their leader.

A new cooking club was also started. Eleven girls were signed up for the class with Delphine Ebner, teacher at St. Mary's, as leader.

Thirteen clubs have been active since last fall when they were organized. The five new clubs brings the total for the school up to 18.

bathing suits or sun suits. And once she brought two summer dance frocks, dotted dimities, one with red dots, one with blue.

"Take them away and fight over them, though I did think of the red for Connie and the blue for Linda's eyes. I brought New York in all the heat to get them for you and I think it was very sweet of me—all because your father wants to show you off at the country club dance."

Linda's heart turned over. She looked at the dress, the sort of dress she'd dreamed of and in the last year given up the hope of ever wearing, because there was no place to wear it to. She was terribly close to tears.

"What will we do for men?" Linda looked up. In her excitement over the dress and a place to wear it, she'd forgotten that they would have to have boys to dance with.

Mrs. Scott laughed. "Your poor father, darling. Asking for men! It'll break his heart! He thinks you will be perfectly content to go and dance with him, and your grandfather, and such. Don't tell him otherwise, for heaven's sake, or he'll—"

Constance laughed, too. She and her mother never fooled each other. It wasn't the way Linda and her mother were. Linda caught her breath and Constance said, "Moan, you've got it all planned out!"

"The McAllister boys," Mrs. Scott said. "Harrison McAllister's sons, here for the summer. You must have seen them at the club or somewhere. Tall, dark kids, Very Sunburnt. They Drive around in an old cut-down car."

Constance looked at Linda. Linda looked at Constance.

"Then you have seen them!"

"My goodness, how could we miss them? The only two new men around these parts in 10 years!"

"Will they do?"

Again Constance looked at Linda and Linda looked at Constance. Constance took a long breath. "They will do," she said. (To be continued) young widow with a small daughter, the little step-daughter mentioned by the governor in his book.

"The Geers are an early pioneer Oregon family, coming down from Joseph Carey Geer, born Feb. 5, 1795. His sixth son was Heman Johnson Geer, father of the governor who occupied the chair of Oregon's chief executive in the 1889-1903 term. The Johnson in Heman Geer's name was for the mother's family.

"The Joseph Carey Geer family came in the covered wagon immigration of 1847—the 'big' immigration (largest to the time), bringing about 5000 people, doubling the population of the Oregon country." (Concluded tomorrow)

50th Annual CE Meet Set

Dallas Endeavor Will Be Host to State Group; Leaders Scheduled

DALLAS—The 50th annual Oregon state Christian Endeavor convention, to meet in Dallas April 18-21, will bring prominent Christian Endeavor leaders of the Pacific coast to Dallas for the three days' meeting. Dr. Clarence Kircher of Sacramento, Calif., pastor counselor of the California Christian Endeavor union, will be one of the principal speakers. Another will be Albert Arend of Spokane, regional vice-president for the Pacific coast. Claude Neely of Portland will be present to take charge of musical activities and to lead the singing.

A state-wide registration contest is now being carried on among 17 districts. The contest is conducted by Phil Barrett of Eugene and four of the districts have already reached their quotas. Polk union is the local registration zone and with Salem expects to register about 400 delegates.

There is special interest in the convention this year, as it was 50 years ago that the first state convention was held in Oregon. Another significant factor is that Dan Poling, international vice-president of Christian Endeavor since 1925, once made his home in Dallas with his parents, attending church and college here, and was active in Christian Endeavor work even then.

This is the first time the state convention has ever come to Polk county. The local committee is headed by Bruce Spaulding. Committees, named a few weeks ago, are shaping plans and working out details for taking care of some 1500 delegates, many of whom will require lodging and breakfast.

The Dallas area includes Polk county and solicitation will be made of all towns in the county as well as rural districts in finding places for the delegates to stay.
